Ike Swipes At Stevenson

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower today took an indirect swipe at Adlai Stevenson as he said that under his administration "we have advanced a long way" toward a lasting peace.

Eisenhower, away on his biggest vote hunt of the presidential campaign, followed his usual custom of not mentioning his Democratic rival by name.

But after referring to "the anguished cry of some politicians" and to "anguished politicians," there could be little doubt that he was hitting at Stevenson when he asked:

"Can these politicians believe that Americans are blind to the strength and persistence of our efforts to dedicate the atom—not to the destruction—but to the constructive service of our civilization?"

Calls for Halt

Only last night Stevenson again called for a halt in hydrogen bomb tests. And he had said that, if elected, "the first order of business" would be to open negotiations with Great Britain and Russia in an effort to end the testing of these super bombs.

Eisenhower got a rousing reception for his noonday stop here and in St. Paul and he must have looked upon it as a good omen for a trip that will take him 5,850 miles. He will go to Washington, Oregon, California, and Colorado before returning to the White House Saturday night.

Most of the 32-mile route from the airport to St. Paul to Minneapolis and back to the airport again was lined with spectators.

Reporters who have been with the President thoughout the campaign sand this was his largest turnout yet, beating his previous high marks set in Des Moines and Pittsburgh.

And the street reception was rated far ahead of the one given Stevenson here two weeks ago. But Stevenson was here on a Saturday, and a cold one at that.

Today was perfect, and the crowds were boosted by thousands of school kids who were turned out for the presidential visit.

Whole Tone

The whole tone of the visit was set by Eisenhower when he greeted the crowd at the airport.

Eisenhower labeled his St. Paul speech nonpartisan, because at about the same time he was talking, funeral services were being held for Roman Catholic Archbishop John Gregory Murray.

"A great citizen—a civic and spiritual leader," Eisenhower called him.

But he still managed to use the word that he has brought up in every campaign speech he has made so far:

Peace.

And when he crossed the Mississippi River, and became frankly political in Minneapolis, he made peace one of his two major themes.

The other: agriculture.

Speaking in what he called "the heartland of American agriculture" and in an area where many farmers have been discontented,

Adenauer Fires Chief Of Defense

BONN, Germany, Oct. 16 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer fired Defense Minister Theodor Blank and three other ministers today in a Cabinet reshuffle that could lead to a slowdown in West German rearmament.

He replaced Blank with Atomic Minister Franz Josef Strauss, who favors less speed and more quality in building the new armed forces with which the Bonn republic will bolster NATO defenses.

Adenauer pledged in a nationwide radio address explaining the Cabinet changes that West Germany will fulfill its military commitments to the North Atlantic Alliance.

But Strauss, 41, has publicly assailed Blank's rush to rearm. He is said to have told Adenauer West Germany should go slow in rearming until the United States and Britain "clarify their military thinking."

Feeling

He is reported to feel that inadequate preparations have been made to handle the callup of large numbers of draftees next year. He said recently that 300,000 well-trained professionals were preferable to 500,000 men — the announced goal—that included many poorly trained conscripts.

Adenauer conceded that he was "greatly concerned" over public opposition to rearmament. He reminded German youths facing the fact that young men in other nations also do not like to give up their careers for military training.

Speaking of other nations, he said:

"We cannot demand of them that their boys become soldiers not only to protect themselves but also to take over the defense of the German people. We cannot demand such sacrifices from the young people of our allies nor from the taxpayers of these nations."

The 80-year-old Chancellor, facing a general election next year, said the Cabinet changes will not affect West German foreign policy.

Dulles Insists On Rights

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles insisted today he must retain the right—in order to protect the foreign relations of the United States—to edit the transcripts of his news conferences and correct any blunders he may have made.

Dulles told reporters he could not be put in the invariable position of being held literally to the precise words he used in reply to every question asked at news conferences.

What is of paramount importance, he said, is that the words going into the permanent record should represent what he intended to say—not what he might in fact have said due to some error of expression or, as Dulles himself called it, a blunder.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16 (AP)—A long white swath of fire extinguisher foam was laid down by a Coast Guard ship so the Pan American Stratocruiser "Sovereign of the Skies" could safely ditch at sea today.

Westinghouse Workers Win Court Round

HARRISBURG, Oct. 16 (AP)—Most of 23,650 Westinghouse workers involved in the prolonged work stoppage last winter won a new round today in their battle to collect five to nine million dollars in jobless benefits.

Olbro G. Taglianetti, unemployment compensation referee, ruled the company locked out its employes when it refused Gov. Leader's request that the labor dispute be settled by arbitration.

Charles E. Kenworthey, Westinghouse counsel, said the decision would be appealed to the Unemployment Compensation Review Board within 10 days.

More

Final appeals are likely to be carried to the State Superior Court decision two weeks ago.

Taglianetti, in a series of complex decisions on 75 pages of closely typed paper, ruled that:

1. About 10 weeks of benefits must be paid to 15,700 workers at the East Pittsburgh, Homewood, Sharon and Philadelphia plants. They had asked for payments for practically all of the 23-week duration of the stoppage.

Eligible

2. The 7,000 Westinghouse employes at Lester, near Philadelphia, are in effect eligible for the full 30 compensable weeks. These workers were idle for 10 months.

3. Benefits shall not be paid to 950 employes at the firm's plants in Derry and Nuttal.

The key issue before Taglianetti was the governor's telegram last Dec. 19 to Westinghouse and the two unions—International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL-CIO, and United Electrical Workers, independent.

Leader's telegram urged both sides to submit the dispute to "final and binding arbitration" with the strikers going back to work while this was proceeding.

The company refused on the grounds that to do so would be "to abdicate its responsibilities."

Acceptance

The IUE, however, wired its acceptance of the arbitration suggestion and notified Westinghouse. The referee commented:

"The referee concludes that the union's acceptance of the governor's proposal, without reservation, and then its informing the company of its desire to return to work. . .was the condition precedent which turned the strike into a lockout."

Touching on the strike of 950 UE members at Derry and Nuttal, Taglianetti rejected their claims on grounds that they walked out demanding a wage boost.

In addition, he said, these workers didn't act on Leader's arbitration proposal. The referee's decision reversed the bureau's ruling which would have allowed benefits starting with the time of the arbitration proposal.

Nixon Maintains 'Risk Of War' In Adlai's Policies

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 16 (AP)—Vice President Nixon said tonight the policies Adlai Stevenson advocates "would increase the chances for war."

Nixon said in a speech "the American people would be taking a fearful risk" if they were to elect Stevenson president while the Democratic candidate persists in the position he has taken on seeking to stop H-bomb tests.

Welcome

He said Stevenson is "incredibly stubborn and naive" on the issue, while President Eisenhower offers what Nixon described as "experience . . . hardheaded realism."

Nixon got a cheering welcome at a party rally full of old fashioned political color. His audience in the big Memorial Auditorium was estimated by Sheriff Robert Glasser at 12,000.

Kintner Quits ABC Position

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Robert E. Kintner quit today as president of the American Broadcasting Co. in what was termed a dispute over policies.

Kintner, 47, had held the $100,000-a-year post since Dec. 30, 1949. He was the youngest president of any network when he took the job.

While his resignation was announced amid expressions of goodwill on both sides, company officials said major differences arose over "the need for building a strong organization within ABC with a depth and versatility of executive manpower."

Spokesman

A company spokesman said Kintner was either "unwilling or unable" to achieve this. Kintner himself spoke only of a "substantial dispute concerning policies."

Kintner's resignation came only five weeks after that of another major industry figure in a somewhat similar situation.

Sylvester L. (Pat) Weaver, who fathered the "spectaculars" and other major innovations on television, resigned Sept. 7 as board chairman of the National Broadcasting Co.

At that time, an NBC spokesman said: "It was a case of an organization and an individual wanting to go separate ways." NBC promptly set up four new executive vice presidencies in an executive organization.

Parent

Kintner submitted his resignation—expected for several days—to American Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters, Inc., the parent organization of the ABC radio-TV network. AB-PT's board of directors accepted it in a meeting late today.

The board requested Leonard H. Goldenson, president of the corporation: to take over direct supervision of ABC until it can establish an executive organization of the type desired. Afterward, a new ABC president is to be chosen.

Kintner is a native of Stroudsburg, Pa., and a graduate of Stroudsburg High School.

Unsettled Feeling Reigns In Near East

JERUSALEM, Oct. 16 (AP)—News that Iraqi troop reinforcements are not going into Jordan calmed Israeli official quarters tonight.

But Jordan and Syria charged Israel is massing troops "with aggressive intentions" and said the situation is still tense.

Syria protested the reported Israeli troop concentrations to the ambassadors of the United States, Britain and Russia in Damascus.

The lessening of tension in official Israeli quarters was not disturbed by reports that Syria is sending heavy weapons into Jordan to help defend the Jordan-Israeli demarcation line.

An Israeli Foreign Office spokesman noted that exchange of weapons among Arab countries does not increase their combined military strength.

Statement

"It is only if weapons are brought in from the outside or if there is an undue concentration of troops on our borders that the situation would be of serious concern," he said.

He added that so far there were no reports of unusual troop concentrations.

Despite the noticeable easing of fears in the Israeli area, however, Israel maintained a state of readiness.

The first of Israel's four key ambassadors called home for urgent consultations flew in from London. He is Eliahu Elath, envoy to Britain. Ambassadors are on their way back from Washington, Paris and Moscow.

Israel's Parliament continued the foreign policy debate launched yesterday by Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion with his statement that Israel reserves freedom of action if Iraqi troops entered Jordan.

There was a belief here he had advance word that Iraqi troops would not complete the move and therefore restrained his statement. Before he spoke there was some expectation he would call for mobilization.

Ben-Gurion's policy declaration drew general support from small party leaders. But Israel Galili, of the left-wing Labor party Achduth Avoda, said he believed war is approaching.

Ben-Gurion is expected to reply to the debaters next Monday.

Brennan Takes Court Seat

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—William J. Brennan Jr., 50, of New Jersey took his seat today as the newest and youngest member of the U. S. Supreme Court and went right to work.

Named an associate justice of the nation's highest tribunal, he replaces Justice Sherman Minton, who retired yesterday because of poor health.

All Saved As Plane 'Ditches'

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16 (AP)—A Pan American Airways Stratocruiser, stricken on a night flight from Honolulu, faltered through 4½ black hours today, then ditched, broke up and sank 1,150 miles at sea beside a Coast Guard cutter which saved all 31 persons aboard.

Five passengers were injured slightly but required no medical aid. The cutter, the Pontchartrain, was due to land all of them, 19 men, 9 women and 3 children, in San Francisco late Thursday.

The big Stratocruiser "Sovereign of the Skies," had just passed the point of no return en route to San Francisco when two of its four engines failed shortly after 3 a.m.

Pilot Richard Ogg, 43, who has been flying 25 years, turned back 10 miles to "Station November," where the Pontchartrain was on regular weather and navigation patrol. The position, one of several such in the Pacific, is 1,000 nautical or 1,150 statute miles southwest of San Francisco.

Practice Runs

From 3:40 a.m. until 8:14 a.m. Capt. Ogg orbited his straining plane above the ship and made practice "dry run" ditchings while awaiting daylight for the perilous touchdown on a moderately rough sea.

The plane finally sat down and broke up immediately in the 5-foot waves at 8:14 a.m. The Pontchartrain sent this breath-stopping series of radio messages:

"Ditched at 8:14 a.m., PST, and upon contact broke in half.

"Four rafts in water. Many survivors apparent. We have two boats in water.

"Every effort being made to rescue. . .

"Bow stove in . . . Tail section split . . . Plane sank in 21 minutes."

And finally these three reassuring words:

"All survivors rescued."

Big Cut Made In Toll Budget

HARRISBURG, Oct. 16 (AP)—Gov. Leader today credited a half million dollar reduction in the 1957 budget of the Delaware River Toll Bridge Commission to elimination of "inherited Republican budget padding."

"This specifically shows you what can happen when people who believe in good and decent and honest and efficient government take charge," he told a news conference.

Figures released by the governor show the 1957 budget for the bistate agency to be $1,129,817 or $565,023 less than the previous year.

Salaries

Most of the reduction, more than $193,000, was made in wages and salaries. Other large decreases were made in accounts for professional services ($71,610), advertising ($23,320) and pension contributions ($29,018).

The governor said the money saved would be used to speed up retirement of toll bridge bonds and to reduce the taxpayers' burden of supporting free bridges.

The agency operates five toll bridges and 11 free bridges across the Delaware above Philadelphia.

"This is another example of good government business administration and cooperation between the administrations of Pennsylvania and New Jersey," the governor declared in a statement. "We achieved this saving by eliminating inherited Republican budget padding."

The statement said $167,201 was saved in the operation of the free bridges, partially through the dismissal of 32 armed bridge guards.

Lutherans Drop Rigid Rule On Remarriage

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 16 (AP)—The United Lutheran Church today abolished its long standing rigid rule against second marriages and adopted a more flexible approach hinged on spiritual reform.

As for divorce, whatever the circumstances, the church bluntly called it sinful and a violation of "God's order."

Reasoning

But the denomination's convention, representing America's largest Lutheran body, declared that God forgives sin and divorced persons should get another chance at marriage if their heart is right.

Acting after long—and sometimes deeply theological—argument, delegates overwhelmingly voted out the old rule approving remarriage only for the "innocent party" to divorce granted for adultery or desertion.

The convention earlier ground out a great boost in the church budget—a 100 per cent jump in one year.

H-Bomb Fights Rage

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles took the stand today that Adlai Stevenson's proposal for ending hydrogen bomb tests is based on insufficient information.

On the other hand Sens. Mansfield (D-Mont) and Gore (D-Tenn) backed Stevenson. Gore, a member of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said he agreed with Stevenson "on the urgent necessity of exercising leadership in efforts to halt the testing of larger and larger H-bombs."

Conference

At a news conference, Dulles indicated he believes Stevenson does not have all the facts necessary to propose a sound solution to the problem of how to limit use of mankind's most destructive weapon.

But President Eisenhower, he said, has both the will and the desire, as well as all necessary data, to solve this important problem.

White Defends Railroad Drive

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16 (AP)—William White, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, testified in U.S. District Court today that he did not consider a railroad campaign in 1948 and 1949 an action against the trucking industry.

White, formerly president of the New York Central Railroad, appeared as a witness at the resumption of the trial of damage suits totaling 370 million dollars.

Stevenson Leaves On New Tour

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson leaves on a new whistle-stop tour tonight, heartened by a flood of messages endorsing his latest plea that this country take the lead in seeking to halt hydrogen bomb tests.

The Democratic presidential nominee was to board a campaign special train before midnight for a swing through Michigan tomorrow and Ohio the next day, with flying visits to Kentucky and Indiana later in the week.

Stevenson's headquarters announced two more details of his schedule in the short time remaining before Election Day:

Candidate

The candidate will visit California Oct. 27, speaking at a noon rally in San Francisco and at an evening meeting in Los Angeles.

And he will be in Chicago, rather than at his Washington headquarters, to get the election returns on the night of Nov. 6. His press secretary, Clayton Fritchey, told reporters he assumed Stevenson was just following the campaign tradition and awaiting the results at his "home base."

Fritchey also made public a number of telegrams applauding Stevenson's H-bomb speech on television last night—including one from Henry de Wolfe Smythe, the former Atomic Energy Commission member who wrote the "Smythe Report," the first official publication on the atomic bomb.

"Your clear and objective statement on the desirability of stopping large H-bomb tests by international agreement is a service to the country transcending the partisanship of the current campaign," Smythe's telegram said.

U.S. Ready To Assist Peace Move

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today reaffirmed American readiness to give aid "within constitutional means" to any victim of aggression in the turbulent Middle East.

At a news conference, Dulles said the United States "still stands" behind this pledge made by President Eisenhower last April 9 as a move to discourage any new outbreak of fighting between Israel and its Arab foes.

Dulles recalled the six-month-old pledge in noting that peace prospects have deteriorated sharply since last spring.

Effort

Heavy weapons from Syria, he confirmed, are moving into crisis-ridden Jordan and it remains to be seen what "the real purpose" of these shipments turns out to be.

If Syria's aim is to bolster Jordan's defense strength against any Israeli attack, Dulles said the United States could make no objection since it provides weapons to allies for the same purpose.

The heavy weapons moving into Jordan, he said, could either be Russian made or some of the British or French military supplies delivered to Syria earlier.

Butler Statement

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 16 (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler said today "the circumstances support the inference" that Rep. Adam Powell (D-NY) "was influenced to endorse Ike through a belief that he might get a break on . . . tax evasion cases."

Officials Plan To Make Early Application

A SEVEN-DISTRICT Slate Belt jointure for schools appeared virtually certain last night.

At a meeting in the Northampton County school offices in Nazareth, school directors from the interested districts agreed:

To call a special individual board meeting in each district sometime during this week to take action on an "articles of agreement" document for jointure.

To have their presidents and secretaries at the county school office next Thursday, Oct. 23, prior to the regular county board meeting, to sign the articles if their boards have approved them.

To make application immediately in Harrisburg for permission to construct a new senior high school to serve the area. It would house an estimated 900 to 1,000 students.

Five Years

Last night's meeting was the most harmonious yet held on the issue in a series of discussions which has spanned the past five years.

The seven districts involved are Bangor, East Bangor, Portland, Upper and Lower Mount Bethel Townships, Washington township and Roseto. Only Roseto was not represented at last night's meetmeeting. That district, however, is unequivocally in favor of the large-scale jointure, officials said.

The jointure, according to terms outlined, would include all grades from kindergarten through the senior year. Costs of operation and maintenance would be pooled and shared by all districts as would the costs of transportation.

This final item brought a breakthrough in one area of the discussion which had threatened, tentatively, to stymie the talks. When other boards agreed to the "pooled" system of sharing transportation costs, Portland and East Bangor delegates expressed their approval of the jointure.

The new jointure would be governed basically by a "joint school committee." It will be composed of 15 members. Representation on the committee will be based on the flat rate of two delegates from each district. A previous effort to establish representation by percentage of population was defeated. This would have given Bangor, the largest district, a larger number of delegates on the committee.

Discussion

Those attending the discussion meeting agreed, also, that the present Bangor Area High School should be "renovated" at an estimated cost of $100,000. It would then serve as a junior high school for the joint area. It would house an estimated 450 to 500 students.

Assignments of pupils, under terms outlined, would be left entirely to the discretion of the joint school administrators.

Proposed name for the joint system would be the "Governor George Wolfe Joint School District" and the proposed new high school would also bear the late governor's name. Wolfe was the only governor from Northampton county. He was a native of Upper Mount Bethel region.

Fire May Have Swept Liftmaster

LONDON, Wednesday, Oct. 17 (AP)—An indication that a sudden, uncontrollable fire hit a C118 Liftmaster before it vanished with 59 U. S. servicemen aboard was reported today.

The U. S. 3rd Air Force said tires of the missing plane's two nose wheels, recovered from the Atlantic by a British tanker, bore signs of charring flame. The plane disappeared seven days ago.

The charring appeared to point strongly to fire in flight. There would be no charring of the tires if fire broke out after a crash landing since the sea would quickly extinguish the flames.

Search

An Air Force statement said more than 2 million square miles of Atlantic had been searched for survivors. It added this was believed to be the largest peace time air search ever conducted in the Atlantic.

The surface hunt was called off and air operations cutrailed.

Sightseeing Scholars

Tunkhannock Boy Stabbed On New York Street

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP) — A Pennsylvania high school student was stabbed today by a young tough as he walked along Wall Street with 72 sightseeing classmates.

The assailant fled before the victim, Richard James Wynd, 17, even realized he had been stabbed.

Wynd, of Tunkhannock, Pa., was stabbed near the East River.

Doctors at Beekman-Downtown Hospital said that his condition is fair. An exploratory operation was performed to determine the seriousness of the wound.

Young Wynd's 72 classmates and two teachers later left for home.

Teacher

A third teacher, Miss H. B. Ervine, remained with the wounded student until his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Wynd, arrived.

Police gave this account:

The visiting high school students, walking two abreast, were proceeding east on Wall Street—after a visit to the financial district and Federal Hall—when two youths approached.

Using profane language, they began shoving and bumping the young sightseers.

Young Wynd, a husky 5-foot-10, 165-pounder, told the two to "cut it out." They centered their attention on him.

He lashed out at one of his tormenters, knocking him down with a single blow on the jaw.

The youth got to one knee and swung at Wynd's midsection. Then he and his friend fled on the crowded street.

The students continued their tour for a block before young Wynd became aware of a sharp pain and realized that he was bleeding.

The elder Wynd, a dairy bar manager, said Richard planned to enter Penn State University next June.

Children's Aid Society Airs New Program For Child Care

NEW PROGRAM FOR CHILD care in Pennsylvania and how it may affect Monroe County's program of protective care was the principal item of discussion at the meeting of the board of the Children's Aid Society at the Penn-Stroud Hotel yesterday.

Mrs. Frank L. Patterson and Mrs. Jean Albert, who had attended the state meeting devoted to a discussion of the new program, gave their reports. New concepts of the responsibility of the state toward all children have led to the present plan to reimburse the counties from state funds for the care of children. The reimbursement is dependent on various factors including quality of care and certain stipulations. These will be explained in detail to the county commissioners and to the agencies by the state.

Meanwhile, both Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Albert emphasized, board members should study the provisions which may have far-reaching effects.

Mrs. Albert also announced that in-take has been re-opened for families wishing to adopt babies. The list for families wishing to adopt older children has always been open, but the lists were closed, temporarily, for those wishing to adopt babies until the procedure could be re-organized.

In reporting on the local wards of the Society, Mrs. Albert announced that there were now 65 children in care. She also outlined the society's program of help for unmarried mothers.

Weller Selected As County Chairman Of 'Vets For Ike'

REPUBLICAN COUNTY Chairman B. K. Williams yesterday announced that Frank J. Weller, Stroudsburg, has been named as Monroe County Chairman, "Vets for Ike" to organize and direct the support of Veterans in bringing out the vote for President Dwight Eisenhower.

Frank J. Weller

Weller served from 1916 to 1919 first in Mexican Border Service and then in World War I he served in France and Belgium.

Since release from service, Weller has been active in Veterans affairs. He has served as Post, Council and District Commander as well as State Committees of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is a member of the American Legion and the 27th Div. Association.

Statements

In accepting the appointment Weller said, "I'm happy to be able to help President Eisenhower in this election. He's a man who knows and appreciates the nation's veterans. He is a man we respect and who respects us.

"Since 1952, our National program for needy veterans has made real progress. The Eisenhower administration carried out its promise to veterans.

"I particularly like the opening veterans plank in the Republican Party platform. It says, 'active duty in the Armed Forces during a state of war or National emergency is the highest call of citizenship constituting a special service to our nation and entitles those who have served to positive assistance to alleviate the injuries, hardships, and handicaps imposed by their service.'"

Mr. Weller states that he will conduct a drive throughout the county to contact every veteran family as a means of turning out the veterans' vote for President Eisenhower.

Leader Invites Public Participation In All-Out Fight Against Mental Illness

Gov. George M. Leader has challenged all citizens of Pennsylvania to join the all-out fight against mental illness.

Declaring that the commonwealth is legally responsible to aid the ill, the chief executive pointed out that the "moral responsibility" for arresting mental disease "falls upon every citizen."

One person in every ten needs psychiatric help, Gov. Leader reminded a Philadelphia audience Monday night. One out of 17 will need hospital care.

"Let us remember these figures," the governor emphasized. "Let us remember the men and women behind the figures whose only hope lies in us. They are our individual and moral responsibility. We cannot, we dare not fail them."

Gov. Leader made other news in the health field when he announced savings of $1,262,277 a year on the purchase of drugs and medicines. This amounted to a saving of more than 20 per cent, he claimed.

The governor had promised elimination of antiquated purchasing methods and the encouragement of competitive bidding. He appears to have carried out his pledge and, with state health officials, deserves credit for this streamlined program of drug purchasing. The taxpayers will be looking forward to more such economy measures.

Political Debate On Ending Draft Is Serving U. S. No Useful Purpose

There is a tradition of political campaigning in which charge is balanced by countercharge, with the public welfare gaining nothing by the exchange. And there are variations from the tradition.

We consider that the public welfare has been advanced by a clear statement on the necessity of the draft. It comes from President Eisenhower in answer to an appeal for votes from his opponent, Adlai Stevenson.

"The power of the United States is mainly what holds the world from general war . . . We must not by weakness invite another war." This is simple fact. That it comes from a man with long and deep experience in international conflicts and tensions, whose present position gives him access to the most up-to-date information, only underlines a fact seen by millions.

During the three years of the Eisenhower Administration there have been changes which made service more attractive and increased re-enlistments from 24 per cent to 43 per cent. A start has been made toward building up the reserve strength that allows a smaller active force.

And the draft law itself has become a principal reason that few men are drafted. Knowing that they must serve, the young men are choosing the branch of the service they want and enlisting for one of the many variations in length of active service.

It is "hurtful to America's security interests throughout the world" to talk about an early end of the draft, the President said. He then restated the necessities for the draft in a way that ends any reasonable need for any more talk on that subject during this campaign.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Russia Drops References To Imperialism, Uses Colonialism In Criticism Of Others

What makes a dirty word" in politics, national and international? Let us take, for example, the word, imperialism. It was a "good word" for many centuries because Europe thrived on imperialism. The Spanish, the Dutch, the French, the British, the Austro-Hungarian and other empires brought into Europe enormous wealth upon which, at any rate, Britain, France and the Netherlands are still living.

"Imperialism" became bad during World War I when Woodrow Wilson and Jan Smuts accepted the defeat of the newer German imperialism as a rebuke to this method of maintaining order among the weak and backward peoples. Wilson's 14 Points included self-determination which was a system for fragmenting the human race. The destruction of the Austro-Hungarian Empire disturbed order in the Danubian world and paved the way for the appearance in Europe of the Soviet Empire, united all the Slavic peoples within the hegemony of the Kremlin—a union often attempted but never before succeeding.

"Imperialism" became a bad word because of the emotional reactions in this country to the partition of China by European countries, the Gandhi movement in India and the emergence of Japan as a Great Power which started in 1868 and ended in 1945.

But the "imperialism" of Soviet Russia and of Red China—the largest empire the human race has ever known which not only holds peoples in subjection but which actively and currently practices Genocide—this is not included among the bad words because the Russians have, with a brilliant sense of semantics, called their effort "liberation." It is the same old emperialistic process under a new label and the label succeeds in fooling those who will not look beyond it to the contents.

The Russians, in fact, have dropped the word, imperialism, altogether because it comes too close to home. Instead, they have latched on to the word "colonialism" which now becomes a very bad word, as bad as those the little boys used to write on walls with chalk before the days of the high standard of living when the little boys write dirty words on walls with lip-stick. When the word "colonialism" is said, those who belong to countries which have or have had colonies are supposed to hide their heads in shame.

But the fact stands out that when the British had 80,000 troops in Egypt, the world was not on the verge of war because of the private aspirations of the Hitleresque Arab who seeks to establish an Arab Empire no better surely than the British Empire which he hopes, with Russian help and American sentimentality, to destroy.

This is but one example of the conversion of an ordinary word into a bad word by constant propaganda to that effect and by the so-called "educating" of the masses, developing disturbances which led to increased poverty, hunger, revolution and war.

Karl Marx, writing as a correspondent for the "New York Daily Tribune," from London, in 1857, said (in an article which may have actually been penned by his associate Frederick Engels):

"There is evidently a different spirit among the Chinese now to what they showed in the war of 1840 to '42. Then, the people were quiet; they left the Emperor's soldiers to fight the invaders, and submitted after a defeat with Eastern fatalism to the power of the enemy. But now, at least in the southern provinces, to which the contest has so far been confined, the mass of the people take an active, nay, a fanatical part in the struggle against the foreigners. They poison the bread of the European community at Hong Kong by wholesale, and with the coolest premeditation . . ."

What Marx refers to is the Taiping Rebellion which started among newly converted Christians who broke out of the South and murdered literally millions of Chinese before it wore itself out by excesses of luxury and the actual madness of its leadership. China has never recovered from the ravages of the Taiping Rebellion. It so impoverished the country and weakened the government that it led to the partition of China, the revolutions of Sun Yat-sen, the rise of the Tuchuns, the struggle for power between Russia and Japan, resulting in wars, and finally at Kuomintang and Communist Revolutions and the union of Red China with Soviet Russia.

Which is the bad word—colonialism or Soviet Russia?

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE

Scholastic Earthquake: Will Yale Admit Women

At least once a year I feel duty bound to report on what's doing in the Ivy League group of educational institutions. Yale kicks off the discussion through a proposal of its dean of admissions, Arthur Howe, Jr., who wants women admitted as undergraduates.

"It's time for a change," said Dean Howe, stating that all-male schools are outmoded, that women students would have a good influence on academic standing, and that Yale loses many outstanding male freshmen who prefer to enroll in coed institutions.

The Yale Daily News is of two minds. Its educational board is composed of young gentlemen who like girls fine—in their place. Which isn't on the Yale campus, in the view of the paper's chairman, Calvin Crillin. "Do you want to drink your 25th reunion with an overweight matron?" he asked, editorially.

"Yes," replied feature editor Gerald Jones, a chap inclined to the forward look. "Yale men need girls seven days a week," he said. "This is shown by their desire to find them on week ends. He either goes away on week ends or invites them here and spends vast sums of money."

In the opinion of one with too close acquaintance with 25th reunions, both views as expressed above indicate that the young men still have lots of learning ahead of them. (Overweight, indeed!) (Vast sums, likewise.)

Although President A. Whitney Grisworld issued the reassuring statement that cook stoves for home economics courses were far from reality, "the possibility of admitting women to Yale's undergraduate schools has often been discussed on a purely theoretical basis. There are sound reasons for keeping this discussion up to date, but we are nowhere near deciding the question in principle." The likelihood of admitting women to undergraduate schools at Yale is, he said, "remote."

Separation by sex is the basis on which students are admitted in some of our finest colleges. Nobody knows why, exactly, beyond the fact that they were originally set up that way. At a time not too remote, women were considered only vaguely educable. "Finishing" was sufficient to keep them busy until a well-educated husband materialized. Since then, women have proved their ability to digest logarithms, ethics and chemistry equally as well as their brothers, yet "separation" must be upheld. Some logical basis must be found. "Keeping their minds on their studies" seemed as good an argument as any, on the hopeful assumption that in an all-girls school little Nell would think only of sums and intransitive verbs except on every fourth Saturday night. That in all-men colleges Junior would spend happy hours at the library pouring over John Donne and mulling over what Socrates quoth beneath the plane tree.

College and university experience is more than purely academic: it is also learning the arts of association with people. And people have an unfailing knack of turning out to be both men and women. Apparently Dean Howe of Yale believes coeducation more stimulating and conducive to fine scholarship than not. I agree.

And as for sharing the loving cup with that overweight matron! Young man, ever taken a close look at the bald heads and bay windows of the Class of 1930?

The Astronomy prof had taken his class to the summit of a hill near the campus to observe the heavens on a clear, moonless night. "Isn't that Venus?" queried a pretty young thing.

"No, my dear," said the prof indulgently. "That happens to be Jupiter."

"What sharp eyes you have," marveled the pretty young thing, "to be able to distinguish them from such a distance!"

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Thet Discus Hurler and the Hats

We feel better about world peace, now that the case of the Russian woman dicus champion, charged with hooking five fall hats from a London hat shop, has been settled. We were worried almost as much over this as over the Suez crisis and had moments when we feared Moscow would nationalize millinery establishments.

If the Nobel Peace Award doesn't go to Magistrate Clyde Wilson of London he should be runner up. Magistrate Wilson showed by his decision that he's a man who appreciates world tensions and realizes that few things can cause more trouble anywhere than the issue of female bonnets, especially when it involves the matter of how far a woman can go to get one, to say nothing of five. Any stern and arbitrary decision by the court in Mme. Nina Ponomareva's case might well have stymied world peace efforts and caused countless small wars in every neighborhood.

A woman's reaction to a display of new hats is always extreme. She becomes a different person. Not many plunge into a life of crime, but an array of new styles can arouse a larcenous instinct in the most proper and circumspect doll. She can become giddy and irresponsible. It is most difficult to steal a hat however, and quite a feat to get away with five. This gives rise to a question America must face: Are the Soviets far ahead of us in hat securance techniques? It may be that they have developed a technique (especially after an arrest) which the Free World lacks. This is indicated by the Moscow action in describing a simple arrest of a woman with five hats as a "dirty provocation to worsen international relations." The Russian striking power at floorwalkers, saleswomen and hat-store dectives is tremendous. No other nation has retaliated with such force against a situation involving women and their weaknesses so far as millinery is concerned.

The five hats in question were valued at $4.68, the dispatches say. Which brings from millions of American women the cry, "Five hats for less than a dollar each! ! ! What were they like?"

Anyhow Magistrate Wilson is a great man. He freed Nina, asking her to pay merely $8 costs of the proceedings with the wisest of words, "We must recognize the fallibilities of human nature. Hats are a considerable temptation to all women." Mme. Nina is back in Russia and in the Olympic Games may establish new records as the best discus thrower ever to have hat trouble. She could perhaps break all discus records by closing her eyes, concentrating on a London hat shop, and letting the discus go "POW!"

Casey Stengel has been re-signed by the Yanks for two years at around $80,000 a year. . . How about a poem "Casey At the Bank"? . . . A genuine treat enjoyed by TV fans was to see Ed Wynn, known all his life as a clown, play a serious role with his son Keenan, and do it in a manner that revealed him as an all-around actor of unlimited capacities. . . We just heard of the most pathetic case in the Columbus Day parades: the grand marshall who GOT LOST ON THE JOURNEY! ! ! Some of the bitter attacks by Democratic candidates would indicate they are wearing "I SPIKE IKE" buttons.

Texas Democrat To Quiz Hall On Cuban Contracts

Washington, Oct. 16: Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall has a pre-election date with a House Government Operations Investigating Subcommittee that is sure to cause a stormy partisan explosion.

The probers are resuming a long-smoldering inquiry for the express purpose of putting the GOP campaign leader on the spot.

They are planning to grill Hall about his alleged backstage role in the granting of $100,000,000 in contracts for the expansion of the government's Nicaro nickel plant in Cuba.

A large batch of documents, newly obtained by the investigators, directly involve Hall in this dynamite-loaded controversy.

They also name Attorney General Brownell and White House assistant Adams.

Last spring, Brownell refused to turn over these documents to the subcommittee. He held it would be improper to do that while the Justice Department is studying them for possible prosecutions.

But the House probers recently obtained them from another congressional source—the Senate Investigating Subcommittee headed by Senator John McClellan (D-Ark.).

He got them from a government employe who "resented" Brownell's action.

This government worker produced copies of more than 100 documents, including a "missing diary" containing detailed accounts of dealings with Hall, Brownell and Adams.

When Rep. William Dawson (D., Ill.), chairman of the House Government Operations Committee learned of this backstage development, he immediately requested the "loan" of these documents. McClellan complied. Dawson then gave them to Rep. Jack Brooks (D., Tex.), chairman of the special investigating committee, which had futilely sought them from Brownell for months.

Brooks is now set to publicly interrogate Hall about these previously-withheld documents, particularly the explosive diary.

HOT STUFF—Author of this potential bombshell is Randall Cremer, former business executive now residing in California.

Cremer made headlines last winter in a headline insurance investigation. Later, Edmund Mansure resigned as director of the General Services Administration, main government purchasing agency. Since then Mansure has discussed the Nicaro contracts with congressional staff probers.

The former GSA chief is slated to be a leading witness in Brooks' coming hearings.

Hall is portrayed in Cremer's diary as wielding a deciding hand in the awarding of Nicaro contracts.

Illustrative of this diary is a June 3, 1954, entry about a conference Cremer had with Hall in the latter's office about a contract he was allegedly holding up. The businessman wrote:

"Hall asked for information re support of the party. . . I assured him we had no Democrats in the higher brackets, and believed practically none in the lower. He spoke of the importance of electing a Republican Congress. I told him it is our fight too, and we expect to continue our support. He spoke of bonds, insurance, etc., and asked whether we would be inclined to place this where it will do the most good. . ."

Other references relate to a meeting Cremer had with Brownell in his office, and the interest displayed by White House assistant Sherman Adams in the granting of the huge Nicaro contracts.

Flashes—Syria's President Shukri El-Kuwatli is making an official visit to Russia late this month. He will be accompanied by a number of top officials. . . And Pakistan's new Prime Minister and Foreign Minister are going to Red China next week. That's not being publicized, but it's all set for them to spend twelve days there as guests of the Communists. Pakistan is one of the biggest Far East beneficiaries of U. S. military and economic aid. . . The Joint Chiefs of Staff "had no objections" when asked by the State Department for comment on permitting Iraq troops equipped with American arms to go to the aid of Jordan. The State Department favors that. But Pentagon concurrence was necessary because Iraq, under its treaty with the U. S., is barred from using military aid in another country "without prior consent of the U. S.".

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson has been asked by the House Agriculture Committee for a detailed report on a plan he mentioned, in a Minnesota campaign speech, to sell "surplus" government grain storage bins to private individuals and concerns. Congress has not authorized that, and Representative Harold Cooley (D., N.C.), Committee chairman, wants to know what it's all about . . . Representative Wright Patman (D., Tex.), senior member of the House Banking and Currency Committee, is returning to an old crusade after the election. The militant small business champion plans to hold a series of public hearing on the Federal Reserve's controversial tight money policy. Patman will interrogate Reserve, Treasury and bank officials throughout the country.

Sometimes one in the newspaper racket sits on a story without giving it the slightest note—especially when one is fat like this reporter and needs glasses to see objects near at hand.

The little yarn we have been walking over, around and through for the past couple of years deals with a "three-generations" situation that exists in the composing and stereotype departments of The Daily Record.

Uncle, father and son carry the leading roles in this play—which by the way will never reach Broadway.

Frank Barnes, the uncle, came to work for the old Times, forerunner of the current Daily Record, for the second time in 1918 and has been on the job ever since.

A detailed check of our mathematics reveals that Frank, now on the sick list, has been on the job for 38 straight years. Everyone will be glad to see him back on the job next week. Frank lives in East Stroudsburg.

Art Barnes, the father and nephew in this story, came to work for The Daily Record on Oct. 1, 1945. He has been a linotype operator all that time and in recent years has been repairman for the same type of machinery. Art is a resident of Delaware Water Gap.

Ken Barnes, a graduate of Stroudsburg High in 1953, is the son of the yarn. Ken, now enjoying a vacation of two weeks, came to The Daily Record straight from high school. Ken lives in East Stroudsburg.

Chester A. Barnes, Frank's brother, Art's father and Ken's grandfather, is a linotype operator at Hughes Printing Co., but years back did work for The Record.

How do you like the way we zipped off that family tree business? Sounds like we might have spent quite a bit of time in trees.

My New York

—by Mel Heimer

New York—Back in my youthful days in Westchester county, I lived just across a backyard from the place where the Australian race horse Phar Lap was stuffed and mounted after his mysterious death, and later I became close friends with a dame whose macabre ambition in life was to have her pet Maltese mongrel stuffed and mounted. I feel as if I had been surrounded by taxidermy all my life.

This makes me keenly interested in the labors of a man named Dominick Guccione, who occupies and works in a skinny, four-story building in Nineteenth street on the East Side—and likely is one of the world's most celebrated taxidermists. Certainly he seems to be America's largest, from the standpoint of volume of business. Guccione handles, tans, stuffs and otherwise deals in nearly a thousand animal skins per annum.

"It is an art," says the amiable Dominick, who broke into the business early in the century with Prof. George H. Storck and, at 18, took over Storck's business. "It uses every tool you can imagine—drills, punches, knives, needles, vises, hammers, welders, tooth scrapers. No matter how long you work, you always have something to learn. In the whole country there are only 50 real taxidermists. All the others are amateurs."

Now a man in his sixties, Guccione has a fascinating main workroom, on the top floor. Long and narrow, it's full of animals' heads, trunks, rolls of duck cloth (they use it in backing skin rugs), boxes, barrels, rugs, fully mounted beasts, et al. Like a garage mechanic who has boxes labeled "washers" or "sparkplugs," Guccione is surrounded by barrels with such fascinating labels as "jaguar pieces," "lion feet," "leopard heads" and so on.

Roughly, Guccione and company work this way: they get a skin (usually from a trading company) and, if a complete animal is desired, they begin by making a full-scale model in the position required. Iron rods are bones, jute and plaster are flesh. The skin is tanned—then wrapped around the model and careful work is begun on the head, so that the expression is correctly fierce or whimsical or docile, as the case may be.

A good deal of the time, the beast's head still has its own teeth; if not, Guccione and company can fashion false ones from celluloid, beef bone, etc. Eyes are glass. The tongue customarily is wax or composition. When it is through.

19,433 Citizens Of Monroe County Eligible To Cast Vote

Latest Total 1,201 Gain On 1952

A RECORD-BREAKING 19,433 Monroe County voters will be eligible to cast their ballots in the Nov. 6 general elections, the county commissioners office announced yesterday.

The figure is 1,201 more than the number registered for the 1952 Presidential contest. In that year, 18,232 were enrolled.

The Democrats will have a handy advantage over their political rivals this year with 3,167 more voters enrolled, the figures show. A total 11,144 Democrats are registered, compared to 7,799 Republicans.

In 1952, there were 10,296 Democrats enrolled, or 948 less than this year. There were 7,683 Republicans eligible to vote in 1952, or less than this year.

The commissioners disclosed that 3,909 persons enrolled during the Fall registration period. There were 17,524 eligible to vote in last Spring's primaries.

Oddly, there were more Republicans enrolled on the distaff side, while the male element predominated in the number of enrolled Democrats, the figures showed.

A total 3,817 men have registered as Republicans, compared to 4,160 ladies. However, there are 5,983 men and 5,161 women enrolled in the Democratic ledgers.

The figures also show there are 201 non-partisans, 106 Independents, four Prohibitionists and one Progressive enrolled for the Nov. 6 elections in this county.

That's 13 more non-partisans, 48 more Independents, and two less Prohibitionists than were enrolled in 1952.

There was one Progressive registered in the last Presidential year — and he's still enrolled now.

Blue Cross Lists Chance

A SPECIAL opportunity to join Blue Cross-Blue Shield is being provided by Northeastern Pennsylvania's Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plan for a two-week period which started Monday.

Announcement took the form of a "Join Us?" invitation as proffered by the 2½-year old youngsters of the Carlton Hadsalls, Trucksville, the first "Blue Cross Triplets" ever born under the Northeastern Pennsylvania Plan. The seven Hadsalls (there are two older daughters) "belong" through the father's place of employment at State Equipment Co., Kingston, and since joining in 1944 have shared over a dozen trips to the hospital as Blue Cross-Blue Shield members under their "family" agreement.

Preliminary information notes that the October period features such special provisions as: non-members may join regular employe groups regardless of usual anniversary dates, with protection effective Dec. 1 or 15. Where an employe group is thus far enrolled for Blue Cross but not for Blue Shield, employes can join under "non-group." Also, persons may join under "non-group" if there is no group at place of employment.

Shortage of Engineers

District Rehabilitation Head To Speak To Area Committee

GENERAL MEETING of the Pocono Area Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped will be held tomorrow at 4 p. m. at the VFW post home, Stroudsburg.

J. Horace Strunk, committee chairman, said last night that the main speaker will be Tom E. Williams, district rehabilitation supervisor from Wilkes-Barre.

Tom E. Williams

The public is invited to attend the meeting, Strunk emphasized. Williams will discuss the various services available to the handicapped in this area as provided by the State Board of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Programs

Included in these are formal training programs to fill the specific needs and abilities of handicapped persons, hospital services, medical supplies, appliances for personal use. He will also outline the method through which handicapped persons may qualify for services and talk on the laws which make services possible.

Williams is a graduate of Bloomsburg State Teachers College. During World War One he was an officer with the 109th Field Artillery. He was wounded in action in that way.

He has been a life member of the American Legion, former department commander of the Military Order of the Purple Heart. He taught school in Nanticoke and Wilkes-Barre and is a former Wilkes-Barre city commissioner.

Williams is also a former State director of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Department of Health and has served in his present post the past 12 years. He is the immediate past president of the Pennsylvania Rehabilitation Association.

Citizens League To Study Construction Of Thruway

EFFORTS ARE BEING MADE to organize a citizens league to study proposals relative to the construction of a Thruway through the Stroudsburgs.

S. Jerome Rubin, spokesman for the group, said a meeting will be held at 8 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 25 at the YMCA. At that time, residents will be invited to express their views on the proposed route, and slides will be shown, depicting the plan.

Rubin said the group is being organized because it has been considered necessary "by citizens interested in obtaining the best possible route for the by-pass to the best advantage of the two boroughs."

"The fact that a by-pass is necessary is not in dispute by this group," Rubin said. "The contention these citizens wish to make is that there are many obvious faults with the route as now proposed.

"The U. S. 611 by-pass which is being pushed by the State Highway Department does not by-pass either of the boroughs but, rather, passes right through both of them," Rubin continued. "It thus causes unnecessary economic hardship to the boroughs and townships by taking over $3-million worth of property which is now supplying part of their tax revenues.

Embankment

"It proposes to go through Stroudsburg on a high dirt embankment which will be a wall of dirt, 25 to 50 feet high in places, effectively splitting the town in two parts and even splitting industrial plants into separate sections," he insisted.

"Even with all this damage," he continued, "it does not provide for even one decent, modern interchange or access for traffic that wishes to get on or off the highway at either East Stroudsburg or Stroudsburg."

Rubin said further:

"The official plans show them to be either only partial interchanges which do not provide for traffic to enter or leave the highway in all four directions, or if four-way operation is provided, it is only at the expenses of making such traffic enter or leave by making left hand turns across other traffic.

"This is strictly frowned on in modern traffic planning as causing accidents and traffic tie-ups.

"These are broad statements. It might be well to state right here that all the facts as to the roadway plans are taken from the official engineering report U. S. 611 By-Pass, Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg, Pa., as prepared by the consulting engineers and submitted to the secretary, Pennsylvania Department of Highways on June 25, 1956."

Lions Club To Drive For Members

STROUDSBURG Lions, meeting in dinner session at the Penn-Stroud Hotel last night, launched the annual Autumn and Winter attendance contest.

President Harold L. Miller announced that the general chairman of the contest will be Bill Kopenhaver and said that teams will be announced at an early date.

Officers plan to make this attendance contest something a little out of the ordinary and numerous features are planned that greatly enliven the meetings. There will be weekly awards of booby prizes and other features Kopenhaver announced last night.

Miller pointed out that Lions International calls for an attendance percentage of 85 for all meetings and that the Stroudsburg club is far below that level. He urged an immediate improvement and added that it is not too early to consider desirable new members to be proposed during the annual Melvin Jones Birthday membership campaign.

Song Leading

This week's meeting was greatly improved by the song leading. Dr. Paul Maxwell went into this phase of club work with a will and some fine singing resulted.

Chairman John M. Price of the paraplegic relief committee made a report saying that all Lions Clubs in Pennsylvania have been contacted and asked to notify the local committee of the names and addresses of any paraplegic in their area. There have been some responses and more are expected. He said that the greatest cooperation has been received by State Secretary Junius Chestnut in the matter of mailing the appeals and the copies of Paraplegic News to the clubs.

The program of the meeting was devoted to an address by Mrs. Joyce E. Seignious Sr., staff aide of the Bell Telephone Co., who spoke of "The Magic of Color." She used charts to illustrate points in her address, showed colored telephone receiving sets, pictures of industry, such as heavy machinery, and the colors of wires, piping and steel parts.

Free Of Accidents

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 16 (AP)—More than 2,000 mountain climbers scaled 17,700-foot Popocatepetl this week for the annual planting of flags of all nations having diplomatic relations with Mexico. The event usually is marred by accidents but this year everyone made it.

Agree To Exchange

CALCUTTA, Oct. 16 (AP) Premier Chou En-Lai of Red China has agreed to exchange Buddhist monks with India for coordination of Buddhist activities in the two countries. The government was reported by a delegation of monks just back from Peiping.

Study By Engineers May Make History

THE CURRENT CORPS of Engineers survey of the Delaware River Basin has shattered precedent and may well turn out to be a study of nationwide historical significance.

This was one of the key points implied in a talk by Col. Allen Clark, district engineer, at the eighth annual conference of the Delaware Valley Council in Philadelphia yesterday.

Clark told the council:

"An an outgrowth of (the flood following hurricanes Connie and Diane) the Corps of Engineers has been directed by Congress to undertake a fully comprehensive water resources study of the Delaware.

"This is a pioneer effort.

"There have been comprehensive studies (such as the current one on the Delaware) of western watersheds where the needs are somewhat different, but no eastern watershed has been approached in quite the manner we have been directed to approach this one.

"Here is a federal agency directed to undertake a study in which it is quite obvious that the major use of the water will be for water supply in which the Federal Government has previously maintained a hands-off attitude.

Needs

"In such a study as we are about to undertake, we will have to consider not only water supply demands for domestic use but the needs of an expanding industry for water, the needs of water for the control of pollution and the needs of water for recreation of the people in the area adjacent to the area . . ."

Clark went on to point out that the present survey must, by direction, be concerned not just with "present need" but with a long-range, cumulative planning program carrying the projected "needs" of the area into "the long distant future."

"We must have an economic survey of the whole region which will project population and industry growth for the next 100 years or as far into the future short of that time as we can reasonably look," he said.

"Based on that we must develop the water needs of that expanded economy—how much water per individual will be needed, how much will be returned to the Delaware to be re-used, how much will industry use and what will become of it, what will be the requirements of water for navigation, and as a corollary to that, what navigation structures may reasonably be expected to appear in the Delaware over the next 50 to 100 years," Clark continued.

"We must estimate the effete of atomic energy on industrial water requirements. We will have to consider the effects of de-salting sea water and the revolution in requirements which might be caused by new inventions in domestic sewage disposal and treatment," he said.

Clark praised the cooperation given to the Corps by local and State authorities in the four States primarily concerned with the study. But he went on to say that an "organizational structure" will be needed to maintain and operate Basin development. He said such an organization as the Delaware Valley Council or Incodel would be necessary.

The district engineer emphasized that this is the first time a truly "comprehensive study" of the Delaware has been undertaken. He said that the Army's 1932 study—called the "308 report"—was primarily a map-making survey and little field analysis was done.

The present day study being made is closely akin to surveys which have been made in vast Western watersheds. There, however, the concern with water conservation and supply was allied with a need for irrigation. Here the study will point up water uses and the ways in which regulation of water supply, through reservoirs, can aid in the expansion of all portions of the basin's economy and welfare.

Mrs. Stanard Services Held

FUNERAL SERVICES for Mrs. Velma D. Stanard, late of Stroudsburg, were held at 2 p.m. yesterday in Dunkelberger and Westbrook funeral home.

Pocono-Paradise Gun Club Contributes $100 To Campaign For Purchase Of 'Cranberry Bog'

TANNERSVILLE — Pocono-Paradise Gun Club named William Post president and Gil Scharf vice president at a meeting in the fire hall here last night.

Members voted to contribute $100 to the fund for purchase of the "Cranberry Bog." A committee attempting to raise funds is working on the local level. The "bog" is the only one of its kind in this area which is easily accessible by highway. It is considered by naturalists to be an invaluable reservoir of historical information on the area in general through storage of vegetable matter lying at the bottom of the water areas.

Officials urged members to carry out strict policing of club grounds to prevent unauthorized hunting within the boundaries.

Entertainment for the meeting was the showing of two films — "The Lost Hunter" and "Woodcock Hunting."

Computer To Be Installed At Depot

MOUNT POCONO—A computer which will do the normal paper work in connection with issuance of supplies to the U. S. Army will be installed at the Tobyhanna Signal Depot.

This was revealed last night by Edward J. Kamens, who is in charge of the installation, at the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club at the Mount Pocono Methodist Church.

His talk was entitled "The Electronic Data Processing System."

Kamens said it is hoped to have the Univac-type mechanism in operation by July, 1957. A member of the staff headed by Lt. Col. Robert H. Glover, acting commanding officer of the depot, Kamens will be in charge of the operation after the machine is set up.

Major advantage of the computer, the speaker said, is that it will lessen the time it will take the Signal Corps to get supplies to the Army. It will be able to make faster and more accurate forecasts of Army requirements, he said, and will be able to operate more cheaply than present methods.

As it stands now, Kamens said, the operation will take over some of the functions done by depot employes. These people, he added, will be transferred to other duties at the depot.

The speaker was introduced by Louis DePaul, program chairman.

Visiting Rotarians attending the dinner meeting were Robert Ross, Dr. Thomas E. Larkin and Rev. Harold MacMurray, Pocono Mountains club; R. LeRoy Dengler, John R. Litts, Walter S. Sebring, Larry Ramsey and William Heller, Stroudsburg, and Homer Gibson, Newfoundland.

The club has arranged a father-son night program for next week.

Meyner Lashes Out At Duff

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 16 (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey tonight described Sen. James Duff (R-Pa) as "an incumbent who has been slack in his duties, indifferent to the work of the Senate, and totally apathetic about the major problems of this state and the nation."

In an address prepared for the annual dinner of the Fayette County Democratic organization, Meyner said Duff as a senator "managed to be absent for 37 per cent of the roll call votes during his first five years in Washington."

Moscow Girl Inflicts Fatal Wound From .22 Calibre Rifle

IT WAS A NIGHT like most other nights in the Edward Dixon home, Moscow RD 1.

In the kitchen Mrs. Dixon was putting the final touches on the customary suppertime meal. Above the clatter of pans, the frequent gush of running water from the tap she could hear the 5 o'clock television program her husband was watching in the living room.

When supper was ready the mother called to her 14-year-old daughter, Hannah Jane. The girl was somewhere upstairs, she knew. But she had heard no sound for several minutes.

No Answer

When Hannah Jane failed to answer her call, Mrs. Dixon walked to the stairway and called again. Still no answer.

The mother walked up the stairway. She found Hannah Jane dead.

Daleville State police said the girl had put a bullet from a .22 caliber rifle through her head. Lackawanna County coroner P. E. Kubasko said Hannah Jane died of a massive cerebral hemorrhage from a self-inflicted gunshot wound through the right temple.

The girl had left a note for her parents and her sister, Alice. Police could give no reason for her action last night, however.

They said the sound of the shot went unnoticed by the family, apparently, because of the sound from the television set downstairs.

17 School Children Hurt

PERKASIE, Pa., Oct. 16 (AP)—Seventeen school children and a motorist were injured today when an automobile and school bus collided on Route 563 one mile from this Bucks County town.

The crash involved a car operated by Warren G. Glass, of Sellersville, and the St. Agnes Parochial School bus driven by Joseph Sick, 70, of Sellersville.

Passing

State Police said the accident happened when Glass attempted to pass another car, spotted the school bus and swerved back, then lost control of the car and veered into the path of the bus.

Glass and seven of the children were detained at the Grand View Hospital at Sellersville. Glass is listed in serious condition with internal injuries and possible fractures of both legs. Sick was not hurt. Ten other children were treated for minor injuries but not hospitalized.

Hundreds Of Hunters Expected To Invade Area Saturday

Standard Time To Be Basis For Shooting

HUNDREDS of hunters are expected to invade Pocono Mountain woodlands in search of grouse, wild turkeys and squirrels on Saturday, District Game Protector John Doebling announced last night.

Hunting for these species will continue when the season for rabbits, ring-necked pheasants and quail opens Oct. 27.

Doebling offered these reminders to hunters.

All shooting hours are based on Eastern Standard Time. On Oct. 20 the opening hour is 7 a.m. On Oct. 27 no hunting of any kind shall start until 9 a.m. The hunting day for native game ends at 5 p.m., EST, every day of season. Check the hunting license for other information.

At all times, handle your firearm with safety in mind—safety to yourself and others.

When you draw a bead take time to make sure it is on legal game, that no human is in the line of fire.

Experienced hunters should set an example, as careful gun handlers, for youngsters and first-time hunters.

Restraint and emotional control in the hunting field will prevent many accidents, especially mistake shootings. The person who is overly anxious to bag game is more likely to shoot a human.

The hunter who carries his gun "on safe," with finger outside the trigger guard until ready to shoot, eliminates the possibility of accidental discharge, through which he might shoot himself or another person.

Do not overtax yourself physically.

Wear a bright cap or jacket that contrasts with the seasonal background. Such apparel will instantly identify you as a human, not game.

Be careful with matches, fires and tobacco embers while hunting or in an auto. Despite a wet summer and fall, and few fires to date, frost-killed vegetation and dead leaves on the ground in fall usually are highly flammable. Fire in any form, when carelessly handled, can cause great loss, particularly when fanned by a fall wind.

Show by act and word you appreciate the hunting privilege granted you by the landowner. Be a good citizen, and protect your future hunting, by preventing or reporting vandalism, dangerous shooting near homes or game law violations anywhere.

Hunt safely and lawfully. Return home refreshed, with a clear conscience because you treated your fellow man as you would like to be treated and handled your gun in the proper manner as a sporting arm.

Six Property Deeds Placed On File

MR. AND MRS. George R. Stoeckel, Stroudsburg, have transferred a building and two lots in the borough to Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hauser, also of Stroudsburg.

The transaction was recorded in a deed filed yesterday in the office of Register and Recorder Floyd Butz.

New York Fails To Agree On Highway Joining

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 16 (AP)—John L. Stinson, Pennsylvania district engineer for the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, disclosed today that New York State officials are withholding agreement on the proposed connecting point for the Erie County expressway and the New York Thruway.

"New York has not agreed to the point of meeting favored by the Pennsylvania Highways Department," he said.

The two roads would be part of the federal interstate system and in such cases both states must agree to the meeting point.

Design

As designed by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission and recently taken over by the state Highways Department the 46-mile Erie cross county superhighway would end at the state line about halfway between Routes 5 and 20, near Northeast, Pa.

However, Gen. George J. Richards, deputy secretary of highways, said that as far as he knew "there is no disagreement on the meeting point."

"As far as I know," he said, "we are in agreement on all the questions that have come up."

Stinson described the plans as "up in the air."

"We have asked for approval of the link (46 miles from the Ohio line to the New York line) but we have not received it yet," he said.

"As far as Pennsylvania is concerned there is no disagreement—they (Pennsylvania) are in agreement—it's just that New York has not accepted yet," he said.

Stinson said he believes New York State officials are "trying to get approval for another interstate route further south than the proposed meeting point."

County Men At National Polio Meeting

TWO MONROE County men were in Washington, D. C., yesterday attending a nine-state meeting arranged by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Representing the county were Joseph Small, president of the Monroe chapter of the foundation, and Richard Fredenberg, campaign chairman.

The meeting was called by Basil O'Connor, national chairman, to acquaint local chapter chairmen and workers of the program planned for the coming year by the national foundation.

Pocono High Agriculture Club Elects Official Slate

TANNERSVILLE—Pocono Township High School agriculture club members held their first meeting of the year last week. Officers were elected.

Students named to head the club were: Don Detrick, president; Danny Paul, vice president; Tom Volgé, sentinel; Harrison Stewart, secretary; Doug Bauman, treasurer; Floyd Strausser Jr., reporter.

Members voted to make "at least one barrel of cider" as part of the club's school year projects, Strausser reported. The club will also carry out projects with sheep, dairy cattle and hogs.

Northampton Man Survives Plane Crash

ALLENTOWN, Oct. 16 (AP)—Frank Dorner of Northampton, Pa., one of the 31 survivors of the Pan American Airways plane ditched in the Pacific Ocean today, was on his way back home from a visit to Japan.

A sister, Miss Helen Dorner, said her brother had gone to Japan last August to visit some Japanese families he met during his armed forces services in that country.

Not Informed

She said Dorner had not informed his family that he intended to return to the U. S. on the ill-fated plane.

He is employed by the Bethlehem Steel Co.

Eisenhower To Continue Aid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower decided today to continue economic aid to Yugoslavia but to hold up delivery of heavy military equipment including about 200 jet warplanes.

The President announced his decision in keeping with foreign aid legislation which requires a determination by tomorrow whether continuing aid is in the interest of American foreign policy.

Star Witness Tells Story

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16 (AP)—The state's star witness today told the jury trying Frank Ellsworth in the slaying of Lulubel Rossman, elderly Philadelphia widow, that Ellsworth killed the woman against the wishes of a confederate.

The testimony was given by Edward C. Nixon, Georgia convict, whose story of a confession given while the pair shared a Las Vegas cell shortly after the Rossman murder helped convict Wilson in his recent trial. Wilson was sentenced to life in prison.

Mesa Verde in Colorado has the most perfectly preserved cliff dwellings in the United States.

Baptist Minister Resigns Pastorate In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16 (AP)—A Baptist minister resigned his pastorate today because his church declined to admit Negroes to membership.

The Rev. David E. Gregory told the New Berean Baptist Church Congregation of his plans to resign at yesterday's services. The minister, a native of Fredericksburg, Va., has been in the ministry since 1940, and at the New Berean Church for 18 months.

"Family Quarrel"

One church official described the action as a "family quarrel."

"There is no reason for us to integrate," said Thomas W. Cox of suburban Upper Darby, acting chairman of the board of deacons and a church member for 48 years.

Nudist Camps Available

OTTAWA, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Canadian Travel Bureau received a letter from a 22-year-old British engineer saying:

"I am considering moving to Canada. One condition on which both my wife and I insist is that we are able to join a nudist summer camp and go there every year, as we have been accustomed to do here in England."

The bureau replied with a list of 17 nudist camps in British Columbia, Alberta, Manitoba, Ontario and New Brunswick.

Estes Kefauver 'Very Satisfied'

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 16 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver said today he was "very satisfied" after 27,000 miles of campaigning that the nation's independent voters are swinging to the Democratic ticket in sufficient numbers to be decisive Nov. 6.

The Democratic vice-presidential contender made this assessment of the campaign as he wound up a 24-hour home-state visit and headed for his Washington home for an overnight stop before setting out on another cross-country air tour.

Humphrey Comes To Defense Of Installments

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey said today installment buying means "a better way of living" and is "a way of saving money." He said he does it himself in one form or another.

The wealthy former industrialist said in a filmed NBC television interview—"Youth Wants to Know"—that "installment buying is a good thing for America."

Credit

And, while noting that credit purchasing "can be greatly overdone," he said regulation should come from self-discipline and not from "some bright people in Washington."

Homemakers Enjoy Wide Selections

HOMEMAKERS today have a wider choice than ever before in selecting decorative schemes for the kitchen, as both kitchen-unit and equipment manufacturers are turning out their wares in a wide range of colors.

If the kitchen cabinets are of wood, the choice of color is practically unlimited and steel cabinets are now coming in many shades. Those in two-tone wood shades are frequently used with white appliances, tied in with copper-tone cupboards by matching trim or with contrasting colored gas or electric ranges and refrigerators.

Rule

The rule of thumb seems to be: colored cabinets, woodwork, countertops and walls combine best with white appliances; colored appliances, sink, woodwork and walls combine best with white cupboards.

In other words, despite the craze for high color in the kitchen, it is recognized that there can be too much of a good thing when everything in the kitchen is colored.

Ceilings, which in former years were usually a neutral white, are now painted to blend with the woodwork and floor covering, thus tying in with the color scheme.

Increasingly, homemakers are returning to roll-up window shades in the kitchen, finding them less troublesome to keep clean than Venetian blinds.

Vanity Adds To Glamor

INSTALLATION of a vanity counter around a bathroom lavatory is a practical modernization project.

Installation of vanity lavatories in place of old fashioned mirrored dressers in bedrooms also relieves pressure on a family bathroom.

Sink Most Used Item

A SINK is the most used item of equipment in the kitchen . A housewife spends more than half her kitchen time at the sink, preparing meals or cleaning up after them, and this is probably a conservative estimate, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

In choosing a new sink, the important consideration is to get one that is big enough. The ultimate in convenience is a twin-bowl type with double drainboards. Manufacturers now match sink and cabinet colors for a striking ensemble effect.

Colors Popular In Sinks

SINKS WITH both single and double bowls, come in pink, blue, yellow, green, tan, ivory and gray, as well as white.

Base and wall-hung storage cabinets can be chosen in colors to harmonize or contrast with the color of the sink.

Long Lasting Siding

WOOD SIDING, when properly protected and used as exterior covering for a home, will wear down only about 1-32nd inch in 100 years, according to wood research specialists. Some woods, like western red cedar, when used as home siding and untreated with paints or varnishes, will last for decades without appreciable wear.

125th Anniversary

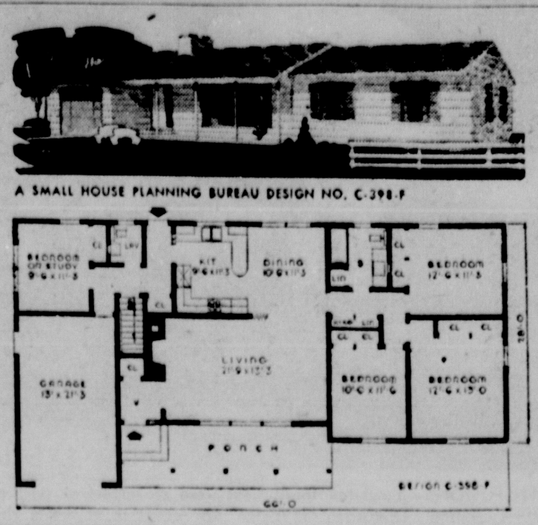
THIS YEAR marks the 125th anniversary of the founding of the savings and loan business in the United States. The first savings association was established in January, 1831, in Frankford, Pa., a suburb of Philadelphia.



A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-398-F

DESIGN C-398-F. The exterior of this ranch type house is finished with wood shingle siding and asphalt shingle roof. Design also calls for picture windows, front and rear, covered terrace in front, broken roof line and shutters.

Floor plan shows a through living-dining room combination with folding doors, four bedrooms, bath, lavatory, plenty of closet space and attached garage. There is a full basement.

Kitchen cabinets occupy three walls of the kitchen with a snack bar between dining room and kitchen.

Floor area on the ground is 1582 sq. ft. with cubage of 30,068 cu. ft., not including garage or terrace.

For further information about DESIGN C-398-F, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. In Canada, the Small House Planning Bureau of Canada, St. John, New Brunswick.

Cotton Swabs Important To Modern Home Craftsmen

INGENIOUS HOME craftsmen have discovered that they can achieve best results in delicate cleaning and oiling jobs by making use of a product originally designed for the nursery. The product is the "Q-Tips" cotton swap, which has long been used in baby care.

Swabs can be used in tiny crevices, and therefore are ideal for cleaning and oiling sewing machines, hobby tools, fishing gear, electric razors, cigarette lighters, etc. They are also used in painting and retouching jobs where craftsmen seek thin, precise lines which are impossible to achieve with large brushes.

Plumbing Fixtures Need Cleaning

HOME OWNERS who have bank-borfowed to make home improvements, such as new plumbing, are usually overly-zealous in insuring that the new home additions get good care. That's the way it should be if you'd preserve the appearance and usefulness of them.

Plumbing fixtures, for example, are day-to-day cleaning chores, sometimes neglected. Rust from dripping faucets, a loose tile around a faucet and stains from fruits may become real problems if left alone.

Kitchen and bathroom fixtures need regular cleansings with soap and warm water to preserve their sheen, otherwise they may become dull within a short time.

Rust Spots

Pots, pans or silverware left in the sink may cause rust spots. Fruit or vegetables permitted to drain in the sink may cause permanent acid stains. Grease, tea and coffee grounds can cause hard-to-remove stains if left standing on fixtures.

Sink enamel is easily damaged if used for chipping ice, chopping meat, slicing and shredding vegetables. One should avoid dripping pots and pans into the sink or sliding them across enameled surfaces.

It's a good idea to stand on your bath mat if you are cleaning the bath tub area. Shoes worn in the tub can scratch the finish.

Avoid overcrowding the medicine chest so that items falling out scratch the lavatory or floor tile.

Check On Spot For New Fence

GOING TO fence in your yard? You'd better be sure to erect that fence on your side of the property line, if you want to avoid the possibility of serious trouble.

Many home owners believe that they can build a fence right on the property line. Actually, the only time this can be done is when two or more neighbors build a fence together, and share the construction and maintenance costs.

Fences

Otherwise, divisionary fences must be located, inside the property line, entirely on the owner's own property.

If a neighbor should object, faulty placement of a fence can prove expensive to you, if you have to dismantle, then re-erect it at a new location. In some cases, it might even make you liable for damages.

To play safe, you should check the exact position of your property line at the appropriate local office before beginning actual construction.

Large Glass Areas Practicable

LARGE GLASS areas in homes have been made practicable for keeping cold out in Northern winters and keeping heat out in Southern summers by the use of vacuum sealed double glazing.

The permanently clean and moistureless space between such panes serves as insulation. Small windows are no longer necessities.

Fan Blade Troubles

NOISES IN a forced warm air furnace are often due to fan blades in the blower having been damaged. Sometimes the blower can be repaired and in othes cases it must be replaced. Be sure that the power to the furnace is turned off before you start inspecting the blower.

Plan Kitchens Carefully To Do Away With Many Problems

HOW TO GET the most out of your kitchen: That is the question. Big or little, kitchens have problems, because most times they are planned by people who never work in them.

The idea is to make good use of all space, even walls. A kitchen is not to live in. It should be planned for utility—a place where food preparation, freezing, storing and cooking may be done in a minimum of time.

If you can't have everything at your arm's reach, locate it nearby. Cabinets or shelves above the refrigerator may hold ice box containers, seldom-used kitchen ware; casserole dishes and pots may go above the stove or oven cabinet; canned foods and breadstuffs may be put in an out-of-the way spot, perhaps above the washing machine.

One Wall

One wall or corner may get peg board treatment, to hold useful items that never seem to be available readily when needed. These include sharp knives for carving, dippers, spatulas (now in attractive sets), pipkins, molds, chicken shears, table tiles, trays.

It's a good place to put your electric clock too. Choose one of the new designs, snowflake pattern or what have you for special wall flattery.

Give Lumber Air

WHEN LUMBER is to be stored for any length of time, be sure that each board is adequately supported and that there is an air space between each board. This can be done by inserting short scrap pieces of wood between the boards as they are stacked.

Three-Cut Sanding Job

MAPLE, OAK and other hardwood floors call for a three-cut sanding job before finishing. To cut off high spots and joints, No. 2 or No. 2½ sandpaper is used.

A second cut calls for No. 1 sandpaper. The third cut is made with No. 0 or No. 00 sandpaper. All sanding should be done with the grain.

Ventilate Basements

IN HOMES where there are basements, proper ventilation should be provided in Summer as well as in Winter. It is important to have adequate air circulation so that all basement moisture is removed. In Winter, heating does the trick. In Summer, suction fan or open window ventilation will do the job.

Two Types Of Cores

A PREFERENCE for wood kitchen cabinets was expressed by 93 per cent of 3,900 prospective home buyers surveyed recently by a Los Angeles management consultant firm.

End Grain Planing

WHEN PLANING the end grain of wood, stop the forward movement of the plane just before it reaches the edge of the wood and reverse the plane. This will prevent the plane splitting the edge of the wood.

FFA To Honor Bangor Ag Teacher

Ott To Receive Award At Convention

HARRISBURG, Oct. 16 — Two Pennsyivania teachers of vocational agriculture are being awarded the "Honorary American Farmer" degree at the 29th national convention of the Future Farmers of America this week in Kansas City.

The FFA's gold key designating its highest degree and a certificate will be received by George O. Ott, Sr., of the Bangor High School faculty, and Elmer H. Schriver, head of the Vo-Ag department at Gettysburg High School.

Emphasizing that it is unusual for two teachers from a single state to be honored at the same FFA national convention, H. C. Fetterolf, State FFA adviser and chief of agriculture education in the Department of Public Instruction, said Ott and Schriver both organized the departments of agriculture they head and have been associated with those departments about 20 years.

Ott, who is a farmer as well as a teacher of agriculture, joined the Bangor High School faculty as a teacher of science and social studies immediately upon graduation from Pennsylvania State College in 1927. When the school added a course in vocational agriculture in 1935, he became the school's first teacher of agriculture and since 1940 has devoted full time to that course. He coached the first Pennsylvania FFA judging team to compete in the National Dairy Congress at Waterloo, Iowa, in 1947, the schoolboy team winning the gold medal for judging dairy cattle and the bronze medal for judging dairy products.

Leadership

Under Ott's leadership, the Bangor FFA Chapter won many honors and it has placed high in the State Project Contests in each of the last 10 years. Forty chapter members have earned the Keystone Farmer degree (the highest at the State level) and two of them became State FFA officers and one became the Star Farmer for Northeastern Pennsylvania. Six of his graduates have become American Farmers (highest national degree) and one of them was selected as the Star Farmer for northeastern United States.

The Exchange Club of Bangor this year honored Ott with the Golden Deeds Award, an honor conferred only twice before in the club's history. The Club now sponsors the Blue Valley Farm Show, which Ott was largely instrumental in organizing in 1947.

In agreement with his son, George, who was one of his students to win the American Farmer degree, Ott operates the 160-acre farm in Mt. Bethel Township, Northampton County, which has been in the Ott family since 1810. Practicing on the farm what he teaches in his classes, he has removed stone and fence rows and contoured the farm's entire cultivated area, built a farm pond, developed pasture improvement and grass silage programs, and enlarged and modernized the dairy barn. He became an Honorary Keystone Farmer by vote of the FFA State convention in 1947.

Grange Of Cherry Valley Presents Public Entertainment

CHERRY VALLEY—The Cherry Valley Grange 1821 presented a program for the public recently.

Mrs. Sam Getz, lecturer, arranged the "Booster Night" program. Miss Nancy Metzger accompanied the singing.

Richard Seidof, master, welcomed the guests and told of some of the accomplishments of the Grange during the past year. Mrs. Thomas Rogers read a letter from Hershall Newsom, national Grange master.

Miss Florence Metzger sang solos and Frank Majestic was heard in several mandolin numbers accompanied by Mrs. Orien Reish. Mrs. Reish further entertained with a humorous poem.

Color Slides

Glenn Snyder showed colored slides that he had taken on a recent trip through the west. He had chosen those that he thought would especially appeal to farmers and other Grange members and gave a running commentary while he showed the slides.

Wilmer Frisbie showed a short movie that was suitable for a presidential election year. It easily showed the advantages of living conditions in the United States.

Refreshments were served at the close of the gathering.

Bangor Church Names Sick Committee

BANGOR — A sick committee composed of Granville Evans, Clayton Bisher and Donald Jones was appointed by the Men's Brotherhood of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church during Monday night's gathering in the Sunday School rooms.

Lester Reimer, president, read the scripture. Jones offered prayer. Participating in the discussion of the topic, "Count me a partner in bearing suffering," were Jones, Donald Weaver, Russell Kressler, Evans and Jay Albert.

Weaver, secretary, and Jones, treasurer, submitted reports. Earl Kressler, Reimer and Russell Kressler were appointed to the refreshment committee for the November session.

Refreshments were served by Jones, Harold Houck and Raymond Hahn. A technicolor film, "Fishing in Alaska," with Russell Kressler as the projectionist, also was shown.

Mount Pocono

MT. POCONO—The J. Harold Stegner family spent a day in New York City and attended the rodeo.

Four members of the American Legion Auxiliary of Mount Pocono drove to Wind Gap on Saturday to attend the Four-County Council meeting and luncheon: Mrs. Viola Curran, Mrs. Yvonne Regan, Miss Hazel Hartman and Mrs. Estell Sutton.

Beer Record Set At Munich

MUNICH, Germany, Oct. 16 (AP) — The world's biggest beer bust, Munich's October Fest, trickled to its foamy close tonight after setting a new world record in beer drinking.

Officials estimated that about a million gallons of beer were consumed by the 5½ million visitors to the celebrated Munich Meadowground during the 16-day blowout. That's about 2 per cent more suds than last year.

Clank Mugs

From all over the world visitors came to clank beer mugs together sing the traditional "Eins Zwei Gsuffa"—one, two, bottoms up—and whoop it up to the oompah rhythms of Bavarian music makers.

In seven big beer halls, each seating about 700, it was standing room only every night. American visitors were made right at home. Some of the German faithful sat on each other's laps to make room.

In addition to singing and drinking, there were hundreds of food stalls and scores of amusement park rides, traditional "girlie" shows—children under 19 excluded—all advertising "fantastic" exhibits "fresh from Paris."

Kefauver Attacks Nixon

BURLINGTON, Vt., Oct. 16 (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver invaded rock-ribbed Republican Vermont today with an attack on Vice President Nixon as a man "trying to get into the White House on false premises, a false front and a false face."

The Democratic vice-presidential candidate leveled one of the strongest personal attacks of his campaign against Nixon in a brief invasion of Vermont.

Feeling "much better" but still slightly hoarse from a throat infection contracted in Nebraska last week, Kefauver left Washington this morning on a 12,000-mile swing that will take him into fourteen states in the next thirteen days.

Lashing

Lashing out at Nixon as a man who won election to the House and later to the Senate "on false premises," Kefauver declared: "I can't believe that Vermonters would want Mr. Nixon to possibly succeed to the presidency or at least to become the center of power in the Republican party that they have so long supported."

Referring to Vermont's Republican senators George Aiken and Ralph Flanders as "men of integrity," Kefauver termed Nixon "a Republican of another school, who has voted against everything liberal."

Faculty Club Renames Fritz President

BANGOR — Members of the Men's Faculty Club held their first fall dinner meeting on Monday night at the Bangor House Hotel.

Kenneth Fritz, instrumental music supervisor of the Bangor Area Joint Schools was re-elected as president; Jay Young, supervisor of industrial senior high school shop work was named vice president; Arnold F. Wynne, guidance counsellor, was named treasurer and Samuel Schatz, art supervisor, was named secretary.

Plans

Plans were made to hold the next meeting on Friday, Nov. 16 at 5:30 p.m., also at the Bangor House.

A discussion was also held on the possibility of presenting a minstrel show during the early spring for the benefit of the student loan fund of the schools. Fifteen members attended the meeting.

GOP To Fight For Pennsylvania

STOCKTON, Calif., Oct. 16 (AP) — Vice President Nixon said today he has received good political news about four states he considers important to President Eisenhower's election chances — Pennsylvania, Illinois, California and New York.

"We have no intention of losing Pennsylvania," Nixon told a news conference aboard his campaign plane. He added he is encouraged because Republicans are building a "ground up" organization there comparable to what he conceded were effective statewide, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Democratic groups.

Keystone

Nixon said he considers Pennsylvania a keystone state in a political sense, one that Republicans usually count on and build from. If they should lose it, he continued, it would not necessarily mean that the election was lost but work would have to be done to make up votes elsewhere.

Nixon said "for what it is worth" he will spend two days campaigning by train in Pennsylvania after completing his present airborne cross-country swing.

The New York reports, he added, "are very good," specifying he was talking not only of the presidency but of the U. S. Senate race between Democrat Robert Wagner and Republican Jacob Javits.

Nixon said on his last visit to Syracuse he observed a reversal of an earlier feeling that Javits was far behind. He asserted Javits "certainly" will be elected if Eisenhower carries the state by a comfortable margin.

Scholastic Group To Elect Officers

BANGOR — Miss Florence Giaquinto, adviser to the Senior National Honor Society of the Bangor Area Joint High School, yesterday announced that plans for the new school year are progressing and officers for the society will be elected this week.

It was noted by Miss Giaquinto that Bangor's Chapter is a nationally recognized society being approved by the National Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges as well as the American Association of Secondary School Principals.

Membership is based on scholarship, service, leadership and character, with persons elected to the society limited to those who maintain averages that place them in the upper one-third of their senior high school class. Not more than 15 per cent of any senior class can be accepted into the society.

Average

Any member failing to maintain the scholastic average by which he was elected to the local chapter is automatically dropped from the organization. Faculty approval for re-instatement must be secured before any member so dropped can be made an active member again.

Pius High Annual Wins Top Rating

ROSETO — Pius X High School officials announced yesterday that the school annual, Claves, was given a top rating by the National Scholastic Press Association.

"Judging your yearbook has been sheer pleasure. It is a wonderful book," said one of the NSPA judges when she conferred on the Claves the All-American Award.

The judge added: "My husband has been judging one of the largests enrollment groups and has yet to see as fine a book as yours. Some of the books spend 10 times the money you do."

Superiority

All-American Awards reflect superiority in planning, production, mastering of funds and creative imagination, Pius High School officials explained.

Claves received no less than excellent in all judging categories. Total number of votes needed for All-American honors was 4,000. Claves received 4,565 votes.

Prior to this award, the Catholic School Press Association termed the Claves "an outstanding Catholic yearbook."

Miss Germany Wins Crown

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP) — Miss Germany, Petra Schurmann, 20, won the title of Miss World here tonight in competition with finalists from five other nations. She is a student model.

Betty Lane Cherry, 20, a student from Orangesburg, S. C., Miss United States, won second prize.

The judges handed over a check for $1,400 to Miss Germany, along with a red sports car.

Statistics

Miss Germany's statistics: A 36-inch bust, 20-inch waist and 33-inch hips.

The six girls all received cash awards and silver trophies. It was the second year in succession that Miss United States took second place.

Education Commission Returns Slate

BANGOR — All officers were re-elected for the coming year during a meeting of the Commission on Education of the First Methodist Church in the chapel Monday night. Everett Price was named president; Mrs. Nellie Stocker, secretary; and Mrs. Evelyn Sandercock, treasurer.

A gift of $100 was made to the expansion fund. It also was decided to pay for the paint being used by the Youth Fellowship in redecorating the parsonage basement as a social hall.

Christmas Party

Plans were initiated for a Christmas party. Appointed to the committee were Dale Eden, chairman; Miss Shirley Fisher, Harriet Commins, Frederick Jones and Price. The fete will take place Friday, Dec. 21.

Price directed the session.

Retail Sales Tax Produces $66 Million

HARRISBURG, Oct. 16 (AP) — Pennsylvania's 3 per cent retail sales tax has produced 66 million dollars since March 7 and is expected to yield another 260 millions in the remaining eight months of the current two-year fiscal period.

Andrew M. Bradley, Gov. Leader's budget secretary, released the figures today and in effect agreed to the Republican estimate that the levy would bring the state 322 million dollars. Democrats had contested the figure since before the tax became law.

Estimate

However, Bradley said his estimate on the remaining yield is based upon the assumption the stamp plan becomes effective before May 31, 1957. At present the original Jan 1 effective date has been postponed because of court action attacking its constitutionality.

If the stamp plan is effective before the end of May, it will mean collection of an additional month's yield for the state since the tax is collected upon sale of the stamps to retailers before the taxable items are bought by consumers.

The tax brought in $1,181,000 in April, the first full month of collections. By August the figure was $15,773,317. Bradley expects the monthly average between now and May 31 to be about 29½ millions.

Two Improvements Announced In Cancer Struggle

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 16 (AP) —Two improvements on the microscope, which will provide a better chance for scientists to observe differences between normal and cancerous cells, were disclosed today by the University of California.

One of the advances is a combination of two microscopes which permits a view of both the top and bottom of a cell. An observer can see these simultaneously or interchangeably.

The other is an instrument designed to disclose new details about cell chemistry—how a cell synthesizes substances, how the parts of a cell are related to each other and how cells divide and grow. This may throw new light on the problem of cancer.

Both were developed by Prof. J. E. Gullberg, instrument specialist for the university's Zoology Department. Prof. Gullberg made reports on them during the weekend at an international symposium in Stockholm. At the same time the university made public here the details of his work.

Kresgeville

The Senior Class of Polk High School are working on their Class Play which will be presented the latter part of November.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lutz and son, Bangor, spent the weekend with her mother Mrs. Elsie Snyder.

Bangor Democratic Club To Hold 31st Annual Banquet

BANGOR—Mrs. Helen Rice, chairman, has announced that plans are now completed for the 31st annual banquet of the Women's Democratic Club of Bangor and vicinity. The guest speaker will be James W. Knox of Pittsburgh, Democratic candidate for Pennsylvania state treasurer.

The dinner will be held in the Forks Township Fire Company Club near Easton tomorrow. Miss Marie Engler is president of the Bangor Club.

Pittsburgh

Knox is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, and is a naval veteran of World War II. He is presently employed by the Department of Parks of Allegheny County and in 1947 served as county controller. He was re-elected to the position in both 1951 and 1955. Active in both the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, he is the author of the book, "The Ol' Double Trouble."

Knox is active in many political and civic organizations in the Pittsburgh area; of many Masonic bodies and is a lay leader of St. John's Lutheran Church of Pittsburgh. He was one of the hundred persons selected by the Committee for Pittsburgh's Future, under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh in cooperation with "Time" magazine as one of Pittsburgh's leaders of tomorrow.

Youth Cleared Of Charge

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 16 (AP) — A children's court judge today cleared 13-year-old Rancy Snyder of a juvenile delinquency charge in the fatal shooting of his minister-father last month.

Police said a rifle held by the boy discharged Sept. 22 when the Rev. Maurice Snyder, 41, questioned Rancy about his failure to mow the lawn at their home in suburban Colonie. The father died the next day.

The boy's attorney said the rifle was discharged accidentally while Rancy was playing with it in his room. He said the father and son were "very close."

Rancy, accompanied by his mother and the attorney, appeared before Judge Robert J. Laffin at a closed hearing. Records in the case were kept secret.

Several days after the shooting, the consistory, governing body of the Rev. Mr. Snyder's Boght Corners Reformed Church, sent a statement to the judge saying Rancy "has always been a normal boy with excellent habits and is well-considered in the church and community."

Money Causes Problem For Lutherans

HARRISBURG, October 16 (AP) — Money matters landed a two-way punch at the United Lutheran Church convention today: a problem and a pleasure.

The problem came over pastor's pensions.

And the pleasure came over the big profit from a deal in coffee for Christianity.

Delegates, representing 2¼ million church members across the country, tangled over a precedent-setting plan that would tie church pensions directly to government social security payments.

The proposal finally was sent back to a committee for full-scale revamping.

Bangor High Grad Honored At State

BANGOR — Bangor Area Joint High School learned yesterday in a letter from the head of the English Composition Department of Pennsylvania State University that Albert Piccirillo, a member of the Class of 1956, has done so well in an English College Placement Test that he will be placed in a superior freshman English class.

The letter received by the high school principal, Dr. Trever Williams, reads:

"The English Composition Department of the Pennsylvania State University is again pleased to call attention to the superior attainments of certain students who are now enrolled as freshmen in this university and who were formerly students in the high schools and academies of Pennsylvania and surrounding states.

All Freshmen

"The Pennsylvania College Placement Test in English has been administered to all entering freshmen. Those students who rank in the upper 10 percentiles are excused from the required first-semester course in English Composition. Those whose tests scores fall within the 76-90 percentile range are given special consideration, usually by being assigned to superior sections taught by full professors or associate professors. It is these two classes of students about whom we are now reporting. Past records indicate that they are unquestionably superior—of good minds and of excellent training on the secondary school level.

"We congratulate you and your school. Will you please express our appreciation to your teachers for a job well done."

Albert is enrolled in the aeronautical engineering curriculum at the college.

No Effort To Find Costs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP) — A Public Health Service officer testified today no effort was made when the government signed contracts for 27 million dollars worth of polio vaccine.

Reid M. Hovey, purchasing officer for the service, also told House investigators that because of the limited supply of vaccine, were waived and renegotiation clauses were left out of the contracts.

No Reason

Hovey and other officials said there was no reason to believe the government was charged unfair prices but Rep. Holifield (D-Calif), a member of the inquiry group, called the absence of renegotiation clauses "inexcusable."

He told Hovey the clauses would have permitted the government to examine the books of the manufacturing companies "to determine if they are making exorbitant profits."

Two Sizes Unveiled By Local Dealer

FOR THE FIRST time in its 53-year history, Ford Motor Co. is producing two sizes of Ford cars. The 19 new models were unveiled by Haynes Motors, N. Ninth St., Oct. 3.

They have the highest performance engines ever offered in the low priced field.

Jess Haynes, president of Haynes Motors, said the 1957 Fords "represent the biggest change in the modern history of the Ford car."

The new Ford line divides into two basic sizes, Fairlane and Custom, plus the station wagon series, each with its own body and chassis. In addition, the Fairlane series has been expanded to offer "Fairlane 500" models, which have extra luxury features.

Longer, Lower

The 1957 Fairlane and Fairlane 500 sedans are nine inches longer and four inches lower than last year's comparable models. Custom and Custom 300 sedans are more than three inches longer and nearly three and one-half inches lower than the 1956 models. Station wagons are three and one-half inches lower and nearly six inches longer. Fairlanes and Fairlane 500's are built on a 118-inch wheelbase. Station wagons, Customs and Custom 300's have a 116-inch wheelbase.

"There has been no sacrifice of headroom inside the car, in spite of their reduced height," Mr. Haynes said. "The new frame extends to the sides of the car, and this permits the floor to be lowered inside the frame rails.

"The design and styling are new from the ground up. Every dimension is changed. Wheels, frame, rear axle, drive shaft, engines, and every inch of sheet metal in every body style are definite departures from past models," he explained.

Riding ease has been greatly improved by using a longer, wider frame with lower pressure tires on wider treads, and employing redesigned ball-joint suspension in front and outboard-mounted longer leaf springs in back. Because there is more spring length ahead of the rear axle, front end dip on quick stops is checked better than ever before.

"Durability is built into the 1957 Ford through stronger alloy metals, greater use of insulation and sound-deadening materials, longer-wearing fabrics and plastics, and strengthening of mechanical parts," Mr. Haynes pointed out.

For the first time, a high performance V-8 engine is available as an optional power plant on all Ford cars. The engine, called the Thunderbird Special, develops 245 horsepower, and is equipped with a four-barrel low silhouette carburetor.

Standard engine for the Fairlane and station wagon series is the 212 h.p. Thunderbird V-8. A 190 h.p. V-8 is standard for the Custom and Custom 300 series. Both have two-barrel carburetors. In addition, the 144 h.p. Mileage Maker six is available on all models. All engines can be ordered with standard, over-drive or Fordomatic transmissions.

More than 3,000 industrial foresterers manage this country's private timberlands.

THE LONGEST, lowest Ford convertible ever made is this 1957 Sunliner which was just introduced along with 18 other completely new Ford body styles. The new Fords offer a broader range of improved engine performance, with the top power plant being the optional 245 horsepower Thunderbird Special V8. The Sunliner is a member of Ford's new "Fairlane 500" series, which offers a band of gold-colored anodized aluminum side trim with two-tone paint selections. The new models are now on display at Haynes Motors, authorized Ford dealer, N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg.

McCulloch Brush Cutter Demonstrated By Yetter

THE FIRST SHIPMENT of a versatile new power tool for clearing brush, heavy undergrowth and overhanging branches has arrived here, it was announced by Van D. Yetter, of Marshalls Creek, and demonstrations are now being given local woodlands operators.

The brush cutter, manufactured by McCulloch Motors Corp., has a ten-inch circular saw blade for quick, easy cutting, and a six-foot reach for greater convenience. The complete unit, including engine, weighs only 28 pounds, and can be operated easily by one man.

With accessories, it can be converted into a chain saw or all-purpose drill. The brush cutter is also available as an accessory for the widely-used McCulloch chain saw.

The brush cutter is a versatile tool for farmers, lumberman, construction crews and nurserymen. It can be used for trimming out brush, cutting saplings up to six inches in diameter, cutting fire trails, removing fire-hazardous undergrowth, building and maintaining timber roads, and right-of-way clearing.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

The news yesterday was hectic but highly interesting. Take Nancy Hartman's wedding, for instance. Not only two sets of twins in the wedding party, but one set, the bridesmaids, first came to the Hartman home with the Fresh Air Children, nine years ago.

Since then they have returned each summer and are really part of the family. There was another distinction at that wedding—in addition to the bride's cake, there was also a "groom's" cake and about time, I should think, since in most weddings it's hard to find a place to even mention the bridegroom.

Another story which will probably create a great deal of discussion is the report on the DAR stand on certain controversial issues. Seems to me that women who belong to the DAR and the AAUW and the Woman's Club must have quite a time reconciling the differences of opinion held by the various groups.

It would make a highly interesting inter-club program, I should think, and more explosive than a combined Democratic - Republican Rally. Though in the interest of free speech and interchange of ideas I'm all in favor of both ideas. I never could see wasting good ammunition on people who are already convinced of the righteousness of the cause.

Nancy Hartman Is Bride Of W. Clyde Miller In Valley

The wedding of Miss Nancy Louise Hartman to W. Clyde Miller on Saturday in the Cherry Valley Methodist Church, was a social highlight of the weekend. Rev. C. Clyde Levergood performed the double ring ceremony at 1:30 p. m. on Saturday, and administered Communion afterward.

The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums, palms and ferns lighted by silver candelabra. The family pews were marked with wedding bells, smilax and white satin ribbon. Edwin Fellencer was organist and Robert Wolbert was soloist. He sang "Ave Maria," "Through the Years" and during the Communion, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Z. Hartman, of Hartman's Cave Farm, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of pure Italian dupioni silk, with a sabrina neckline trimmed with Chantilly lace and iridescent sequins. The fitted bodice had long sleeves and a huge back flounce. The bouffant skirt was floor length. A tiara of iridescent sequin leaves held her fingertip veil of scalloped nylon tulle. She carried two white orchids with a white satin Bible, with chrysanthemums and streamers.

A miniature of the bride's gown was worn by the flower girl, two-and-a-half-year-old Barbara Jean Schaefer, of Saylorsburg, cousin of the bride, including a shoulder-length veil. She carried a white basket of chrysanthemum petals.

The wedding party also included two sets of twins, Robert and Allen Faulstick, 4, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Faulstick, of Saylorsburg, cousins of the bride, served as ring-bearers. Twin bridesmaids were Miss Regina Dreslinski and Miss Katherine Dreslinski, 17, of New York City. The girls, who first came as Fresh Air visitors to the Hartman home nine years ago, have returned each summer, and serving as bridesmaids was the climax of their friendship.

The bride's attendants were gowned in melon and leaf green gowns of peau de soie with floor-length bouffant skirts and matching picture hats. They carried cascade bouquets of autumn leaves and chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Arthur Alicandroni, of Toms River, N. J., the matron of honor, was in melon with a V-neckline and long torso bodice, trimmed in matching lace. The bridesmaids wore leaf-green gowns with scoop necklines and short sleeves.

David Dunlap, of East Stroudsburg, served as his brother-in-law's best man. Ushers were Frank Miller Jr., the bridegroom's brother, of Stroudsburg, and Robert Hartman, the bride's brother.

A reception for 175 guests was held at Gap View Inn in an autumn setting with foliage, chrysanthemums and candelabra. A five-tier wedding cake, and a groom's cake, both baked by Mrs. Charles LaBar, were featured. Bernie Whitman and his orchestra provided the musical background for the party.

Receiving the guests, the bride's mother wore a beige satin gown, street-length, with gold accents, and brown accessories. Her corsage was of golden chrysanthemums. The bridegroom's mother wore a street-length dress in Dior blue with white accessories and a corsage of rose chrysanthemums.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Howard Hartman, wore a brown satin dress trimmed in winter pink with matching accessories. The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Erva Miller, was in grey with navy accessories. Both were presented with rose chrysanthemum corsages by the father of the bride.

Other wedding parties included a supper at the bride's home after the rehearsal on Friday night when they presented their gifts to the members of the wedding party, and a wedding supper after the reception before the newlyweds left for a wedding trip through New England and Canada.

For traveling the bride wore a black wool jersey sheath dress under a red cashmere coat with a winter white hat and gloves, and an orchid corsage.

They will make their home in Wilming on, Del., where Mr. Miller is employed by William Treon Construction Co., Mount Pocono. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Miller, East Stroudsburg RD 2, a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School, and served four years in the Navy in the European theater. The bride is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Pre-School Start For Study Habits

Good study habits begin even before a child enters school, Mrs. Pauline Peterson, elementary supervisor of the East Stroudsburg Joint School system told the East Stroudsburg Parent-Teachers Association at their meeting on Monday night.

Children who have learned that there is a definite time to do things and have learned to pay attention have the beginnings of good study habits she said. While the young child has an attention span of only 10 minutes, that time is increased as they grow older until by college time they are able to concentrate for as long as 60 minutes at a time.

Parents can help the children by giving them time to relax after school, by making sure they understand the assignment, and having a time and place for quiet study. Having all materials at hand and beginning to work at once are other aids, she said. She urged parents to check but not do the child's homework.

The parents broke up into three buzz sessions for discussion with the elementary group led by Mrs. Clifford Lambert; the junior high group by Mrs. James Kester and the senior high group by Mrs. Eugene Martin.

Claude Heller, vice president, presided at the meeting which was held in the J. M. Hill Junior High School. Mrs. Donald Heller read the PTA prayer, and Mrs. Lawrence Green gave the secretary's report.

Committee chairmen were named for the year: Program, Mrs. Wendy Mazer and Ralph Bender; budget, Mrs. Seymour Pollan and Jack Lantz; hostesses, Mrs. Claude Heller and Mrs. Harvey Huffman; membership, Mrs. Z. J. Viechnicki and Mrs. Frank Meyer; homeroom mothers, Mrs. Stella Plattenburg; publications, Mrs. James Gilfillan; publicity, Mrs. Helen Poortstra and Gordon Strunk.

After the meeting, refreshments were served.

DAR Stand On Controversial Matters Reported

The position of the Daughters of the American Revolution on certain controversial matters now current was emphasized at two recent meetings attended by representatives of Jacob Stroud Chapter. Detailed reports were given at Monday's meeting of the local chapter.

Mrs. Irving Foltz, reporting for Mrs. Paul R. Fetzer, assistant state chairman of national defense, who spoke at the Scranton City Chapter said she made the following points:

The DAR is lampooned in the press and ridiculed because they were one of the first organizations to sound the warning against Communism.

The system of checks and balances of the government is being unbalanced by the powers assumed by the executive and Supreme Court not granted by the Constitution.

The popularity of the United Nations is being advanced by press, radio and television, including such suave propagandists as Edwin R. Murrow, and those who want World Government and Federation.

The United Nations has left its dedicated purpose and become a base for propaganda and subversion. Under World Government the United States would be divided up into four separate zones, and be a minority people.

Many well-meaning Christian people, and even National Church groups are deceived by high-sounding phrases.

State Regent Speaks

Mrs. Dale Learn reported on the talk given by the state regent, Mrs. Allen L. Baker, who was guest at the Dial Rock Chapter, West Pittston. Mrs. Learn quoted Mrs. Baker as follows:

The DAR is stressing continual education on the value of liberty. School children used to be taught to admire national heroes, but since the history courses no longer emphasize their heroic aspects, children have taken movie stars as their heroes.

Members of the DAR must vote and get their friends to vote. The DAR supports the Bricker Amendment and Walter-McCarran Act, but is not in favor of Walter's recent move to remove the ban on admitting tubercular refugees, because, she said, they would become public charges, add to unemployment, and be a possible source of epidemics.

She warned members to read the fine print before signing any petitions or document since many patriotic sounding organizations conceal subversive purposes.

Stork Shower Is Held For Mrs. Robert Taylor

A surprise stork shower was given in honor of Mrs. Robert Taylor on Friday night at the home of Mrs. George H. Taylor. A cake decorated by Mrs. Walter Slutter and shaped like a baby's bootie was the centerpiece. An umbrella decorated with blue and pink streamers showered the gifts.

After Mrs. Taylor had opened her gifts, refreshments of cake and coffee were served. Guests included Mrs. William Taylor, Mrs. Pauline Seese, Mrs. Leo Pipher, Mrs. Jeanne Lesoine, Mrs. Shirley Lesoine, Mrs. Claude Heeter, Mrs. Paul Pipher, Mrs. Mary Price, Mrs. Evelyn Taylor, and the hostesses, Miss Barbara Klingel and Mrs. Harriet Price.

Mrs. Klingel substituted for Mrs. Slutter who was unable to attend.

Also sending gifts were Miss Marguerite Pipher, Mrs. Fred Pipher, Mrs. Stuart Pipher, Mrs. Walter Slutter, Mrs. Ora Lambert, Mrs. Lois Halterman and Mrs. Charles Strunk.

Costume Dinner For Girl Scouts Of Laurel Troop

A rule of the contest stated that the losers serve dinner to the winners, and Mrs. Albert Lanuti will work with these girls who are on "K. P." for the evening. Kay Robacker, Ruthann Fetherman, Donna Bartleson, Yvonne Rochfort, Connie Lee, Nan Eggert, Susan Akers, Jan Smith and Peggy Wohlfort.

Decorations will be provided by the "guests" who comprised the winning team, including Nancy Marsch, Christine Lanuti, Diane Eggert, Lois Manhart, Susan Holdren, Lois Robbins, Alice Evans, Jane Beehm, and Elizabeth Gilpin. These girls will also have charge of games.

A hike to Gould's Fire Tower was enjoyed by the girls on Saturday, October 13. Fire Warden William Hause conducted the tour.

Susan Akers was welcomed as a new member of the troop. The new girls in the troop signed the charter and a Court of Honor was held. Each patrol disclosed plans for decoration of various materials with patrol trademarks.

The Wyckoff Shopper

A recent communication from the National Institute of Rug Cleaning concerns a motion picture produced by the organization and available to women's clubs throughout the country on the subject "Three Easy Rules for Rug Beauty." I was particularly interested in this release, for cooperating in the production were the Bissell Carpet Sweeper Company of Grand Rapids, Michigan, and the Electrolux Corporation of New York City—both names familiar to our Wyckoff customers.

The film points out that modern carpets and rugs are manufactured to meet high standards and are major household investments which will repay their cost many times over in beauty and service IF they are given proper care. That care consists of a daily cleaning with a carpet sweeper, weekly care with a good vacuum cleaner, and yearly care by a professional.

While many housewives do not realize it, countless tiny pieces of stone, coal, clay or pumice, not necessarily evident to the naked eye, are tracked into floor coverings regularly. Unless such pieces of grit are removed, traffic grinds them deep into the rug fibres, and these eventually break, or become "patchy" in appearance. Atmospheric soil—the same type of greasy dirt that comes from cooking, heating, and industrial air contaminations—also collect daily on rugs. While this may not be immediately apparent, it is necessary that the rug be cared for constantly, to keep it at its peak of splendor.

I am happy that the news item came to my desk at the precise time it did, for we are now in the midst of a very important Gold Rush Sale in our Wyckoff floor covering department. The Bissell Grand Rapids, one of the world's most famous carpet sweepers, is being offered for a limited time only at a 2.00 savings. Usually priced at 11.95, it is now 9.95, and it has all of the famous features that have popularized it with our nation's housewives. It is handsomely streamlined, with a rich Sable Brown case. It has a Sta-Up handle, dust pans that empty easily without mess or fuss, built-in combs that clean the brushes at they sweep, and big rubber bumpers to protect the furniture. Also, the Grand Rapids is built low, to slide under the most modern furniture.

Fall and winter are the seasons when rugs take a real beating. Safeguard yours with a daily Bissells sweeping . . . a weekly Electrolux or Hoover cleaning . . . and a yearly visit to a professional. These are inexpensive ways of protecting a sizable investment.

How are you coming with your "Identify the Woman" 'clues? Maybe they're too easy—do you think so? Clue number six comes this morning at 9:45 over our Wyckoff Shopper broadcast, so keep tuned and have paper and pencil handy. If you've missed any, you'll find them posted inside our main Wyckoff entrance. Mail or bring your guesses in some time after Thursday morning's broadcast. Hope you win!

Miss Rutt is a past president of the local club, has been district chairman and district treasurer. Her talk on Thursday will be a resume of the speech she gave at the National Business and Professional Women's Clubs in Miami. Alice White is chairman of the program.

Entertainment will be a lecture, "Magic in Color" by Joyce B. Seignious.

Baby Shower Given By WSCS For Mrs. Harner

Mount Pocono — The Women's Society for Christian Service held their meeting in the Methodist Church, Wednesday night, Oct. 10. There were 52 members in attendance, with the president, Mrs. Ettabelle Horgan presiding.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Florence Megargle, whose subject was "With Human Hearts".

Mrs. Florence Patterson, membership committee chairman and her committee will contact each woman member of the church, in a membership drive for the WSCS. November 4 will be Harvest Home Sunday. Mrs. Ingersoll will be in charge of flowers during November.

After the meeting, there was a baby shower held in the social room honoring Mrs. William Harner, wife of the minister. The room was decorated in yellow and white. The favors were little three cornered things. The centerpiece on Mrs. Harner's table was a yellow and white umbrella cake. The gifts were placed in a bassinet.

Green onions give color contrast to a platter of liverwurst; the two foods taste good together, too.

Outdoor Safety Put In Practice At Scout Cook-Out

Troop 9, East Stroudsburg Girl Scouts had an ideal day on Saturday for their cook out. They were working on requirements of outdoor safety badge. They organized and carried out a fire drill including a bucket brigade.

Linda Morgan and Mary Ann Manly were the producers of a skit in three parts. Patricia Raesly was the narrator for the first part, "How to avoid getting lost in the woods." In the second part, "If you are lost in the woods." Susan Fatzinger played the victim and members of the troop found her by following trails that were laid. In the third party, "When a member is lost," Diane Houck was the victim and Christina Berger and Kathy Cooke found her by prearranged whistle signals.

Dorothy Hastings, Donna Cramer and Janet Heller were firebuilders. Fire safety precautions were explained. Diane Staples, Sandra Merring, and Marie Einoff were hostesses and fixed the centerpices of leaves and greens and served the spaghetti dinner. The girls learned how to wash dishes in a sanitary way.

Mrs. Donald Heller furnished the transportation for their equipment. Mrs. Robert Houck and Mrs. Fred Fatzinger are leaders of the troop.

State President To Visit Here

Camp 289 PO of A will entertain the state president and her staff at the meeting to be held Thursday night at the Odd Fellows Hall. Members are asked to wear long white dresses. Entertainment and a pot luck supper will follow the meeting.

OFF THE RECORD

Swimming Wrestling Tennis Football Basketball Baseball

By Bob Clark
Sports Editor

FOLLOWING A 12-3-1 good-hit last week in the prediction department, this corner's average zoomed to .703 this season via an overall tab of 45-19-3.

From now on the games get tougher and the selections harder but being a guy currently riding on the clouds we foresee the following results after the smoke has cleared from scholastic and collegiate gridiron fronts this week.

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College over Mansfield—It's homecoming for the Warriors grid graduates and ex-STC men and the undefeated and untied boys of Eugene Martin will try and show them why they're riding a four-game victory streak. Mansfield has been in and out all year, getting a big win and losing to a mediocre eleven. No doubt they'll be out to knock off Martin's proteges but wishing and doing is two different things. East Stroudsburg Teachers will carry an unblemished record against West Chester a week hence.

Stroudsburg High over Whitehall - If you go by comparative scores the battle is even-stephen. The Mountaineers drubbed Lehighton, 25-0, while the Zephers blasted the Indians 32-7 last week. However, Whitehead seems to have his chattels going in high gear again and if the offense and defense click any where near the perfection of last Friday's Bangor tilt then the Mountaineers will have their fifth success packed away late Saturday afternoon.

East Stroudsburg High over Wilson — In this one we have to reserve the right to use "if". Wilson, not a big team like Parkland but much faster than the Trojans, will give the Cavaliers plenty of trouble before the afternoon's over in Wilson. Jud Hall has had small but probably the fastest bunch of backs in the Lehigh-Northampton League. They got a big lift last week upsetting Allentown Central Catholic. But they're back in L-N competition Saturday and if the Cavaliers can shake their slump that has been evident since the Pen Argyl tilt it might prove to be a beneficial afternoon for Jack Kist's underlings.

Northampton High over Palmerton—The Blue Bombers haven't been right since they downed Stroudsburg three weeks ago and the problems will mount more than ever when the Konkrete Kids invade the Bomber's hanger. The score won't be as large as Northampton's 68-0 pasting of Slatington but it will be a real rough day for Palmerton.

Nazareth over Pen Argyl High—The Blue Eagles are again snapping up everything in their way again and the Green Wave will be no exception Saturday. Washington, N. J., High, the Pen Argyl's first victim in over two years, isn't in Nazareth's class so it looks like trouble ahead for Rudy Penza's charges.

Bangor High over Coplay—Coach Granny Evans' crippled Slaters will have some sort of a breather this week in Coplay, the undermanniest Lehigh-Northampton football team. It should serve as a good tuneup for the Slaters' next outing with Nazareth.

Catasauqua High over Slatington —The Rough Riders are pointing for their big clash with Northampton on Thanksgiving Day and Saturday's festivities with the Slaters will only tend to sharpen the Riders' spurs for the Kids.

Pius X High over Lansdale Catholic—Joe Villano's comparatively new eleven to scholastic football has been pointing toward this one since the season got under way. We think all the Royals efforts will not be in vain when the game comes off at Memorial Stadium, Bangor, Sunday.

Other Games — Allentown High over Altoona; Easton High over Bethlehem; Atlantic City High over Phillipsburg, N. J.; Allentown Central Catholic over Pottsville Catholic; Lafayette College over Bucknell; Lehigh University over Virginia; Lebanon Valley over Moravian; and Gettysburg over Muhlenberg.

Commercial 'B' In Action Today

COMMERCIAL "B" League will bowl today at Harmon's Recreation, starting at 7 p.m.

The schedule:

Alleys one and two—Schaefer's vs. Frank, the Barber.

Alleys three and four—Ye Saylor's Inn vs. L and B Appliances.

Alleys five and six—Eagles "B" vs. Babe's Service Station.

The leadoff batter for the Brooklyn Dodgers reached first base in seven of the nine innings of the fourth World Series game yet the National League champions scored only two runs against Tom Sturdivant of the Yankees.

Martin's Warriors Prepare For Invasion Of Mansfield

WE'RE PLAYING one game at a time and this week "WE'RE PLAYING one game at a time and this week it's Mansfield STC," Eugene Martin, head coach of undefeated, untied East Stroudsburg State Teachers College emphasized as he put his Warrior charges through a heavy workout yesterday on Normal Hill.

The Warriors, currently leading the Teachers College Conference, entertain an in and out Mansfield eleven on the Hill Saturday in the school's annual homecoming tilt.

"We gave the first team a rest Monday but from here on out its heavy work for all," the veteran STC mentor said. "After the great game the boys played against Lock Haven we're looking for a slight letdown."

However, he added quickly, "Mansfield is no team to take lightly. Kings (they were upset by Mansfield) found that out."

Ed Stelmack, in his second year at the helm of the Mountaineers, has built this year's edition around 11 lettermen, including five veteran backs.

Halted By Bloom

Winners of their two games, Mansfield ran into defending Teachers College champion Bloomsburg and came out on the short end of the score.

The top ground gainer on the Mansfield team in the early outings was Vince Siracuse, 5-11 180-pound speedster and pile-driver.

Among the newcomers who have helped the Mounts in the early goings were Gib Moore, a guard and Tom Merlie, a back. Moore was an All-American schoolboy football selection at Shamokin High in 1954, while Merlie led GAR High of Wilkes-Barre to its 40th consecutive victory last year.

Scrimmage Today

East Stroudsburg will hold a scrimmage today and taper off with light drills tomorrow and Friday, stressing defense and running offense.

The Warriors will be after their fifth straight success of the season, already owning victories over Millersville, Ithaca, Shippensburg and Lock Haven.

The battle will pit Martin's short punt attack against the T-offense of Mansfield.

Brown Sees 8-4 Record Taking Title

CLEVELAND, Oct. 16 (AP) — Coach Paul Brown, whose championship football team has dropped two out of three starts this season, says that a team with four losses might win the Eastern Division title this year.

"I believe a record of eight victories and four defeats will do it," said the coach of the Cleveland Browns, winners last year of the National Football League crown. "This division probably is better balanced than it's ever been."

Doubts Report

Brown was skeptical about a report from New York that the Giants, who beat the Browns 21-9 last Sunday, had intercepted radio instructions which the coach sent to quarterback George Ratterman.

Brown said that actually the radio was used for only "one or two" plays and after that it was ignored, because the crowd of more than 60,000 fans made so much noise Ratterman had trouble hearing the instructions.

Fight Manager Is Dead At 32

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 16 (AP)—Ross Iannolo, 32, also known as Ross Moran, manager of welterweight boxer Pat Manzi, died today. Friends said he had been suffering a heart condition. Manzi is scheduled to fight Chico Vejar in Las Vegas Saturday night.

Iannolo also managed lightweight Jimmy Dimura of Syracuse.

Tickets on Sale

Tickets were handed out to all team managers who in turn will turn the ducats over to the players. Persons may purchase a ticket from any team member or John Wernett, league secretary.

Bob Bush, chairman of the banquet unit committee, announced that a meeting of his group will be held at the Bartonsville Hotel tomorrow, starting at 8 p.m.

The next schedule of the circuit will be held at the Reeders Inn, the third Monday in November.

Clint Getz, owner of the Lake Harmony Inn, was host at Monday's session.

Karl Weingartner, Lafayette College Quarterback

2 Ex-Mountaineers Playing Big Role In Lafayette Surge

EASTON — Two ex-Stroudsburg High boys are playing a big role in the success of the Lafayette College football team this Fall.

Al Adlemann, 195-pound junior end, and Karl Weingartner, 180-pound sophomore quarterback, have had their hand in keeping the Maroon undefeated thus far.

This is the second year on the Lafayette varsity squad for Adlemann and Weingartner's first.

Both are considered starters in the two-team unit used by the Lafayette coach, Steve Hokuf. In that system, Lafayette has two "first" teams and either one starts a game, depending on the showing of that unit in the previous game.

Top End

Adlemann is rated by Hokuf among his top ends and has earned that ranking by his play all season. A hard tackler and good pass receiver, he is in many plays when he is in the game.

Weingartner is considered by Hokuf a "smart" signal caller. The Lafayette coach is pleased with the way he handles a team. He is a good passer and runs well on the "option" play the Maroon uses often.

Signal Callers

With Weingartner and Joe Bozik, star junior quarterback, Hokuf feels he has two able signal callers. Bozik has a year's experience on Weingartner, having been the regular quarterback last year, but in Hokuf's view, Weingartner is not far behind and with some more experience will hold his own with the best.

Yank Horse Is Edged In British Race

NEWMARKET, England, Oct. 16 (AP)—Pipe of Peace, owned by Greek shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos, shot to the front in the last 25 yards and defeated American-owned Wayne by a neck in the 6-furlong Middle Park Stakes today—the top two-year-old race of the British season.

Pipe of Peace, an 8-1 shot, was trained by Sir Gordon Richards, former world's leading jockey, and booted to victory by Australian jockey Scobie Breasley.

Wayne, owned by Ralph B. Strassburger, of Norristown, Pa., who now lives in France, was 100-30.

3rd Place

British-owned Military Law, 5-1 in the betting, was a length further back in third place.

Red God, the 11-4 betting favorite, owned by Harry Guggenheim of New York, finished sixth in the field of eight starters.

Seeks Waivers On Masterson

DETROIT, Oct. 16 (AP) The Detroit Tigers today asked waivers for the unconditional release on Walt Masterson, 35, a righthanded pitcher.

Sal Maglie To Be Cited By Homefolks

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Oct. 16 (AP)—The home folks will give Sal Maglie a "day" on Oct. 27. A motorcade around the city, a children's program in the state armory and a civic dinner will mark the celebration for the baseball star.

Maglie, always a hero in Niagara Falls, enhanced his fame by winning 13 games for the Brooklyn Dodgers and pitching a no-hitter this year after many had thought he was washed up at the age of 39. He won once and lost once in the World Series.

Started Plans

Plans for the "day" were announced today by Kenneth K. Burke, vice president and general manager of the Niagara Falls Gazette and general chairman for the event.

Grid Giants 'Tune In' On Browns Radio

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Electronic football, the new gimmick of wiring the quarterback for sound, backfired Sunday on the pro champion Cleveland Browns—the New York Giants swiped their signals.

The Giants chortled today in telling how they tuned in on the Browns' radio wave length, intercepted instructions from the bench and came off with an upset 21-9 victory.

Better Reception

"We were able to get the Browns' signals better than they could," Ray Walsh, general manager of the Giants, told the weekly meeting of New York Football Writers. "Finally, after three unsuccessful series of plays, they gave it up."

Paul Brown, Cleveland coach, this year instituted the device whereby his offensive and defensive quarterbacks were equipped with small radio receiving sets in their helmets to get orders from the bench.

There's no law in the rule book of the National Football League to prevent it.

"If this trend continues," said Walsh, "The No. 1 draft choice of the Giants next year will be the valedictorian of MIT."

Seeks Waivers

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today asked waivers on George (Red) Munger, 38, a righthand pitcher who won three and lost four with the Pirates this year.

Stoneham Scotches Rumors Berth Set For 'Fiery One'

By WILL GRIMSLEY
The Associated Press

EDDIE STANKY, out as manager of the Minneapolis Millers, won't have a spot waiting for him with the New York Giants—unless Giant brass has a change of heart.

Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, quickly scotched reported Tuesday that the fiery ex-Giant infielder would join Manager Bill Rigney as a coaching aide.

"There's nothing to such talk," Stoneham said.

The Dallas club of the Texas League announced it had granted John (Red) Davis his release so that he could succeed Stanky as Minneapolis manager next season.

The club said Davis, who had managed Dallas for two years, was offered the Minneapolis job by Carl Hubbell, director of the Giants' farm system. The Giants own the Minneapolis team and have a working agreement with Dallas.

(Editor's Note—Davis is a brother of Del Davis, East Stroudsburg High School assistant football coach).

"This comes as a complete shock to me" Stanky said at his Fairhope, Ala., home. "I thought I did a fairly good job with the material I had, especially after the way the Giants shuttled the players back and forth."

"I was led to believe that at the end of the season, I was to become a coach of the Giants," the onetime Cardinal manager added.

"I have no plans for the 1957 season as yet but I will be in baseball in some capa. I have had many offers and I am trying to make a major league connection."

Other Action

Meanwhile, there was a lot of post-season baseball action in the major leagues as clubs brought up talent from farm clubs and shuffled some old hands.

Here were the moves:

American League

New York—Sold outfielder Bob Cerv to Kansas City and released outfielder George Wilson and pitcher John Dixon to Denver. Bought pitchers Mark Freeman, Jack Urban and Jim DePalo from Denver, pitcher Al Cicotte from Richmond, third baseman Dick Sanders from Binghamton, and shortstop Woody Held and catcher Darrell Johnson from Denver.

Chicago—Brought up outfielder Jim Landis and pitcher Don Rudolph from Memphis, reassigned third baseman Joe Kirrene from Memphis to Indianapolis. Bought third baseman Tommy Brown from Nashville.

Kansas City—Bought Cerv from Yankees and relief pitcher Ben Flowers from Philadelphia Phillies.

Baltimore — Signed Manager Paul Richards to two-year contract. Also signed Paul Williams, Carrollton, Ala., pitcher, to a minor league contract.

Cleveland—Bought pitchers Pete Mesa and John Gray from San Diego.

Cubs Purchase

National League

Chicago—Bought outfielders Jim Bolger and Bob Speake and pitcher Gene Fodge from Los Angeles and infielder Bob McKee from Des Moines. Sold first baseman Frank Kellert, shortstop Richie Myers to Los Angeles.

Cincinnati—Bought pitcher John Brechin from Nashville.

New York Giants—Sold catcher-infielder Bob Hofman to Minneapolis, brought up pitchers Neil Roberts, John Fitzgerald, Fernando Rodriguez from Dallas and Joe Shipley from Minneapolis.

Milwaukee—Bought pitcher Don McMahon and first baseman Clarence Riddle from Atlanta, shortstop Joe Morgan and pitcher Charley Wrinn from Jacksonville, Fla., from Toronto.

Harridge, 71, Looks Ahead To AL Service

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Will Harridge observed his 71st birthday anniversary in robust health today and looked forward to continuing service as president of the American League.

The esteemed executive virtually was shanghaied into baseball by the late Ban Johnson, American League founder, in 1911.

Johnson took a liking to young Harridge's ability in routing clubs while working as clerk and stenographer in the Chicago passenger administration department of the Wabash Railroad.

Johnson hired him and Harridge has been with the league ever since, the last quarter of a century as president.

Had Everything

"The 1956 World Series must stand as a highlight of any I've ever seen," said Harridge. "It had everything."

Harridge said that he would not be surprised if there is major league baseball on the Pacific Coast "within 10 years at the most."

"It will be a big move and it will take time to make it," he added. "When it comes, there possibly will be 10-team leagues. There will be a need for two American League clubs on the Coast in order to cut down the big expense of traveling."

Top Innovation

Since he has been president, Harridge believes the greatest single innovation in the game was night baseball introduced in 1939.

"It gave the whole family a chance to enjoy baseball and it boosted attendance from 3 million to 10 or 11 million annually."

Veterinarians Work To Save Swaps' Life

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 16 (AP) — A team of veterinarians worked feverishly tonight in an effort to save a great thoroughbred, Swaps, from being destroyed.

Swaps, who suffered a slight fracture during a workout at Garden State Park Oct. 9, aggravated the injury Sunday while trying to get to his feet in his stall.

The four-year-old holder of five track records and fourth leading money winner of all time—he's earned $848,900—struck the injured leg against the side of his stall.

Slim Chance

A reliable source said the horse, winner of the 1955 Kentucky Derby, didn't have much of a chance. Any decision, however, to destroy the famed California comet would have to be approved by an insurance company which holds a policy on the 4-year-old colt reportedly in excess of one million dollars.

Thirty members of the Notre Dame football team are of Irish descent.

Plan To Submit Record's To AAU

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—There's no need to worry about American performances in the forthcoming Olympic Games at Melbourne.

The Amateur Athletic Union said today more than 350 world, American and championship records—most in history—will be submitted for approval at the annual AAU convention Oct. 30-Nov. 2.

These records are in track and field, swimming and weight lifting.

World records must be resubmitted to the governing body of that sport.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 16—East Stroudsburg passed its way to victory over Lock Haven last weekend and moved up to first place in the Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges Football Conference. Bloomsburg, the defending champion, surprised Mansfield with a one-sided 38-6 win. In other conference games Millersville nosed out Cheyney, 13-12, and Shippensburg recorded its first conference victory at the expense of winless California, 32-14.

Shipboard Heads Field For Rich Race

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Shipboard, a son of the great Battleship, today headed a field of 14 steeplechasers named for the 33rd running of the Temple Gwathmey, richest jumping race in America, at Belmont Park tomorrow.

The 2½ mile race over 16 obstacles, feature of the two-day United Hunts meeting, will be worth $55,025 and will net the winner $28,450 if all 14 start.

Shipboard, owned by Mrs. Marion duPont Scott, was the favorite last year under 166 pounds but the 6-year-old chestnut gelding fell heavily at the next to last jump and Neji went on to take the race.

Mrs. Scott also has entered Mighty Mo, another son of Battleship. Winner of the Saratoga 'Chase this year, the gelded 7-year old will carry 142 pounds.

Rated the top threats to Shipboard are John M. Schiff's Carafar, Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Ancestor and Alvin Untermeyere's Morpheus.

Injuries Continue To Take Toll Of Bangor High Eleven

BANGOR—A multitude of problems faced the coaching staff of the Bangor Area Joint High School Slate Pickers as they prepared the Bangor squad for Friday night's activity with the Maroons of Coplay High School under the kleigs of Bangor Memorial Park Field.

This will be the last outing of the current season for the Slaters under the lights as all remaining games of the 1956 season are listed as afternoon encounters.

No practice sessions were scheduled for the maroon and white on Monday afternoon as the Slaters licked the wounds of the 16 to 0 pasting handed to the Bangorians last Friday evening. The question mark for the Bangor coaching staff this week, according to Coach Granville Evans, was the matter of finding enough of a squad, other than his cripples, that would be able to take the field against a Coplay eleven, that might be low on man power but high on a desire to play football.

Among Obstacles

Among the problems faced by Evans and his staff was what to do about the quarterback slot, should John L. Williams, veteran signal caller, be unable to answer the starting gun. Williams suffered a broken toe in the Stroudsburg contest and a decision on him will not be able to be made until Wednesday when he is scheduled to try on a specially designed shot. Others on the list of injured include Gary Smith, reserve tackle, who showed very much the strain of game wear against Stroudsburg, and is presently sporting a badly marked and bruised face and arms. Earl Walters, reserve end, who has been unable to even report for practice since the East Stroudsburg tussle is still hobbling and may be able to see some action, if he improves over the next several days. Barry Reimer, who has been sidelined for the past four weeks, will report for practice this week, but his leg is still causing the coaching staff many anxious moments.

New Backfield

With all these problems facing Evans and his assistants Paul Wagner and Dave Pritchard, indicated last evening that a new backfield combination might be in prospect for the Bangor forces. Evans indicated that Frankie Butz, who has been playing at the regular center slot might be shifted to the quarterback starting role if Williams cannot answer the whistle. Last year Butz was the starting quarterback on a very good junior varsity eleven.

Potential Starters

Other potential starters include Robert Butz, who has played at the regular guard assignment will play one of the halfback roles with Bob Menhennitt, who has been starting in one of those slots ever since the East Stroudsburg game when Glen Heard fractured his shoulder. The fullback assignment will be given to Dale Miller, hard punching hefty who has carried this position from the start of the season. It has also been reported that Bob Finelli, who was also injured in the Stroudsburg fracas, may see the game from the bench, but Evans is hoping that he will be able to see some action against the visiting Wild Cats from Coplay.

Other hands seem to be in good physical condition and will probably be able to be ready for action Friday evening. The starting line will probably include: Haas and DeNardo at ends; Woolley and Gary Smith at tackles; Trigiani and Collura at guards and possibly Leraris at center.

Evans stated last evening that this will be a week of hard and intensive drills, much blocking and tackling and timing for plays, especially if he is forced to use the new backs in the Coplay encounter.

Bisons Purchase Catcher Astroth

Logart Seeks 10th Straight In Video Bout

BOSTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Isaac Logart of Cuba, No. 3 contender for the welterweight title, seeks his 10th straight boxing victory in a 10-round nationally-televised bout with rugged Gaspar Ortega of Mexico tomorrow night at Mechanics Building.

Logart is invading Boston for the second time in recent months in an attempt to lure Tony De Marco, former welter king now the No. 1 contender, into the ring against him.

The flashy Cuban is rated in the welterweight class only behind champion Carmen Basilio, De Marco and former titlist Johnny Saxton.

$10,000 Guarantee

Promoter Johnny Buckley has been holding $10,000 in his office as a guarantee to De Marco to meet Logart. De Marco, who defeated Kid Gavilan in Boston Garden last Saturday, is delaying any decision.

The Logart-Ortega clash is the first of a half dozen bouts to be promoted by Buckley and the International Boxing Club for national telecast (ABC) in the next few months.

The 23-year-old Logart has compiled a record for 45 victories, five draws and five losses. His nine-bout winning string includes a close decision over Ortega in New York last March.

Ortega, from Mexicali, Mexico, has won 34 and lost 7. He claims he has never been knocked out. He is unranked in the National Boxing Assn. and Ring ratings.

Jersey City To Cite Kucks

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 16 (AP)—The City Commission has proclaimed tomorrow as Johnny Kucks Day in the Yankee pitcher's home town.

The commission announced that the 6-3 righthander will get the keys to the city in honor of his pitching the final and winning game for the New York Yankees against the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series.

MERLADY TOMMY BOY—Black and white cocker spaniel owned by Emma B. Merwin, Mount Pocono, finished his Championship at Genesee Valley Kennel Club Show in Rochester, N. Y., last Sunday, under Judge Dr. Joseph Redden. "Tommy", was best of winners in five shows, had four major wins and finished as Best of Variety.

Maglie Is Named Month's Athlete

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—...Sal Maglie's no-hitter against the Phillies and his great, clutch pitching in Brooklyn's last month pennant drive today earned the Dodger righthander the September award in the S. Rae Hickok pro athlete of the year poll.

It was practically a no-hitter for Sal in the poll even though there were other outstanding performances by Yankee slugger Mickey Mantle, boxer Carmen Basilio, and jockeys Johnny Longden and Willie Shoemaker.

State Rescinds New Order On Stickers

PENDING "further study of proper location" Secretary of Revenue Gerald A. Gleeson yesterday rescinded the directive ordering a new placement of inspection stickers on wrap-around windshields with the new inspection campaign of Nov. 1.

The Bureau of Highway Safety has notified more than 11,000 official inspection stations of the withdrawal of the directive and has instructed the stations to affix the new type decalcomania inspection stickers to the extreme right corner of the windshields, as has been the custom.

Old Position

O. D. Shipley, director of the Bureau of Highway Safety, also pointed out that the stickers will revert to the old position on commercial vehicles on Feb. 1. Presently, commercial vehicles with wrap-around windshields have the sticker placed four inches to the right of the right windshield wiper cam. This is approximately the same position the sticker is located on vehicles with the conventional or straight windshields.

Shipley said that a study is being made not only of the proper placement of the sticker on windshields, but also sizes and colors are being checked in an effort to make the inspection stickers readily identifiable to all enforcement agencies.

Clear Light Thrown On Red Drive To Form Coalition With Western Socialist Parties

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

New temperate statements by the Italian Communist party and the tenor of negotiations between Yugoslavia and Hungary on matters of party practice throw the clearest light so far on the Red campaign to form a coalition with Western Socialists to "persuade and conquer."

There are certain indications, however, that Russia, by giving Marshal Tito an important hand in the play, may have let it get out of hand.

At several points the Italian statement, as did the American statement some time ago, seems to be more devoted to establishing independence from Moscow's rule than to pushing the revolution. At one place it renounces all dependence on foreign force, whereas for a long time the party in Western countries has been trying to produce conditions which would eventually invite Russian intervention.

And, while Tito continues to support the Khrushchev theme of equal partnership and the so-called approach to socialism by methods suitable to individual countries, the way central Europe is turning to him for ideological support reminds one strongly that it has been only a few years since he was actively engineering a Balkan federation.

Tito might get support in this from the West, since it would mean at least a partial pulling away from Russia. Indeed, Russia might be forced to step in again to stop it, as Stalin did before. And that would completely erase the atmosphere she is now attempting to foster.

President Eisenhower is expected to announce a limited continuance of economic aid to Tito, thus keeping relations between Belgrade and Washington on the tenuous basis where they have remained during the year that Tito has been feeling out Moscow.

Thus Tito will be forced to ask himself what Western reaction will be to his every move, instead of feeling that his left-handed partnership with the West had failed and he might as well turn completely to Russia. That's what happened to Nasser in Egypt.

In the meantime, Tito's support for his own brand of communism in other countries as a respectable political movement poses an ideological threat, with its appeal to left-wing Socialists. As it advances the movement outside Yugoslavia will contain all the old diehards for the Moscow cause, the cadres which have always been able to take over at the right time. And that is what the Kremlin is counting on.

Bethlehem Steel Wins Ship Contract

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Navy today gave a go-ahead to the Bethlehem Steel Co. to start work on the world's first nuclear-powered guided missile cruiser.

The Navy sent a preliminary letter contract which will be converted into a formal fixed price contract as soon as planning for the first atom-powered surface warship is completed.

Earlier this year, the Navy told Congress the guided missile cruiser would cost about 87½ million dollars, including the nuclear power plant. In July, the Navy awarded a contract to the Westinghouse Corp. to build the reactor plant for $18,335,000.

Plant

The Navy said the work will be done at Bethlehem's ship yards at Quincy, Mass. The letter contract announced today includes 2½ million dollars which the government will put up to defray part of the cost of preparing working plans. The Navy said this provision was included to expedite the design of the radically new type of warship.

The Navy said the cruiser, to which a name has not been assigned, will be about 700-foot long and displace approximately 14,000-tons. Its armament will consist almost entirely of guided missiles.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, substract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Children taking part in the event were Eric and Jan Miller, children of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller; Susan Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller, all of N. Courtland St.; Sharon O'Brien, Long Island, and Nicholas Winter, Providence, R. I. Both of these youngsters were staying with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bush, also of N. Courtland St.

Stroud Union To Seek Picket Injunction

By Leonard Randolph

STROUD UNION School Board voted last night to seek a court injunction against picketing at its Arlington Heights grade school construction site.

Six board members voted for the move. Two others abstained from voting.

Those favoring it were: Mrs. Helen B. Carlton, who made the motion; Fred Shoemaker, Loring Cramer, Herbert Crane, Harold Akers and J. L. Cohen.

The two members who did not vote were Dr. John Lim and Russell H. Lesoine.

Work at the Arlington Heights site has been halted since Thursday, Sept. 27—three weeks ago today. On the previous day Local 367, Electrical Workers Union, Easton, placed a picket on the highway in front of the school site.

Union officials object to the use of non-union labor on the electrical installation phase of the job. The electrical contractor is William A. Donmoyer, Allentown.

Donmoyer's men continued working the first day the picket was on the job. Members of other building trades unions who are employed by other contractors on the job did not cross the "line."

On the following day, however, Donmoyer's men did not return to work at the site either. They told school authority officials that they were "caught up" with work they could do until more installations were made by carpenters and other workers on the job.

Since that day no work has been done at Arlington Heights.

In an effort to reach a "peaceful solution" on the issue at hand, a committee of "interested persons" was asked to meet with Earl Kocher, business agent for the union local. That meeting was held on Wednesday, Oct. 10.

The only outcome of the first conference was that those attending recommended that a similar meeting be arranged between Kocher and Donmoyer. This second conference was held on Tuesday of this week.

At last night's board meeting a report given by a member of the board indicated that this conference had produced nothing of value either.

Before taking the action which will bring the issue before the court, board members brought out the following information:

That Donmoyer "has no objection" to his employes becoming members of the union. The employes, however, have apparently maintained that they do not wish to be organized, a board member said.

Board action was taken on the recommendation of its solicitor Arlington Williams. In his summary of the events up to the present time Williams stressed the feeling on his part that "litigation should be entered into only when all efforts to find a solution have failed." He said that repeated conferences arranged by the school building authority had shown the good faith of the district and that these had produced no indications that a solution was nearer than before.

Asked by board members if there were a precedent for the local case, Williams noted that only one such case appeared on record books to his knowledge. This, he said, occurred in Haverford when a school district initiated injunction proceedings against a union.

In that case, however, he said, the "union removed the picket in the public interest" and the proceedings were dropped.

The formal motion passed by the board's majority vote directed the "school board to collaborate with the (Stroudsburg Area School) Authority to ask the court to issue an injunction against picketing at the Arlington Heights Elementary School Building and that the officers be empowered to sign and to make necessary affidavits to file the complaint."

Board members took the injunction action in the face of mounting pressure from parent-teacher groups in the area, particularly Stroud township which is most seriously affected by the work stoppage in the view of residents and the board.

Because the Arlington Heights School is necessary to the school system due to increased enrollments, grade school children in the area are attending half-day sessions at Clearview. The straight session arrangement is an emergency measure which is frowned upon by education authorities in the State, and is seldom allowed unless it is unavoidable.

The school board had hoped to have its Arlington Heights building completed sometime around the first of the year so that all the elementary pupils would attend classes full time. With the current work stoppage hanging on, board members feel that this goal has been seriously set back.

Give 7 enough!

Adlai Fires Blast At Nixon, Dewey

FLINT, Mich., Oct. 17 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson fired a double-barreled blast at Vice President Nixon and Thomas E. Dewey tonight and then lumped them with President Eisenhower as the Republican "Big Three."

He called Nixon "a rash and inexperienced . . . man of many masks" and a spreader of international ill will—one the country won't trust, Stevenson predicted, as its "life insurance."

And, in a speech prepared for delivery only 24 hours after Dewey spoke here, Stevenson labeled the 1944 and 1948 Republican presidential candidate a purveyor of "hooey" with a long record of "discourtesy, epithets, and abuse." abuse."

Whistle Stop

Stevenson's speech in this industrial center wound up a whistle-stop train tour of Michigan in which he attacked the Republicans on peace and foreign policy issues.

He said the GOP has made a false and "most shameless" claim that it has brought about world peace. And he denied Eisenhower's statement last night that the Democrats are not giving "straight talk to the farmers."

Then in the Flint speech Stevenson described as "hooey from Mr. Dewey" the criticisms voiced here last night by Dewey of Stevenson's proposal that this country take the lead in seeking international agreement to halt hydrogen bomb tests.

Using throughout his address probably the most acid language he has employed in the campaign Stevenson said:

"Now Mr. Dewey has joined President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon in dismissing my proposal with epithet and scorn, to which Dewey has added sarcastic laughter.

"Such a solid facade—the Big Three of the ruling party in this country—will not be reassuring to those abroad who still look hopefully to the United States for leadership."

Stevenson centered his fire on Nixon, however.

Asserting the vice president has changed position repeatedly on such matters as the Korean war, Stevenson declared:

"There is no man who can safely say where the vice president stands. This is a man of many masks. Who can say they have seen his real face?

"And I think he used last month just the right words to describe his own conduct during the Indochina crisis—he was 'rash and irresponsible.' "

Nixon told a group of editors in a supposedly off-the-record speech during the Indochina conflict that he favored using American troops if necessary to stop the Communist advance.

"Within a few weeks," Stevenson said, "he was proudly proclaiming that the administration had kept us out of war."

His main speech en route was at Lansing, where he said that under the Eisenhower administration "the consumer, the farmer, the small businessman and the man who pays the grocery bills and wants to buy a house or car, is caught in a nutcracker."

Israel Takes Firm Stand On Troops

JERUSALEM, Oct. 17 (AP)—Premier David Ben-Gurion today reaffirmed Israel's "freedom of action" if Iraqi troops move into Jordan. Signs increased of a tense tug-of-war over the future of that desert kingdom.

In Cairo, a friend of Egyptian President Nasser accused Iraqi Premier Nuri Said of "engineering a plot" to extend the pro-Western, anti-Communist Baghdad Pact to Jordan and Syria and eventually to overthrow the Egyptian government.

The English-Language Jerusalem Post, which often reflects the thinking of the Israeli government, said the chances of survival of Jordan as an independent kingdom were "very slender."

Debate

Ben-Gurion, summing up a two-day foreign policy debate in Parliament, said Iraq's decision to postpone ending army forces into Jordan and other developments along the tense Jordan-Israeli border the last two days were favorable. But he warned against what he called premature optimism, and said Nasser, "the Fascist dictator of Egypt," was Israel's most dangerous enemy.

At the end of his speech, Parliament voted 76-13 in favor of his policy. Only the Communists and the nationalistic Herut party, which advocates a "preventive" war, voted in opposition.

There were these other developments in the tangled Arab-Israeli situation:

Britain warned Jordan, her partner in a 20-year alliance, that the British would not be dragged automatically into war with Israel. A London Foreign Office spokesman said Britain would have to satisfy herself Jordan was the innocent victim of aggression before carrying out the terms of the alliance, and that the decision would be made by the government in London, not by local British commanders in Jordan. Jordan's army chief, Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar, had been quoted as saying British jets based in Jordan "can be called upon to help Jordan within the hour" in event of an Israeli attack.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, Israel asked the Security Council to take up alleged armistice and cease-fire violations by Jordan.

Republicans Attack Clark

HAMBURG, Pa., Oct. 17 (AP)—Republican office seekers from Pennsylvania today leveled a double-barreled attack on Joseph S. Clark, Democratic candidate for U. S. senator, describing him as "a misfit for the office" who is attempting to "divide the country into two classes of hate."

Rep. Chales C. Smith, GOP candidate for auditor general, pictured the former Philadelphia mayor as a "political chameleon" who changes his "color to fit the company he is in."

Dewey Accuses Adlai

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP) — Thomas E. Dewey tonight accused Adlai Stevenson of the "most dangerously irresponsible scaremongering by any political candidate" in presenting his H-bomb proposal.

Ike Attacks Opposition's 'Sad Song'

SEATTLE, Oct. 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower tonight said "the angry hum of a locust-swarm of partisan orators" is rising in "a strange, sad song—about a feeble and fretful America."

In a sharp thrust at the Democratic platform, which he called "a dark and mournful document," he declared:

"One might have thought its authors inhabited some land just lately swept by famine and pestilence."

Wonder

"When I hear such words—and when I look at the facts—I wonder one thing," the President said. "I wonder if the cry of the political opposition is not simply this:

"Things in America are rapidly going from bad—to good."

Eisenhower, in a speech prepared for delivery at Seattle's Civic Auditorium, lit into the Democrats much harder than he has before.

His speech was sprinkled with phrases like "the half-truth" ... "the hit-and-run statement" ... "the big straddle" ... "the rubber yardstick" ... "political fables."

As usual, the President never mentioned the name of his Democratic opponent, Adlai Stevenson. But there could be no mistake whom he had in mind as he made light of some of Stevenson's favorite arguments.

Eisenhower began his speech with a long recital of what he called "the signs of a vigorous and dynamic people at work."

And after ticking them off—"the smoky fury of our factories," the St. Lawrence Seaway, the removal of slums—he turned to the way he said the Democrats described this picture.

"They are singing a strange, sad song," Eisenhower said, "about a feeble and fretful America.

"Only a few weeks ago, too, they wrote a dark and mournful document—the platform of the opposition.

"When that document was published, one of our great independent newspapers summed it up concisely: One might have thought its authors inhabited some land just lately swept by famine and pestilence."

Reply

Here in the Northwest, which is acutely conscious of conservation programs, Eisenhower attacked a theme that Stevenson has used repeatedly: that the GOP is a "give-away" administration.

Eisenhower's reply:

"No, there has been no 'give-away.' We have not dismantled the great dams of the Northwest. We are building still more dams—generating still more power—for all the people."

And the President had a crack about the in-fighting that preceded the Democratic National Convention.

"When Republican spokesmen candidly differ among themselves—we are told—they prove their party lacks true leadership," Eisenhower said.

"When opposition leaders aspiring to the highest office in the land denounce one another as unfit and unqualified for the presidency—it is all good, clean, boyish fun.

"In fact, when some of the former enemies finally embrace in public they point to the scars they have inflicted on one another as if these were badges of qualifications for public office."

Railroads, Unions Near Agreement

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—The nation's railroads and a score of labor unions representing over a million rail workers today were reported nearing an agreement for a three-year contract providing substantial pay increases.

Negotiations are being carried on quietly in Chicago but reports in the rail industry and union circles are that both sides have exchanged informal settlement offers.

Two members of the government's National Mediation Board, Leverett Edwards and Francis A. O'Neill Jr., are presiding over the talks and trying to work out a negotiated settlement without pulling President Eisenhower into the situation.

The unions have taken steps for a strike should the talks fail, although there is little immediate danger of a walkout. Under the Railway Labor Act, Eisenhower would name an emergency board to recommend settlement terms if the labor-management talks broke down. This would delay any possible strike by at least two months.

Hints

There have been hints a settlement will provide a wage boost of about 10 cents an hour for the first year of a three-year agreement, with provisions for adjusting the rates according to living cost changes.

Present pay rates vary widely but annual earnings of railworkers run in the neighborhood of $5,000 to $7,000 per year, depending on skills.

Some of the unions representing operating employes — the 200,000 or so workers who man the moving trains — have proposed the same welfare plan coverage as the railroads now provide the more than 800,000 nonoperating employes. These include hospital, medical and surgical benefits.

The nonoperating group includes the clerks, track crews, shop employes and similar type workers who maintain and operate the rail system, not the moving trains.

Warnings Range To Atlantic City

CAPE HATTERAS, N. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—Rains and high winds slapped the Carolinas coast today as a big autumn storm, menacing shipping in coastal waters, ground its way northeast several miles offshore.

The storm was centered over southeastern North Carolina, near New Bern, in early evening. The Weather Bureau in Washington said strongest winds were 30 to 40 miles an hour over ocean areas within 300 miles of the center.

Gusts were reported as far north as Delaware.

Tides along the North Carolina and Virginia coasts were running one to two feet above normal, with moderate to heavy rains reported in coastal sections.

The Weather Bureau said the rains would push into Maryland and Delaware during the night and spread gradually northward tomorrow.

The disturbance sent warning flags up as far north as Atlantic City, N.J., including the southern half of Chesapeake Bay. The storm, with increased forward speed of 15 to 20 miles an hour and steady force, plowed northeastward along the coast, churning up the ocean and raising tides.

Temperature Mild

Temperatures remained mostly mild in the path of the big blow, and Weather Bureau officials expected skies to clear quickly in its wake.

The 60-foot shrimp trawler Beulah, out of Southport, N.C., rode out the storm about seven miles off the Savannah, Ga., lightship, along with its would-be rescuer, the Coast Guard cutter Aurora. The Aurora, with only part of its crew on duty, answered the rudderless Beulah's distress signal Monday and both had to wait out high seas and winds up to 55 m.p.h. Afterward they proceeded to Savannah harbor.

The nontropical storm blew up near Cuba on Sunday. On its way north it flooded the Florida towns of Fellsmere, Kissimmee, St. Cloud and Taft yesterday. No lives were lost in these towns but two persons drowned, one at Daytona Beach in heavy surf and another when a squall upset a boat on a lake near Cocoa. Heavy damage was feared for the hundred-million-dollar tomato crop in the flooded Lake Okeechobee area.

Egypt Categorically Rejects International Suez Control

CAIRO, Oct. 17 (AP)—President Nasser's chief political aide said today Egypt categorically rejects any idea of international control of the Suez Canal.

Wing Cmdr. Ali Sabry told reporters, however, that Egypt is willing to accept international cooperation and talks with Britain and France on that question may begin next week.

Sabry came back from New York sessions of the U. N. Security Council and gave Nasser a first-hand report on Council debates and behind-scenes contacts on negotiating a settlement. Nasser took over the canal July 26.

Request

Sabry arrived shortly after British Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Mollet, in Paris, called on Egypt to offer some kind of plan for the canal's operation in lieu of the British-French international control plan.

Effective guarantees for international access to the canal was at stake, the Eden-Mollet statement set forth.

The Soviet Union vetoed the British-French program in the Security Council. But it and other members voted for a six-point set of principles to guide negotiators toward a settlement.

Sabry said the principles might furnish the basis of new talks with Britain and France, which may be held in Geneva.

Clark Charges 'Violation'

BLOOMSBURG, Oct. 17 (AP)—Joseph S. Clark, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, today took his campaign into Columbia County after charging earlier that the Republican national administration's "violation of the public trust is at least as bad as that of Warren G. Harding."

Before coming to Bloomsburg for a stopover here and another at Berwick, Clark spoke to a gathering outside the Ford Motor Co. plant at Chester.

"Getting Sick"

The former Philadelphia mayor said he was "getting sick of Senator (James H.) Duff and Vice President Nixon's talk about the high moral tone of the administration." Duff is Clark's GOP opponent, and is seeking a second term in the Senate.

Clark said that four years ago during the presidential campaign, Eisenhower promised "when it comes to casting out the crooks and their cronies, we won't wait for congressional prodding and investigations."

"Let us ask Sen. Duff and Mr. Nixon to look at the record and explain the difference between the Republican words and deeds on the question of eliminating corruption in government in Washington," Clark said.

No Longer Needed

ITHACA, N.Y., Oct. 17 (AP)—Vice President Nixon said tonight he thinks the kind of investigations of Communist activity formerly conducted by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) are no longer needed.

Eisenhower Orders History Of H-Bomb

SEATTLE Oct. 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower today ordered a complete history prepared on the hydrogen bomb because he believes, an aide said, that Adlai Stevenson has made "incorrect statements" in his campaign speeches.

Presidential secretary James C. Hagerty told a news conference the President reached the decision early this moring, and that the statement of the administration's views will be released in Washington next week.

Stevenson, in the Democratic campaign for the presidency, repeatedly has called for a halt in the testing of superbombs. .

Conference

Eisenhower told a news conference in Washington last week that he had spoken his "last word" both on the H-bomb and on the military draft.

But Stevenson's speech Monday night changed the President's mind.

"The President feels," Hagerty said, "that since Mr. Stevenson has raised this again, and in his speech made what we believe to be extraordinary statements, we have asked our people in Washington to prepare a complete history in this field."

Launch Investigation

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17 (AP) — Experts today began investigating a "technically impossible" breakdown of two engines that led to the ditching of a Pan-American Stratocruiser in the Pacific Ocean yesterday.

Mollet Defends Fight Policy In Algeria

PARIS, Oct. 17 (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet boldly faced criticism in the National Assembly today on his Algerian policy.

The Assembly's leftists are against the Mollet government's strong use of force to put down the Algerian Nationalist rebellion. And although Mollet and his ministers were put in office with the help of Communist votes, they now seem certain of getting a vote of confidence without leftist support.

Mollet himself took the offensive against the Communists in the Assembly by rebuking the wife of party boss Maurice Thorez, Jeannette Vermeersch, a member of the Assembly. She defended a French officer candidate who went over to the rebels. Mollet told her: "The Assembly is always tolerant, but it is impossible to apologize for a French officer turned traitor. Apology for treason is inconceivable."

Applauded

The Premier was applauded on this by all but the Communist deputies.

The vote on Mollet's demand for confidence next week will cover not only his Algerian policy, but his government's course in the Suez crisis and many domestic issues.

The day's debate, however, was confined to policies and operations in Algeria.

Most of the Premier's critics were right wingers demanding not only use of even stronger force against the rebels but also action against what they called defeatist newspapers in France.

Eisenhower May Speak In Boston

SEATTLE, Oct. 17 (AP)—James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said today President Eisenhower may make a campaign speech in Boston.

"It is under consideration," Hagerty said today in reply to questions. The President is touring the West Coast this week in a bid for votes.

Mamie Still Battling Slight Cold

SEATTLE, Oct. 17 (AP)—Mamie Eisenhower has "a slight cold" and was advised to "take it easy" today.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty put it that way in telling newsmen the First Lady is not completely recovered from a cold which confined her to the White House all last week. She is accompanying the President on a five-day campaign tour.

First Stop

At the first stop in Minnesota yesterday Mrs. Eisenhower switched from an open to a closed car after the first round of motorcading in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

In doing so she pointed to her throat as though it were bothering her.

At that time, Hagerty said there was "nothing wrong" with the First Lady.

Attempt At Suicide Fails

VIENNA, Oct. 17 (AP)—Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab was motoring to Vienna when his chauffeur suddenly applied the brakes. A youth of 17 lay stretched across the road.

"Let me lie and die," he pleaded. But Raab hustled him into his car and took him to the nearest police station. Police convinced the lad suicide was no balm for a blighted love affair.

JOHNNY EATON is the subject of a long, laudatory articles in a recent issue of "The Princetonian," student newspaper at Princeton University.

Eaton is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Harold C. Eaton, a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School and one of the biggest bright lights in Columbia Records roster of new talent—jazz or classical music included.

Recordings

Writing for "The Princetonian," Hamilton W. Meserve points out that Eaton will soon have three 12-inch modern jazz recordings (long play) on the market. One of these, released this year, is called "College Jazz Modern" and it has been one of Columbia's most consistant —r in the modern jazz field.

Meserve's article also notes that Eaton and his quintet will take an international tour this Summer, playing in concert halls in a dozen or more nations under sponsorship of the National Concert Artist Corporation.

The story details some of the events in Eaton's life (he wrote a sonata at 11, gave his first formal recital at 9).

Eaton is now working on his senior thesis, a "song cycle" based on poems by John Donne.

County Gives Official Support To Keystone Shortway Proposal

Monroe County Board of Commissioners hit the nail square on the head Monday in a resolution calling upon the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads to take "prompt and favorable" action relative to construction of the Keystone Shortway.

The commissioners described the Stroudsburg-to-Sharon freeway as "an economic and industrial necessity" to Monroe County.

In lending official backing to the stand taken by Gov. George M. Leader and Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler in support of the Shortway, the commissioners stressed the superhighway would bring "vitally needed economic and industrial benefits to this county now plagued by difficult transportation problems."

That, in a nutshell, just about sums up the major reasons for creating a united front in working for immediate and long-range relief from the present situation.

The commissioners observed additional advantages the Shortway would bring to the Poconos and other sections along a wide belt of communities extending across the entire breadth of Northern Pennsylvania.

The 300-mile, limited access, four-lane highway would cut 100 miles from the shortest superhighway route now existing between New York and Chicago. It would open up a wide expanse of undeveloped land for industrial growth. It would provide the armed forces with an unexcelled highway for the transportation of military supplies and manpower. It would permit the evacuation of millions of people from the metropolitan area in case of enemy attack.

Besides these advantages, the Shortway is of great concern locally because it would bring the Pocono Mountains resort community many miles closer to the Midwest. By being able to attract thousands more tourists annually, the Poconos area would be in a position to develop far beyond its present capacity in the years to come.

In their resolution, the commissioners urged the Bureau of Public Roads to expedite the Shortway project so that it "will become a prompt reality which will connect with the Ohio turnpike system in the West and New Jersey on the East."

Sources in some sections of Pennsylvania have opposed the Shortway in favor of highway construction in their own districts.

The fact remains, however, that no other single road project that could be undertaken in Pennsylvania would bring as much benefit to as many people and to such a wide territory as would the Shortway.

This point should be hammered home to officials of the federal roads bureau in whose hands rest the decision whether to approve the Shortway under the government's interstate highway program. If once convinced, we feel sure these officials will move straight toward approval of the Stroudsburg-to-Sharon route.

Communist 'Majority'

The American Communist Party's latest resolution predicts a "titantic economic and political" struggle in the United States before "the majority of the people" choose Communism.

A Communist's idea of a "majority" is as upside-down as most of his thinking.

None of the nations now dominated by Communism — not even Soviet Russia — chose Communism by a majority vote.

A recent article in the Soviet theoretical magazine, Kommunist, gives an idea of how the Communists figure a majority.

The author says that 900 million people now live under Communism. Later on he admits that there are only 30 million Communist Party members in the whole world. That's about three per cent of those enslaved.

A typical Communist majority!

Center Of Power

Politically speaking, how important are the smaller communities of the nation — those with less than 25,000 population?

Town Journal, working from the best available data, has provided the answer.

Small-town and farm residents hold a clear voting majority in 42 of the 48 states. They control 84 of the 96 U.S. Senate seats—and dominate 275 of the 435 Congressional districts. And—of very great political importance under the rules that govern our Congress—they elect 18 of the 19 Senate committee chairmen and 15 of the 20 House committee chairmen.

The grass-roots is the center of power in this republic.

Straight Poker Called An Unfair Monopoly

If Justice Department officials want to know where cartels flourish unchecked, where free enterprise is held in contempt, democracy unknown, I can tell them — in Saturday night poker games.

The situation is not unbearable where "straight poker" (cartel) folk stay with their own kind. Or where "wild game" addicts guard admittance to their group more closely than does the Junior League. It is when either group oversteps the boundaries and falls prey to the other that the chips fly, voices are raised in anger, and somebody goes home mad.

Straight poker, as I see it, is based on the stuffy premise of limited cards and unlimited bets. It crushes him who is short of chips, much as cartels stifle the poor hardworking independent store owner.

"Wild games" on the other hand are based on unlimited cards and modest bets. None of this five card department; in wild games you get lots of cards, plenty of which are wild—and amazing are the combinations thereof.

Players leaning to this persuasion of poker lean similarly to nickel bets with three raises. Everybody can stay till the last card is dealt, thereby prolonging enjoyment and outdrawing what looked like the winning hand. In this delightful but confusing abridgement of poker, low hands shares winnings with high—a feature increasing the size of the pot by encouraging investments from broader sources. See?

Straight poker enthusiasts, I found out the hard way, are prone to attract high cards. If there is a sequence of low cards anywhere, I have it. With that kind of luck one is canny to align one's talents where low hands are recognized. Some say attracting high cards is a matter of Will, that with high resolves you get high cards. A very neat trick, that, but one which so far has eluded me. With a wrongo in the deck, it is unalterably mine alone. Hence the affiliation with the more flexible policy of threes, nine, deuces and knaves "wild." And all like 'em.

Somehow straight poker smacks of unfair monopoly. Shutout bets have an aura of rampant power. It just don't seem real neighborly to me. Why not let everybody stay in to the last card? Don't they want the middle classes to have any fun?

AF To Build Six Reactors To Test Nuclear Planes

Washington, Oct. 17—A highly significant new step is being taken in the history-making atomic plane project.

The Air Force has decided to build six more "research and testing" reactors.

That will make a total of nine for this epic undertaking. Two already are in operation at Ft. Worth, Tex., and a third is being constructed at Dayton, O.

To date, Congress has voted $500,000,000 for nuclear plane development.

Reason for the Air Force's unannounced decision to triple the number of research reactors is to exploit certain scientific breakthroughs resulting from the experiments that have been going on at Ft. Worth for more than a year.

The additional six reactors will appreciably expand the range, scope and speed of these crucial tests. As reported in this column several months ago, the development of an atomic plane is now likely to be achieved earlier than was anticipated.

Admiral Hyman Rickover, who sparkplugged the first atomic submarine and is closely connected with the plane project, is so convinced of its early realization that he is strongly urging the Navy to immediately build an atomic seaplane tender.

The importance of the new research reactors is graphically indicated by their nature. Each is for a specific purpose to speed up the construction of a nuclear aircraft. Equally significant is the fact that no date or description is listed for any of these reactors. This omission is no accident.

This is to be the last of these development reactors, it is being scheduled as the prototype of the propulsion unit that will actually power a feasible atomic plane.

The individual function of these history-making reactors is vividly evidenced in the following publishable description of them:

1. Ground test reactor, already in operation at Ft. Worth.
2. Aircraft shield test reactor, same as first.
3. Nuclear engineering test reactor, under construction at Dayton, O.
4. Radiation effects reactor, to be built at Ft. Worth next year.
5. Another reactor of this type, to be completed in Georgia by 1958.
6. Tower test reactor, same as No. 5.
7. Test reactor, to be built in New Jersey for use in 1958.
8. Test reactor, to be built in Middletown, Conn., for use in 1958.
9. Final test reactor, contract still unawarded.

Note: Air Force experts have definitely established that the X-2 rocket plane reached 71,000 feet before crashing. This is more than one-half of the unofficial altitude record of 126,000 feet set by Captian Iven Kincheloe in a previous flight in this research craft.

Stern warning — The fate of the United Nations is at stake in what happens on the ominous Suez Canal crisis.

That's what Secretary Dulles is privately telling U. S. allies.

The State Department head is voicing this blunt warning through American ambassadors throughout the world. They have received a series of "policy guidance" messages explicitly instructing them on what to do and say regarding the Suez controversy.

Two key points are stressed in Dulles' directives:

(1) The U. S. is publicly supporting the British-French position in the UN Security Council. (2) However, the U. S. is willing to consider a compromise by either side that offers the prospect of a peaceful solution.

In inner State Department circles, some of Dulles' lieutenants differ with him on holding that the "validity" of the UN is directly involved in the Suez conflict. At their urging, he has refrained from saying that publicly. But this is as far as he has bowed to their protests. Privately, Dulles is continuing to voice that view.

Adlai Given Good Play By Press

By Central Press

Washington—You'll be hearing less from now on from the Democrats about the so-called "one-party press." They're beginning to suspect that their old familiar charge may have been exaggerated. And they're happy to admit it.

This recent change of view has nothing to do with the fact that more newspapers are supporting Adlai E. Stevenson for President this year than was the case in 1952. (Among the switches, incidentally, is the Bloomington, Ill., Daily Pantagraph, which refused to endorse the Democratic nominee four years ago even though it is owned by his family.)

What has surprised and pleased the Democrats is the fact that Stevenson has received tremendous page one play in the daily press during his campaign so far. In 1952, he seriously felt that the newspapers were burying stories about him and giving their most prominent space to the Republican candidates.

Now, however, Adlai realizes that the GOP nominees, four years ago, were making the news with their attacks on the Democrats while Stevenson was in a defensive role. This time, the Republicans are defending their own record. The Democrats are doing the attacking. So they are the one who are making the big headlines.

It's Warm Weather In Any Land

By Jim Riley

Recent warm weather has sent our thoughts wandering — even more than is usually the case.

Due to the very pleasant weather we have been enjoying of late, the thoughts naturally turn to Indian Summer.

As most everyone knows Indian Summer is a phrase of American origin, and it deals with a period of warm weather in late Fall or early winter. It is usually accompanied by cloudless skies and a hazy or smoky appearance of the atmosphere at the horizon.

In England Indian Summer is also known as St. Luke's Summer or little Summer of St. Luke. This stems from the fact that today is St. Luke's Day.

Now, if the same period of warm weather occurs in England during November, it is known as St. Martin's Summer. St. Martin's Day is November 11.

When this period of warm weather occurs in September, again in England, it is termed St. Austin's or St. Augustine's Summer.

At one time the November warm weather was called Allhallow Summer, as All Saint's Day is November 1.

End of lesson.

The weather has been beautiful.

Mrs. Roosevelt Seems Guilty Of Unreasoned Partisanship In Reply To Panel Questioner

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt ought to know the qualifications of a President, she having been an inhabitant of the White House for 12 years, more or less. So Mrs. May Craig, on "Meet the Press," asked Mrs. Roosevelt this question:

"Mrs. Roosevelt, before the nominations former President Truman said that we could not risk a period of trial and error by Mr. Stevenson in the White House in the international situation. Don't you really regard Pres. Eisenhower as better qualified to handle the Suez Canal and the Mediterranean?"

It is a good question because after all President Eisenhower has been President of the United States for nearly four years and Adlai Stevenson has not been President at all. Also, before he came to the White House, General Eisenhower was at the head of NATO, and he had been Commander of the Allied troops in World War II and later Chief of Staff. He may not, in Mrs. Roosevelt's estimation, be the brightest man that ever held the Presidency; she would be forgiven if she thought her late husband was. But Eisenhower has had considerable experience and responsibility with such questions as May Craig raised and Stevenson has had no responsibility and only a peripheral experience with them.

To May Craig's question, Mrs. Roosevelt replied:

". . . I feel that President Eisenhower gained his knowledge of foreign affairs as a general in the European theater. He was a general carrying out the policies that were made by other people and when you are doing that you learn to be skillful in carrying out those policies. You do learn a great deal but I do not think it is the same thing as having to think out policies for yourself, and my experience is that Mr. Stevenson has taken a great deal of trouble to inform himself on the background of Asia and Africa, with which this question is closely tied. . ."

This is a shocking statement because it makes no sense. One does not have to like President Eisenhower. Stevenson took what amounted to a tourist's trip through Asia which is meaningless, particularly if one does not know any Asiatic language; Eisenhower, on the contrary, was stationed in the Philippines alongside our greatest authority on Asia, General Douglas MacArthur, for seven years.

If Eisenhower is so unintelligent as to be able to carry out policies made for him by other people, why did President Roosevelt appoint him commander of the troops in Europe in World War II? Are we to believe that President Roosevelt entrusted the lives of our sons and the destiny of our nation to a man who, having by then spent 27 years in the service of his country, is incapable of thinking? If so, President Franklin D. Roosevelt was guilty of perpetrating a shameful hoax on the world and stands convicted on the testimony of his widow.

Mrs. Roosevelt made the point, in this interview, that Adlai Stevenson thinks things out but that President Eisenhower and his associates do not think things out. Then why did not President Roosevelt appoint Adlai Stevenson to a high position in his Administration? These are the positions Stevenson held in the Roosevelt Administration: Special counsel AAA, Washington, 1933-34; asistant to Secretary of the Navy, Washington, 1941-44; chief Economic Mission to Italy, 1943; War Department Mission to Europe, 1944. They were all on a secondary level. But Roosevelt appointed Eisenhower to command of our troops in Europe over the heads of a host of more senior officers. Did Roosevelt appoint a man to such an important post who could not think things out?

Mrs. Roosevelt here is obviously guilty of unreasoned partisanship. Mrs. Roosevelt does not really support the candidacy of Steven by such illogical statements. Harry Truman was correct when he objected to Stevenson as "a trial and error" President which is exactly what, under our system, most new Presidents must be.

Under the European ministerial system, a man can get his experience in a lower office before he moves up to the summit. Here, it is not arranged that way. Here most of our Presidents, when elected to their first term, lack close experience with the problems they immediately face and they have a hard time adjusting their minds to this difficult office. Surely Harry Truman's testimony on this subject, in his autobiography, is worth rereading.

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

Mr. and Mrs. Hollywood on Broadway

They come from Hollywood's golden mountains to Broadway's neon hills. The theatre's lure is frequently irresistible, although the challenge is often incredibly difficult. The Main Stem's temptation for Movieville's dazzlers is encompassed by artistic satisfaction and the sound of applause . . . Judy Garland, the Wonderful One, has brazenly confessed her passion for audiences: "I took one look at all those people, laughing and applauding, and I fell hopelessly in love with audiences."

The love affair has been constant. Following her Palace triumph, Judy's groom, Sid Luft, said: "I've never seen Judy so calm. She needs a live audience. She needs people out there."

That need, that craving for affection, inspires performers. The emotional fulfillment is extremely genuine to actors and actresses. When Betty Hutton played the Palace several seasons ago, she publicly gushed: "If I could just get it across to every audience, if I could explain the thrill I get performing, if I could just look at them out there and tell them with all my heart: 'There's nothing I wouldn't do for you!'"

Performers are stage-struck. The phenomenon usually has an early origin and generally endures a lifetime. Shelley Winters, who appeared in last season's "A Hatful of Rain," and will star in another drama this year, has joyfully explained: "Ever since I could remember I had felt I could be a player on the stage. I signed my first contract for $75 a week. But I would act for nothing but the chance to act" . . . In Hollywood, Shelley has recalled, she had a feeling that someone would tap her on the shoulder one day and say: "Give me back the money" . . . On Broadway, she feels that she earns her money as well as respect.

It might be difficult for ordinary folks to savvy Shelley's logic. However, actors and actresses will have no trouble in understanding . . . Edward G. Robinson had everything that the dream merchants of Hollywood could produce. Success. Fame. Wealth. A stardust world and a swimming pool. Nevertheless, the theatre's attraction remained constant.

October 16, 1956.

Editor The Daily Record,
Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Sir:

Some weeks ago The Record published a photograph of a shovel with a sign which indicated the equipment was abandoned on a highway project three years prior to date the picture was taken.

Here are the facts:

The Greentown job was authorized July 17, 1955.

The shovel was NOT assigned to the Greentown job. It was put on a flood job on Route 254. It was then brand new.

On September 10, 1956, it was moved to a construction job on Route 51027, Greentown. It started operation on September 18, 1956 and has been operating, weather permitting, since then.

The sign was attached some time between September 10, 1956 and September 18, 1956.

It is difficult to believe that the sign was printed for the purpose of embarrassing the Department, but the facts are as given here.

With kind regards, I remain

Very sincerely,
WILLIAM J. DOUGHERTY,
Publicity Director,
Department of Highways.

Publicity Releases Successful

POCONO MOUNTAINS Vacation Bureau is expectetd to spend a total $12,990.50 in advertising for 1956, a report released last night showed.

The report was presented to Vacation Bureau members by president Harry A. Ahnert at a meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

The report further showed the Vacation Bureau received 12,406 keyed inquiries thus far in 1956, compared to 13,811 for the whole of last year.

A total 50,000 color folders were distributed, along with 30,000 directories, the report indicated. It also showed 50,000 "Flaming Foliage" stickers were delivered and 25,000 have been sold.

Successful

"Straight publicity releases of the bureau were highly successful and attracted a considerable number of inquiries," the report stated. "The Flaming Foliage release alone attracted almost 1,000 inquiries from various parts of the country.

"The more recent hunting release is still attracting scores of inquiries," the report added.

At the dinner meeting, members heard from Harold Swenson, director of the Vacation and Travel Development Bureau of the State Department of Commerce, and Abby Landis of the New York advertising firm of Koehl, Landis and Landan, Inc.

Members-at-large set up a formal organization last night and named the following officers: Leroy Guccini, president; Thomas Robinson, and Eric Schuchard, vice-presidents; Mrs. Eleanor Ziegler, secretary, and Mrs. Helen J. C. Henry, assistant secretary.

Lutheran Delegate, Pastors Favor Proposed Merger Of All Divisions Into United Church

By Paul Carlson

LUTHERANS throughout Monroe County appear to look with favor upon a proposed merger of all Lutheran bodies in America into a united church.

The proposal was contained in a plan presented to the 20th biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America in Harrisburg this week. The plan was drafted by a special study commission.

Among those favoring the proposal was Superior Court Judge Chester H. Rhodes of Stroudsburg, and the only delegate to the ULCA convention from the immediate area.

"The suggestion is worthy of serious consideration by the various Lutheran groups," said Judge Rhodes. "Rather than a federation, an organic union would be more efficient.

"There would seem to be no logical reason why all Lutheran bodies in America should not merge and thereby present a united front," the jurist remarked.

"I question that the doctrinal differences are sufficient to warrant 19 branches of Lutheranism," he added. "The result is duplication of personnel and duplication of effort.

"Unity in faith and unity in constructive action would follow organic union," Judge Rhodes stated.

Similar expressions of approval were also made by three local pastors.

"I'm for it 100 percent," commented Rev. P. N. Wohlsen, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church in Stroudsburg. "Such union would have a great many advantages."

Pastor Wohlsen noted that a "better spirit" has been manifested in different Lutheran groups in recent years.

"For example, a few years ago, fraternal visitors were sent to the respective bodies of some Lutheran groups," he said. "And that's a healthy sign."

Meanwhile, Rev. Edward T. Horn, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Tannersville, commented that "there is no reason doctrinally why we should be separate."

Dr. Horn noted that national origins have been a major reason for the various Lutheran bodies.

A former missionary and seminary president, Dr. Horn stressed that it is "exceedingly desirable for Lutheranism to present a united front" — especially on mission fields.

He commented that more money would be available for other purposes, because various efforts would no longer be duplicated.

"A new Lutheran liturgy and a hymnal is being published at this time," Dr. Horn disclosed. "The ULCA, the American Lutheran Church and the Augustana Lutherans are going to use these materials, which will be out this year or next."

The fact that the ULCA already is in the midst of merger procedures with the Augustana Church was pointed out by Rev. William F. Wunder, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church in East Stroudsburg.

"I personally feel that we worship the same Lord and the same God," said Wunder, "and that such union is in accordance with Our Lord's thinking."

Judge Rhodes noted that the proposal would unite 19 branches of Lutheranism in the United States in one denomination of about seven million members.

The ULCA measure stated that this body of 2,700,000 members is willing to merge "with all or any" of the other Lutheran groups in America.

Rev. Franklin Clark Fry, re-elected ULCA president, commented that he hoped it was the "last time" anyone is elected to head the present denomination.

"There is a distinct possibility that before my term expires, we might go forward into a broader combination of Lutherans," he said.

Judge Chester H. Rhodes

Stroud Union Lets Contract For Insurance

A CONTRACT covering health and life insurance benefits for Stroud Union School District teachers and professional employes will go to Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co.

At a board meeting last night, district school directors voted to give the school board's approval to a bid submitted by the MMLI. It was the lowest bid, based on the amount to be paid for monthly premiums.

Three other companies had included, as part of their bids, a projected "annual dividend." But these dividends were not guaranteed. The board, therefore, refused to consider them as part of bidding. MMLI made no estimate of dividends because, the company said, they would be meaningless and could not be guaranteed.

The new insurance program, covering a wide phase of illness, surgery, X-rays, hospitalization and life insurance, will cost the school district $1,131.77 monthly or $13,581 per year, for the first year. Discount of dividends for years following — whatever the amount — will lower the cost, however.

Other companies bidding were Mutual of New York, New York Life and Equitable.

The Stroud Union insurance program — drawn up at the request of the teachers committee and the superintendent and worked out with teachers' representatives—is one of the broadest and most far-reaching programs of its kind in Northeastern Pennsylvania.

High School Plans Three U.N. Trips

THREE TRIPS to the United Nations in New York are being sponsored by the Stroudsburg High School.

Miss Lillian Stark, who is in charge of arrangements, said trips for students are being planned for Nov. 13 and 15. Those who will make the trip will make their reservations at the school.

Adults

The third trip, scheduled for Nov. 14, is for adults. Anyone who cares to go many contact Miss Stark by calling 1316 during school hours or at her home, 3073, from 9 to 11 p.m.

In each case, the group will leave by bus at 6:45 a.m., attend a morning session of the U.N., tour the building and eat in the delegates' dining room. The afternoon schedule will depend upon the U.N. schedule for that day. The bus will return here at 8 p.m.

Cleveland Voices Opposition To 'Unfair, Unjust Taxes'

MOUNTAINHOME—The Republican candidate for Monroe County's assembly seat, Hanford Cleveland, last night voiced opposition to what he called "unfair and unjust taxes."

Cleveland told a GOP rally in the YMCA here that the so-called "use tax" of three per cent and the "income tax" are both unfair. He pledged himself to "endeavor to reduce any existing taxes necessitated by the inefficiency of administration and trim the fat from the business of Government."

He told his audience that the proposed "use tax" would have worked against Pennsylvania manufacturers since goods made in this State would have been taxed whereas goods made in other states for interstate sales would not have been taxed.

Much of Cleveland's prepared text was devoted to his recurrent campaign theme—the lack of "permanent" bridges in Monroe County following the 1955 flood.

"It is an old saying, but very true, 'the wheel that does the squeaking is the wheel that gets the grease,'" he said. "Ladies and gentlemen, you do not get grease by fighting with the Secretary of the Highways because of one employe whom you personally do not like."

He said that "when elected, my first concern will be for the immediate construction of permanent bridges in Monroe County."

Cleveland called the bridge between the two boroughs "probably the easiest place in Monroe County to skid" wet or icy. He said that plans for bridges and roads were released by his opposition "one month prior to election 1956, when, had we been having the representation which we deserve, the plans would have been released one month before election 1955, and shortly after the flood."

Col. Tucker Before Signal Depot Jury

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 17 (AP)—After two days of private conferences with FBI agents, the Army Engineers colonel who helped direct the construction of the 33-million-dollar Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot today went before a federal grand jury investigating alleged contract irregularities.

Lt. Col. Charles Tucker, who came on specitl leave from military duties in France, spent about an hour in the grand jury room. And U. S. Atty. J. Julius Levy said the Army colonel would testify again tomorrow.

Unconfirmed reports circulated in the courthouse today that the grand jury probably will complete questioning of witnesses by the end of this week and hand down indictments, perhaps by Oct. 27 or sooner.

Development

In another unexpected development today, Rep. William J. Green (R — Pa), Philadelphia's Democratic chairman, came to Scranton in answer to a subpena and conferred with Levy.

Green, who has twice testified before the grand jury, did not go before the panel this time. After conferring with Levy he left for Philadelphia with his attorney, John P. Walsh.

Tucker tried unsuccessfully to avoid detection by newsmen as he entered the jury room in civilian clothes. He even denied that he was Tucker.

The colonel served as Tobyhanna head from May, 1952 until December, 1953 when he was transferred to France.

Walsh, before his departure, said that "the congressman is perfectly willing to do anything he can to aid and assist the jury in its deliberations."

Ladies Plan Future Events

BANGOR — Attendance at last night's convention of United Lutheran Church Women of the Allentown Conference at St. Paul's Church, Catasauqua, was planned by the Young Ladies Missionary Society of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church during the meeting at the parish house Tuesday night.

It also was decided to forward gifts to shut-ins at Christmas. The November session was arranged for the home of Mrs. Ruby Jones. Mrs. Charlotte Hough will be the devotional leader. Miss Jean Bennett was welcomed as a new member. A wedding gift was presented to Miss Jean Houck, a member who will be married Oct. 27.

Mrs. Jean Tucker, president, presided and led in prayer. Mrs. Jones, secretary, and Miss June Maginnis, treasurer, gave reports. Miss Houck led in the topic, "The Woman with an Hour." Mrs. Tucker was the hostess of the occasion. Also present were Mrs. Eleanor Evans, Mrs. Eve Shatz and Mrs. Evelyn Dennis.

Oil Formula To Remain

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—The Office of Defense Mobilization announced today it will keep its present formula limiting oil imports, but warned that unless incoming shipments are cut voluntarily the inflow will represent a "threat to the national security."

This amounted to a notice that mandatory controls may be imposed unless imports are reduced. The reciprocal trade law authorizes the President to curb imports found to be jeopardizing a defense-essential domestic industry.

Derailment Causes Delay

NORTH EAST, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—Traffic on the Pennsylvania Railroad's main line between Baltimore and New York was delayed for a time today by a 16-car freight derailment. No one was hurt.

The derailment of part of the 108-car train near this Cecil County town blocked one track and knocked another out of line. A third track was undamnged.

Highways To Maintain Business

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 17 (AP)—Bertram D. Tallamy, designated to head the huge federal highway program, said today the project won't create ghost towns.

In Pittsburgh for the convention of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Tallamy told newsmen he could see no lasting economic hardship as a result of the program.

President Eisenhower has baned Tallamy, presently chairman of the New York State Thruway Authority, to the new post of federal highway administrator. The nomination will be sent to the Senate in January.

Tallamy said communities bypassed by new roads probably would suffer immediately afterward, but added:

"In a short time new traffic, induced traffic, takes over and business is back on the highway as usual."

He said the new interstate road system will induce about 50 per cent more new traffic, traffic that wouldn't use the old highways.

Atomic Power For Cooking

CALDER HALL, England, Oct. 17 (AP)—Britain today switched on atomic power to cook the family supper—and launched the second industrial revolution.

"We are present at the making of history," said Queen Elizabeth II as she moved a lever at the world's first full-scale atomic power plant.

Many Lands

Scientists and ambassadors from many lands witnessed the event.

The housewife in England's north could not note the difference. But many a workman came home tonight to supper cooked with electricity generated by uranium fuel rods at Calder Hall.

Railroad Head Denies Activities

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17 (AP)—A former president of the Pennsylvania Railroad denied on the witness stand today that any PRR officials engaged in "anti-truck activities" and insisted that he, himself, was "probably the best friend trucks ever had."

Martin Clement headed America's biggest railroad for 13 years until 1949 and was chairman of the PRR board until 1952.

Commission Hears Request

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 17 (AP) — A milk dealers association told the state Milk Control Commission today it should reduce the price of milk used in making ice cream, but a dairy farmers group said the prices of all types of milk should be increased.

Representatives of the two groups testified before Chairman Joab K. Mahood and Simon K. Uhl of the Milk Control Commission, which is holding hearings throughout the state on farmers' requests for higher milk prices because of poor crops caused by excessive rainfall.

Howard B. Steele of the Greater Pittsburgh Dairy Industries Assn. said ice cream manufacturers could buy butterfat for 82 cents a pound on an open market. He said they are forced to pay 86 cents under current commission orders.

Prices

Steele said commission prices will force ice cream manufacturers to buy milk outside Pennsylvania.

Edgar Iman, a Callery farmer speaking for the Associated Independent Dairymen, asked for higher prices for all kinds of milk. He said farmers' production costs are higher than the price they get for it.

He said a survey of 11 efficiently operated farms showed it costs $9.84 a hundredweight to produce milk. The average price a farmer gets for table-grade milk is $6.16 and the average of all types milk is $4.45, he added.

Lawler Lists Road Projects

HARRISBURG, Oct. 17 (AP) — Joseph J. Lawler, highways secretary, today outlined two bypass improvement projects to cost 11 million dollars for a delegation seeking improvements along U. S. 22 between Harrisburg and Mt. Union.

Lawler told the delegation that the department has under study a seven-mile bypass of Harrisburg for Route 22 extending from east of the capital to Dauphin, north of Harrisburg.

It will cost an estimated 6½ million dollars and will be a four lane divided highway.

Bypass

The second bypass mentioned by the secretary would bring relief to U. S. 22 in the Harrisburg area and to the Clark's Ferry Bridge which carries 22 and U. S. 322 across the Susquehanna River north of Harrisburg.

It would extend five miles from the south around Duncannon, Perry County.

Safety Expert Speaks To Kiwanis

A HIGHWAY safety expert told the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club yesterday people get into traffic trouble because they do not intend to get into trouble.

George Lowe, director of highway safety for the Atlantic Refining Co., suggested that stiffer penalties would result in a decrease in accident rate.

In San Salvador, he said, a driver stays in jail as long as the victim of an accident in which he was involved remains in the hospital. In Sweden, the penalty for an accident in which a fatality results is six years in prison.

Seriousness

People do not recognize the seriousness of the traffic accident situation, Lowe declared, adding they should be conscious of the fact that as they walk as they drive "they are their brother's keeper."

He cited figures to show that 61 percent of accidents in which fatalities occur are due to alcohol and drugs. Lowe also praised the driver training program in high schools across the state.

Lowe was introduced by John R. Lesoine, county commissioner and owner of a trucking concern. William Tarr, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association chapter here, also was a guest.

Elwood Hintze, vice president, conducted the meeting in the absence of President William Wells.

Next week's meeting will be an Interclub affair Wednesday night, Oct. 24. John Cartwright, superintendent of schools in Allentown, will be the speaker.

40 Attend Guidance Conference

BANGOR — Approximately 40 students of the ninth and 12th grades of Bangor Area Joint High School attended a vocational guidance conference on public utilities Tuesday afternoon in the school library. These conferences are sponsored by the Bangor Kiwanis and Exchange clubs in conjunction with the Guidance Department of the high school.

The conference opened with a film entitled, "Edison's Miracle of Light," which was shown by Metropolitan Edison Co. Serving as consultants at the conference were Kenneth Ace, superintendent of the Bangor District; E. R. Kohl, personnel director; and Blaine Schmehl, industrial engineer; all of Metropolitan Edison Co.

History

Ace presented a short history of the development of electrical power. Kohl pointed out company policy on hiring, wages, benefits, etc. Schmehl described some of the jobs available with the company. All three consultants answered questions directed to them by the students.

Arnold Wynne, guidance counselor, served as chairman. Kim Mengel projected the film.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

In all the welter of organizations devoted to doing good and educating their members, there is a certain selfish satisfaction in belonging to something that is purely for pleasure.

Every woman seems to have at least one such group, whether it's a bridge club, a sewing clunb, or just "the girls" getting together. And it does serve a purpose. To the world at large you grow older and grayer, more sedate and more stuffy, but among the "girls" you grew up with, giggles and gossip are as natural as they were when you were really young.

No one knows better than I the tremendous force for good that we have in our organizations, and there, too, the pleasure in associating with each other is one of the main reasons for belonging. But they can't take the place of something you do just for fun.

Men may make fun of "hen" parties, and swear the women do nothing but gossip, but that isn't the lure that keeps these informal groups going year after year. It's because they've magic in them, and for a few hours you shed your years and responsibilities.

Whatever the changes in appearance and demeanor the years may bring, the person inside remains the same, ageless and laughter-loving, but only the eye of long-time friendship can penetrate the disguise.

Daughters of America will hold an important business meeting on Friday night at 7:30, at the Odd Fellows Hall.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

It all began in 1948 when our Boss decided that since women are such capable, original, hard working people (at least we like to think that's what he had in mind) maybe the store would profit by being placed in their hands a certain number of days each year. Edna Brockman and Helen Mitchell were among those he consulted about the idea, and, being efficient souls in their own right and firm believers in the abilities of their feminine contemporaries, the first Wyckoff's Women's Days were inaugurated. They covered a three day period in which there was hilarity. . . fun . . . gimmicks . . . and GOOD BUSINESS.

As a matter of fact, business was so very good Helen and Edna found themselves with a new job which they had a far tougher time shedding than assuming. They remained the President's of Women's Days until 1953 when Edna Harmon, then head of the Wyckoff jewelry department, was named to succeed them. Margaret LaBar, head of the drapery department, served as President for 1951, and Cora Albertson our Lingerie buyer has been President since that time. (Indicating of course, that Cora prodded, pushed, pulled, cajoled, teased, and bossed us "over the top" so unmistakably last year, she was given the Go sign by Wyckoff executives to do it again this year.)

Now, if you haven't guessed what all this is leading up to— well, why should I bother telling you my opinion of you? OF COURSE YOU'VE GUESSED the surprise our teasers, radio contest, and column have been preparing to spring. WOMEN'S DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN—but this year, as in the recent past, they'll be TWO DAYS ONLY—Friday and Saturday, October 19 and 20. The theme is a honey—it invites you to REAP A GOLDEN HARVEST WITH THE WOMEN OF WYCKOFF'S. That means we offer honest-to-goodness savings of 25% AND MORE on specially purchased merchandise in all departments, as well as merchandise PRIZES vauled at well over $2,000 that will be awarded simply for guessing the number of candy kernels in the big plastic pumpkin in our center asile.

Just what are women's Days? Well. . . to the women of our store they are a time to show how clever we are, at displaying. . . advertising. . . . buying and selling merchandise. They are a time to prove how good our department heads are at coaxing extra special buys AND gifts from their usual sources. They are a time when we can mix pleasure with business. We can forget the formality of business dress and business talk. We can do mad. . . frantic. . . silly things. . . and accompany our laughter with the jingle of ringing cash registers. Because YOU like it too! You get just as big a kick out of it as we. . . and the sales figures prove it at the end of each year.

Events of 1948 seem to be rather obscured by memory. . . but Helen Mitchell still has a copy of the cute ad she wrote for Act I Scene II when Women's Days were held for the second year. It was a clever play on the letter W, and put everyone in the mood for lighthearted fun. Since then pre-Women's Days ads have been in much the same higher-than-a-kite, gayer than a balloon mood. In 1950 pictures of the women employees were featured. In 1956 barnyard animals, hinting of things to come, have tantalized you, we hope.

Originally Women's Days were in November, and centered around the idea of promoting early Christmas buying. A tallyho, loaned by Buck Hill Inn, was utilized once to open the big event, and all the salespeople wore old fashioned attire. Last year the ribbons were cut by the wives of the Stroudsburg's mayors. Usually too, Monroe Countains were invited to compete for prizes by wrapping Christmas packages, designing Christmas place cards, table settings, door or mantle decorations.

In 1952, the Wyckoff women invited women everywhere to celebrate Leap Year with them. Tom Waring presided at the breakfast broadcast from the Tearoom. In 1955 the theme was a visit to Never Never Land with fantastic costumes, decorations, and values galore. This year the bargains are greater than ever. . . so are the prizes. . . but the theme is the "golden harvest", so in keeping with the superb October weather we've been having in the Poconos.

The event opens tomorrow at 9:45 with the release of balloons from our third floor window. Those lucky enough to catch one will receive one of our hundreds of valuable prizes. Also at 9:45 there will be square dancing on the sidewalk, under our Wyckoff marquee. From there on in it will be a madhouse of fun, frolic, and bargains. We'll have free refreshments. . . free samples. . . and free laughter spilling all over the place.

Come in and share the excitement. Listen to the radio. . . bring in your guesses from our radio contest. . . and REAP A GOLDEN HARVEST. With so much to do, for heaven's sake let's NEVER go to seed!

Sports Trail --

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—It looks like the pro football quarterbacks are going to have to get their signals from puffing guards running out between plays for awhile yet.

The ship-to-shore radio communication system between the bench and the field pilot still doesn't work too well, not only because of static but, because when there is no static, the opposition can tune in, making the whole setup about as private as a party line.

We've been a little concerned about the inroads of these electronic devices on human lives ever since last spring when an electonic brain named Datatron forecast the winners of the major league baseball races.

Scheme

This obviously was a scheme to eliminate sports writers, who since the days of Abner Doubleday have considered it their exclusive right, even their bounden duty, to forecast the results of the races for their appreciative public, it says here.

The sports writers have been saved at least temporarily. Datatron proved to be a dope. A $250,000 dope. The sports writers on the whole picked the right pennant winners. Datatron was only half right.

We don't know exactly how this monster operates. Apparently it was fed certain information and told to go to work on it.

It obviously got a touch of indigestion from what it was fed as it came up with the Detroit Tigers as winner in the American League, a prediction that must have been greeted with considerable alarm by Bucky Harris who must have been aware that the only way his club could win would be for three or four other teams to suffer a mass attack of colic or some other incapacitating ailment.

Datatron did hit the Brooklyn Dodgers on the nose. Figuratively speaking, of course. The human who fed the information to the mechanical brain apparently had a pretty good run-down on the Bums. It would not be improbable, though, that the brain had a nervous breakdown during the last week of the season when the Braves and Redlegs were playing footsie with the pennant.

Here's the way the machinery brain picked the races:

National League: Brooklyn, Cincinnati and New York (tie), Milwaukee, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, Pittsburgh.

American League

American League: Detroit, Chicago, New York, Boston and Cleveland (tie), Baltimore, Washington, Kansas City.

It was right on one spot in the National League—Philadelphia for fifth. It did better in the American, as Boston finished fourth and Baltimore, Washington and Kansas City finished sixth, seventh and eighth, respectively.

It missed badly on the Yankees, possibly being misled by Casey Stengel's double talk, which has confused human brains no little on occasion. It would not have been surprising if it had stripped a couple of gears trying to keep up with Casey's brain, which no mechanical contrivance ever can hope to match.

In fact, it would be quite interesting if a machine could be devised which would record Stengel's conversation, digest it, and then come out with a pure translation of his words. That would be the real test.

Anyway, sports writers' jobs appear safe for awhile, and also the pro quarterbacks will have to exercise ingenuity on occasion. The pugh-button brains still leave something to be desired.

Stroudsburg High Drills On Defense For Whitehall

Mountaineers Seek Fifth Grid Win

JOHN WHITEHEAD emphasized defense as he sent Stroudsburg High School's gridiron stalwarts through a long workout yesterday in preparation for the Mountaineers next encounter with a Lehigh Valley League foe.

The Mountaineers, currently riding high with a 4-1 record, will take on Willie Piff's Whitehall High eleven on the Zephyrs field Saturday.

Stroudsburg, tied for third place in the LV with a 2-1 log, will be shooting for its third straight victory following a 13-0 setback at the hands of Palmerton two weeks ago.

In Whitehall, the charges of Whitehall will be meeting a club that is just starting to move. After a slow beginning, the Zephyrs moved into high gear last week when they pounded Lehighton 32-7.

Razzle-Dazzle

Piff, the originator of razzle-dazzle on a high degree in the Lehigh Valley, is expected to throw at the Mountaineers the same sort of "Magician" technique that has made prior Whitehall teams one of the mosts unpredictable, offensive scholastic elevens.

Piff, who oftimes is referred to as the modern Andy Kerr, stresses the winged-T, but also uses the single wing and double wing formations on occasions. Piff specializes in reverses with a quick pass coming off the last cross-overback.

Poscession Game

Whitehall, an exponent of the famed Georgia Tech Belly Series, will probably counter with his possession-type attack in an attempt to make the Zephyrs victim Number Five.

In referring to Piff, the Stroudsburg mentor said, "He uses everything and we'll just have to be ready for everything."

The Mountaineers will taper off drills Friday with a light signal workout.

Day Named Number One Lineman

By The Associated Press

DICK DAY, a husky 240-pound tackle for the University of Washington, Wednesday was named The Associated Press Lineman of the Week.

A close second in the balloting by the sportswriters and broadcasters in this first weekly poll of the season was another behemoth—Jim Parker, 254-pound guard for Ohio State.

Standout

Day, a standout for Washington in previous games against Minnesota and Illinois, figured prominently in the Huskies' 20-7 victory over Oregon last Saturday. He pounced on three Oregon Fumbles. One of the recoveries was on the Washington 7 and stopped an Oregon drive. Another recovery led to a Washington touchdown. In addition Day, a junior, constantly rushed Oregon passers.

Tommy McDonald, Oklahoma halfback, was named Back of the Week Tuesday. He scored three touchdowns as Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1, romped to a 45-0 victory over Texas.

Cook Movement On Hush-Hush

MELBOURNE, Oct. 17 (AP) — A hush-hush operation similar to a wartime troop movement is being planned by the 1956 Olympics organizers to bring in some very important persons—the 180 cooks recruited in Europe to prepare the meals in the Olympics Village.

Olympic organizers said the reason for the precautions was the staff shortage in the kitchens of Australian hotels and restaurants. No chances are being taken, Olympic officials explained, on losing any of the European cooks to higher bidders.

Kansas City Signs Four

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 17 (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics today announced the signing of four young players in its minor league system including Donald Woerner, 22, a pitcher from North Mills, Pa., who will report to Columbia, S. C., of the Sally League.

Woerner, a righthander, was chosen the most valuable player in the 1956 Pennsylvania high school tournament.

Nashua To Make Final Appearance

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 17 (AP)—The world's leading thoroughbred money winner will make his final public appearance tomorrow, then settle down in his native blue grass country for the rest of his life.

Nashua, the big bay who piled up a bank account of $1,288,565, will gallop around the mile and a sixteenth oval at nearby Keeneland then retire to stud at Leslie Combs' Spendthrift farm.

Jockey

In the saddle will be jockey Eddie Arcaro, who has ridden him in most of his big stakes victories.

Venerable "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons, 82, who trained the famous horse since he first was broken to a bit and saddle girth, also will be on hand to wish Nashua well in his days of retirement.

Mayor Shelby C. Kinkead has proclaimed tomorrow Nashua Day.

Segregation Sports Law In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 16 (AP) — Louisiana put its new sports segregation law into effect today and a backer of the act predicted the people themselves would make sure it was enforced.

The law makes it illegal for white and Negro amateur and professional players to compete in the same "athletic training, games, sports or contests." Separate seating for spectators also is required under the act, which carries a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and one year imprisonment.

Sen. W. M. Rainach of Summerfield, chairman of the legislative committee on segregation which drafted the act, said "this law has probably the strongest public support of any segregation measure enacted by the Louisiana Legislature."

Stengel Mocks Ebbets Confine

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Casey Stengel, manager of the world champion New York Yankees, before he left for his Glendale, Calif., home had a few caustic remarks about Ebbets Field, home of the Dodgers.

With Mrs. Stengel at his elbow, Casey said the Yankees didn't fair well in the Brooklyn park the last two years because his pitchers were unfamiliar with it.

"But if we played there all the time," Stengel added, "we'd do better than the Dodgers."

Somebody suggested if Ebbets Field were the Yankees' home field, Mickey Mantle probably would hit 90 home runs.

"They wouldn't let him play a full season there," Casey said. "He'd kill too many spectators."

Tigers Purchase Third Baseman

DETROIT, Oct. 17 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers today bought third baseman George Risley from Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League.

Risley, 24, native of Fairfield, Conn., broke into organized baseball with Jamestown, N. Y., in 1952. He was picked on the Pacific Coast All-Star team in 1956 when he hit .288 in 164 games.

Mantle, Snider Win Slugging Laurels In Respective Loops

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Mighty Mickey Mantle, following in the tradition of the former New York Yankee distance-swingers, has added his second slugging championship to his already imposing list of American League batting laurels.

The 24-year-old switch-hitting outfielder posted the highest slugging percentage in the majors in 1956 at .705, figures compiled by the Associated Press revealed today. This was the best slugging mark since Boston's Ted Williams finished with .735 in 1941. Williams was runnerup to Mantle this season with .603.

Mantle, who also won the league's batting, home runs and runs batted in titles, collected 376 total bases in 533 at bats. Included among his 188 hits were 22 doubles, five triples and 52 homers.

Figuring

Slugging averages are determined by dividing the total bases of his season's hits into the times at bat. This is in contrast to the batting averages where the number of hits is divided by the at bats. Mantle's batting average was .353.

For Mantle, it marked the second straight year he captured slugging honors. He now joins such other famed Yankee power hitters as Lou Gehrig and Joe DiMaggio, who also wore the slugging crown twice in their illustrious careers.

The young fence-buster, in completing his fifth season with the New Yorkers, still has a long haul if he is to surpass the immortal Babe Ruth's slugging mastery. The Bambino won the championship 11 times within a 12-year span from 1920-1931 while with the Yanks. In 1920 he recorded the highest slugging figures ever amassed—.847.

Close Struggle

While Mantle made a runaway of the American League sluging race, the National League produced a much closer struggle with Brooklyn's Duke Snider edging Joe Adcock of Milwaukee, .597. The 30-year-old Dodger outfielder actually won the title on the final day of the season when he homered twice in Brooklyn's pennant-clinching victory.

This was the second time in four seasons that Snider has been extended in annexing the slugging diadem. In 1953 he barely squeezed past the Braves' Eddie Mathews, .6271 to .6269.

Snider found the range for 324 total bases in 542 trips. His 158 hits included 33 doubles, two triples and 43 home runs—most in the league. Adcock, who thrived on Brooklyn pitching, accumulated 271 total bases in 454 at bats. His extra-base output numbered 23 doubles, one triple and 38 homers.

Williams, who has led the American League eight times in slugging, accounted for 241 total bases in 400 at bats. His extra-base production included 27 doubles, two triples and 24 home runs.

The Yanks' Yogi Berra and Charley Maxwell of Detroit tied for third at .534 each, followed by the Tigers' Al Kaline with .530.

Hank Aaron of Milwaukee and Cincinnati rookie Frank Robinson shares third place in the National League listings with .558 apiece. The New York Giants' Willie Mays the leader in 1954 and 1955, ranked fifth at .555.

Ward Draws Ring Suspension

DETROIT, Oct. 17 (AP)—The permanent suspension of Moses Ward, Detroit, middleweight now fighting out of New York, was announced today by Floyd Stevens, chairman of the Michigan State Athletic Board of Control.

Stevens, also president of the National Boxing Assn., said Ward's poor record for the past 18 months dictated the decision.

January Wins Tourney

APPLE VALLEY, Calif., Oct. 17 (AP) — Don January of Lampasas, Tex., shot a 64 seven under par, today to win the $5,000 Apple Valley Clambake golf tournament with a 130 total for the 36 holes.

Ancestor Triumphs In Steeplechase

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP) — Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Ancestor won the $58,025 Temple Gwathmey Steeplechase, the world's richest jumping race, at Belmont Park today as five horses in the field of 12 either lost their riders or fell during the gruelling 2½ mile event.

Ancestor, ridden by F. D. (Dooley) Adams, finished 18 lengths ahead of Shipboard, the odds-on favorite owned by the Montpelier Farm of Marion duPont Scott. It gave Mrs. Phipps her second straight victory in the rugged race for the Virginia sportswoman with Neji in 1955, and also with L. W. Jennings' Navy Gun in 1951. Immediately after the race, Adams said he was retiring from the saddle.

Third Place

Third place went to Alvin Untermyer's Morpheus, who was two lengths behind Shipboard, and 2½ lengths ahead of the fourth horse, John M. Schiff's French-bred Carafar.

The winner's time of 4:42 was three seconds off the track record set by Sydney in 1931, and equalled when King Commander won the 1954 Temple Gwathmey.

Ancestor was second choice in the betting and returned $14.10, $5.50 and $5.10. Shipboard paid $3.50 and $2.90 as the 9-10 favorite, while Morpheus paid $7.40 to show.

Ortega Scores Ring Upset

BOSTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—Gasper (Indian) Ortega of Mexico, a 4-1 underdog upset Isaac Logart of Cuba, the No. 3 welterweight contender, by pounding out a divided decision in a fiercely fought 10-rounder tonight at Mechanics Building.

Logart weighed 146, Ortega 148.

Revenge

Ortega, an unranked battler outpointed by Logart last March, took a heavy body battering but landed enough strong punches to earn the votes of two officials and halt the Cuban's nine-fight winning string.

The "studio" crowd of a mere 906 attending the nationally and locally televised bout cheered the verdict. Most writers were split in their decision on the winner.

Logart, who has been campaigning for a shot at Boston's Tony DeMarco, the No. 1 welter contender, couldn't wear down the durable Ortega with his hard rights and lefts to the body and head.

Bucky Harris says "the Detroit front office" blocked waivers on Yankee pitcher Tom Sturdivant last May.

Owner Of Pro Giants Opposes Use Of Radio In Football

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Give the game back to the humans, said John V. Mara of the New York football Giants today in discussing the current fad of wiring the quarterbacks for sound.

"The human element is a fundamental part of football. The players should be on their own as much as possible. When they are shifted about the field by remote control up to the instant the ball is snapped, the result resembles a chess game by the coaches. And what's the paid attendance at a chess match?" he asked.

Wireless devices of various sorts have been used in recent National Football League games to permit the coaches to direct the plays at all times. Receivers are imbedded in the players' helmets.

Mississippi Grid Machine Ranks High

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—John Vaught, with a coach's usual habit of looking at a doughnut and seeing only the hole, feared his 1956 Mississippi football team would be unable to match the defensive record of last year's eleven.

Fulfillment of that gloomy prediction would have been something of a calamity, as last year Ol' Miss ranked 58th nationally in defense and yielded an average of 266.7 yards a game.

Story

So what happens? Today his Rebels rank second only to Princeton in over-all defense, according to the National Collegiate Athletic Service Bureau statistics, and last Saturday they approached perfection in that department. They held Vanderbilt's fifth-ranked offense to 3 yards rushing and 32 by air, a total of 35 yards. That's the best one-game job turned in by a major college team this season.

The statistics reveal Princeton with only a slight edge over Mississippi in total defense. Princeton has yielded an average of 109 yards to 113.8 for the SEC champions. The Princeton defenders also lead in rushing defense, having allowed only 65.7 yards a game as compared to Michigan State's 72.7 and Mississippi's 85.3.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17 (AP)—Lightweight Larry Boardman and former 135-pound champion Paddy De Marco will fight in the feature of the seventh annual Deborah Charity Boxing Program at the Arena here Nov. 12.

Jack Lesser, chairman of the Deborah Program, said all profits from the scheduled 10 rounder would go to the non-sectarian heart and cancer hospital at Browns Mills, N. J.

KO'd Carter

Boardman, one of the top newcomers, knocked out former lightweight king Jimmy Carter in his last fight. De Marco, who won the title from Carter only to lose it back to Jimmy, is expected to prove a real test for the youngster.

Condition Of Swaps Remains Top Mystery

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 17 (AP) — Meshach Tenney, trainer of Swaps, said today the record-breaking thoroughbred is "not in any immediate danger" but that "nobody knows if he'll ever race again."

Tenney's statement followed one issued last night by a Garden State spokesman which said:

"A crack team of four veterinarians is working around the clock tonight at Garden State Park in an effort to save the life of the valuable thoroughbred."

Tenney described this as a "wild and unfounded rumor" and went on to say that Swaps "is 50 per cent better" than Sunday when the 4-year-old colt reinjured the left hind leg he fractured in a workout Oct. 9.

Wait

The trainer said, however, that "nobody knows whether he will ever race again. We'll have to wait and see." He added that X-rays are being taken constantly and two men are assigned permanently to the stall to keep a 24 hour watch on the horse. Swaps is not feverish or sick, Tenney said.

Efforts to reconcile the two statements failed to throw any light on the situation. Dr. Charles Raker of the University of Pennsylvania, one of four veterinarians who worked almost all night placing the horse in a sling and putting on a special cast, said he had been requested by Tenney "to allow all publicity on Swaps to come from me. We're retained by Mr. Tenney and must respect his wishes," Dr. Raker said.

Swaps reportedly is insured for one million dollars. He won the 1955 Kentucky Derby.

East Stroudsburg May Feature Revamped Backfield

Kist Anxious To Improve Offense

JACK KIST, head football coach at East Stroudsburg High School, began experimenting with Co-Captain Frank Lupin at the quarterback position this week.

Lupin, a defensive and offensive mainstay in the Cavaliers backfield for the past two years, worked out Monday at the key post as Kist sent his proteges through a long drill.

Kist, who has used Charley Lupin and Bob Herman at the signal-calling berth in Eastburg's first five outings, plans to weave the older Lupin into a three-way battle with the younger underclass candidates.

Reinjures Knee

However, Kist, plagued by injuries all season, had more troubles as Frank Lupin came up with a recurrence of a knee injury that kept the hitherto speed halfback on the sidelines for a good share of the Cavaliers early outings.

The Cavaliers, now sporting a 3-2 record for the campaign, take on Jud Hall's Wilson High Warriors at the Easton suburbans gridiron Saturday.

Wilson, a 34-7 victor over Bangor High in its only Lehigh-Northampton League tilt, pulled one of the biggest upsets of the Lehigh Valley season last Saturday when they edged Allentown Central Catholic 12-7 in the last two seconds of play.

Warriors 2-2

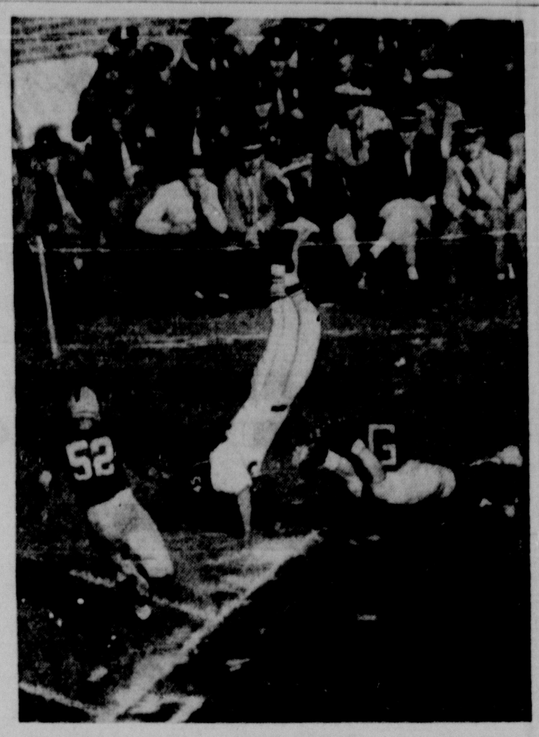
Currently the Warriors are 2-2 on the season, the losses being to Easton and Phillipsburg Highs in the first two games of the season.

Kist plans to hold scrimmage sessions all week in attempt to brush up the Cavaliers offense and defense.

"The boys are in need of plenty of work and despite our lack of depth we're forced to bear down in all departments of play," the Eastburg coach stressed.

"From here on out every opponent is tough, we've got to be just as tough", he concluded.



BILL JENNINGS, Purdue back, goes into a handstand as he scores against Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind. The Boilermakers went on to upset the Irish, 28-14.

Big 10 Issues Report On Own Faults

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP)—A critical self-appraisal of Western Conference athletics, charging that the work-aid program for athletes is "an invitation to hypocrisy and deceit," was released by the Big Ten in the form of a 24-page report.

It also found financial help to athletes has reached "staggering proportions."

The strongly-worded analysis of the trends of recruiting and financial aid was drafted by a conference committee set up on Dec. 9, 1955, "to study the over-all problems and position of the conference in the conduct of intercollegiate athletics."

The report, secret until now, was sent to Big Ten presidents, athletic directors and faculty representatives.

It was mapped by Big Ten Commissioner Kenneth L. Wilson; Assistant Commissioner Bill Reed; H. O. (Frtiz) Crisler, Michigan athletic director; Leslie W. Scott, Michigan State faculty representative; Verne C. Freeman, Purdue faculty representative, and Ivy Williamson, Wisconsin athletic director.

The report criticized the "offer system." It said "there is an underlying dilemma in the administration of financial assistance to athletes in the Big Ten."

"Each conference school," the report stated, "is on a definite 'offer' basis, meaning that the recruitment activity. . . is accompanied by the tender of financial assistance (promised

Tigers Name Tighe Manager; Yanks, Dodgers Split Cash

By The Associated Press

THE DETROIT TIGERS hired a new manager. Ralph Branca was dropped by the Brooklyn Dodgers. And the transfer of the Washington Senators to Los Angeles still was being considered.

These were the top doings Wednesday as major league clubs continued to put their organizations in order at the start of what could be a hectic hot-stove league season.

Jack Tighe, relatively unknown but a veteran of almost 20 years with Detroit and its farm clubs, was named to pilot the Tigers for the 1957 campaign. He succeeds Stanley (Bucky) Harris who resigned last month.

Catcher

Tighe, 43, was a catcher during his playing day, but never made the major leagues during his 11-year career. He served as coach with the Tigers during the last two years.

Branca, best remembered for the home run ball he threw to the Giants' Bobby Thomson in the pivotal National League game in 1951, was sold to St. Paul of the American Assn. The Saints also received veteran catcher Dixie Howell. Both batterymen joined Brooklyn late in the year and saw limited action.

The Dodgers also acquired the contracts of shortstop Bob Lillis and catcher Joe Pignatano from St. Paul, outfielder James Koranda from Fort Worth and right-handed pitcher Bob Darnell from Portland.

Meanwhile, Commissioner Ford Frick announced the division of the World Series spoils.

Thirty-two members of the Yankees, including Phil Rizzuto amd Irv Noren, were awarded full shares of $6,714.76. Rizzuto was given his unconditional release in August while Noren, who was hobbled by knee injuries, played in only 32 games. Enos Slaughter, acquired from Kansas City Aug. 25, was given three-fourths of a share.

Thirty-seven Dodgers cut up the Series melon with full shares of $6,934.34 going to 28 players.

Calvin Griffith, pressed for time in his efforts to shift the Washington franchise, said further discussions on the matter will not take place until Friday at a meeting of the club's board of directors.

Senators

The Senators' president declared that Los Angeles' tentative offer, along with firm proposals from San Francisco and Louisville, will be presented to the directors, Oct. 31 is the deadline for drafting minor league territory.

In other baseball news, Baltimore shipped outfielder Joe Frazier and pitcher Morris Martin to Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League. . . Jersey City honored native son Johnny Kucks, who pitched the Yankees to the world championship by blanking the Dodgers in the final series and Walt Alston's Dodgers left Honolulu for Tokyo where they will take on the Giants on Friday. The Yomiuri Giants, that is.

Stanford Back Total Offense Leader In U. S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Stanford's John Brodie, who avoids spring football practice to play golf, has more than made up for this truancy by his passing in the first four games this fall.

Brodie passed his way into the individual total offense lead in major college football last week, topping Arizona sophomore Ralph Hunsaker, and just about outdistanced all the other leading college tossers.

In addition, Brodie has run more plays than any other player, thrown more passes, accounted for more than half his team's yardage and averaged more than 15 pass completions a game—a pace that should give him a record if he continues.

Brodie's Record

Here's what the Stanford senior star has done so far according to NCAA Service Bureau statistics:

Out of 120 plays, he has passed 102 times and completed 61 for 734 yards and seven touchdowns. His running accounted for 14 more yards and a total of 748. No one else has thrown more than five scoring passes this season. As a team Stanford has gained 1,397 yards in four games.

Another one-man team is Notre Dame's Paul Hornung, whose 555 yards for rushing and passing has accounted for 55.3 per cent of his team's 1,004 yards.

Jimmy Brown of Syracuse, who ran 165 yards against West Virginia last Saturday, has the best per-game average in rushing — 123.7 yards.

Pen Argyl May Add Grid Contest

PEN ARGYL—Athletic Council of the Pen Argyl Joint Area High School met Monday night in the high school library. Dr. W. E. Muth presided over the meeting attended by Allan Jackson and the school's coaches.

It was discussed that the Junior High basketball team will be started under the direction of head basketball coach, Ed Palmer. Palmer would like an eight game schedule, if possible. This, however, is only tentative.

Contracts

Renewing of football contracts was also discussed with a very good possibility of a 10 game varsity schedule next year and an eight game junior varsity schedule. At present, the varsity plays nine games but may add Parkland because Parkland has expressed desire at the last Lehigh-Northampton League meeting of entering the league on a football participation basis. The junior varsity will probably play Washington in its present open date. Junior varsity coach, Blaine Strunk, has been working for at least an eight game junior varsity schedule because this represents the only "feeder" program for the varsity.

The school board decided at the last meeting that all coaches are to attend athletic council meetings. The council was begun last year under the supervision of William E. Muth, Allan Jackson, Walter Sandercock, Rev. R. W. Musselman and assisted by Rudolph Penza, Edward Palmer, Blaine Strunk, John Laky, Richard Eckert, Richard Wolford, and Wilmer Nester.

Sir Winston Churchill said in a speedy transatlantic exchange he'd "be delighted" to send his 3-year-old LePretendant to the $100,000 race on Nov. 12.

Decree Ends Monopolism In Wrestling

DES MOINES, Oct. 17 (AP) — A consent decree in which the National Wrestling Alliance agreed to end what the government called "monopolistic" practices in wrestling was approved here by Federal Judge William F. Riley.

The decree was entered simultaneously with the filing of a government complaint which accused NWA of monopolizing the booking of "more than 95 per cent of all professional wrestlers" in the country. NWA is incorporated in Iowa but has its headquarters in St. Louis, Mo.

Denies Charge

Sam Muchnick of St. Louis, NWA president, issued a statement in which he denied NWA has violated any federal anti-trust laws. He said NWA since it was formed in 1948 "has been a great force for good in wrestling."

NWA agreed to the consent decree, Muchnick said, "only to avoid lengthy and extensive litigation." He said he hoped all 35 NWA members would adhere to the decree.

Army Personnel Dependents To Benefit Under New Act

M/SGT. FRANK DELUCCIE, Army recruiter for this area, announced yesterday that dependents of Army personnel will receive much broader medical care under the New Military Medical Care Act, which became law recently.

"Dependent medical care is just one of the many benefits available to men who enlist in the Army," Sgt. DeLuccie stated.

One feature of the new bill provides civilian hospitalization and doctor's care for dependents, if military facilities are not available.

The new medical program, which goes into effect Dec. 8, gives the armed services authority to provide care in any military hospital for dependents of those who died while on active duty, to dependents of active duty personnel including dependent parents, and certain retired military personnel and their dependents.

Includes

Medical care authorized eligible dependents under the new bill includes diagnosis, treatment of acute medical and surgical conditions, treatment of contagious diseases, immunization, and maternity and infant care, subject to availability of facilities at the military hospitals.

In formation on additional benefits and opportunities now awaiting young men entering the Army is available at the Army Recruiting Office at Veterans Adm. Bldg., 116 N. Wash. Ave., Scranton, or the Stroudsburg Post Office each Thursday from noon to 4 p. m.

Webster Gilpin Describes Summer Vacation At Keystone Boys Camp To American Legion

NEWFOUNDLAND — Webster Gilpin, Jr., this week described to members of the Phillips-Zachariass-Phillips Post 958, American Legion, his stay at the Keystone Boys State encampment near Lock Haven.

Sponsored by the local post, Webster was chosen by the faculty of Greene-Dreher-Sterling Joint School for the honor, and spent 10 days at the encampment.

Among other experiences he described the training in citizenship and democracy at the camp, and added "the food was excellent, too!"

Webster presented a gavel and sounding block to the post in appreciation of their sponsorship of his stay at the camp. The gift replaces those lost when the Legion Home in Newfoundland was completely wiped out by the 1955 flood.

The project which makes it possible for a boy to go to the camp was described in detail by Commander Weldon Hector.

"The program is a wonderful opportunity for boys of excellent character," he said. "There are Boys States in each of the 48 states, and representatives are elected from them to go to Boys Nation in Washington.

"Application for consideration for next Summer's encampment should be to Supervising Principal Leland Cramer, of the local school. Boys must be a high school junior, and is chosen for his ability and character," he stated.

Commander Hector welcomed the two guests who were present with the six Legionnaires on hand for the meeting.

Volunteers for the work on the new Legion Home in this area are needed, it was reported. Robert Marsch began laying cinder blocks on Monday, Oct. 15, but volunteers in all types of work on the building are being sought.

The Legion Obligation will be given to all new members at the Oct. 25 meeting.

Fellowship Hears Natives Of Sweden

EAST Stroudsburg Methodist Senior fellowship had as its guests last Sunday night Tage and Beryl Hellgren, originally from Sweden.

The couple gave a contrast between Swedish Youth and American Youth. A discussion period followed when each member was given an opportunity to ask questions.

The Hellgrens brought with them various objects of interest. Among them were the Swedish Testament, song book and money. Mrs. Hellgren was in her native costume.

The next big activity of the Fellowship is a Hallowe'en Party to be held Thursday, Oct. 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the POS of A building in Stroudsburg. Tickets are now being sold by the members.

Donation For Rally Day

BANGOR — A donation to Rally Day was made by the Men's community Class of the First United Evangelical Church during Tuesday night's meeting at the church. The possibility of sponsoring a concert in the future also was discussed.

Sherwood Evans gave the treasurer's report. George Shook, Jr., president, was in charge.

Large Crowd Attends Cherry Lane Methodist Homecoming

CHERRY LANE—The Cherry Lane Methodist Church was filled for the annual Homecoming Service on Sunday, Oct. 14. The young people had decorated the church with Autumn foliage and a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums on the altar table made a pleasing contrast.

The combined gowned choirs were in their accustomed places and Mrs. Hope Sweitzer accompanied the singing.

Rev. Justin Felthem was in charge of the program and called for names of the following: Youngest person present, who was Sarah Jane Bush, two-month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bush; family having most members present, William Bush family with nine present; oldest person present, Charles Henry, brother of Harry Henry; those living fartherest from the service, Russell Williams from Williamsport, and Charles Williams from Chester. These will all be remembered with gifts.

Speaker

Rev. Felthem then introduced the speaker, Dr. Lee Warren of the faculty of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Special numbers were sung by the choir, with David Sebring, Roberta Bush and Janet Shafer in solo parts.

After the service, the WSCS served sandwiches and hot beverages in the outdoor setting of gorgeous coloring overlooking Lake Tanalo. Friends and neighbors of many years and members enjoyed the renewal of old ties.

Earlier last week, the Cherry Lane Methodist WSCS attended the caravan held in the Canadensis Methodist Church. Mrs. Ethel Sebring, Mrs. Freda Henry and Mrs. Mildred Horst represented the group.

Work Advances On Creek Channel Job

NEWFOUNDLAND — "Better than 1,800 feet of the new Wallenpaupack Creek channel through Newfoundland and Greentown has been completed," Carroll Fetherman told members of the Newfoundland Rotary Club Monday night at their meeting at Green's Restaurant.

Citing the "amazing progress" of the work to date, Fetherman said that 800 feet has been completed in Greentown, and approximately 1,000 feet in Newfoundland.

"The channel should be nearly completed within the next three months," he said.

Slides

Illustrating his talk with slides, Fetherman noted that the project was suggested five years ago, but difficulties in securing the necessary easements defeated the proposed plan at that time. The disastrous flood which proved so costly to the Newfoundland and Greentown areas, both in property damage and in lives lost, spurred residents to renewed efforts and the way was cleared for the project this Summer.

Governor George Leader officiated at groundbreaking ceremonies in September and work began promptly.

A recording session is planned by the Rotarians at the Oct. 22 meeting, Dr. Frank Uridel announced. The Rotarians will tape messages to a Rotary Club in Japan under the direction of John Tobey.

Guests of the Newfoundland Club were E. Clyde Pyle, District Forester, representing the Stroudsburg Rotary Club; and Lawrence C. Hay, Canadensis, from the Pocono Mountains Club.

THE HAUSER brothers closed The Mountain House, Monday after a successful summer and fall season: Thirty-five guests registered for over Columbus Day week end.

The Methodist and Presbyterian Churches are continuing their joint meeting to see a motion picture, Martin Luther film was shown in the Methodist Church last time. Sunday night, Oct. 28, a picture will be shown in the Presbyterian Church and a hymn sing and social hour enjoyed.

Water Gap Chemical and Hose Co. No. 1 had ten firemen in the recent Firemen's Parade held in Stroudsburg.

Friends hear that Mrs. Clyde Jewel of Bangor has recovered from her illness of six weeks ago sufficient to be up and about her home. Her sister, Mrs. Florence Davis of Stroudsburg, is still with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jaggers motored to Watkins Glen, taking as their guests Mrs. George Hauser and Miss Nellie Burd. The trip honored the birthday of the guests who have one on the same day in October. After a picnic dinner at the Glen, they walked down the hundreds of stone steps in the Gorge with its mile and a half of water falls. Going on to Corning, N. Y., to the Glass Center, they were fortunate to find it a day when guests could watch the workers at their hand craftsmanship and see Steuben crystal made and engraved.

Miss Kathryn Atkinson of Camden, a Red Cross official, visited Mrs. William Glebe for the Columbus Day holidays. The traffic congestion, which made several tie-ups on Route 11 and Broad St., also changed Miss Atkinson's time of return. The Sunday night buses were so crowded there was standing room only and a later bus broke down and did not arrive; so she stayed over until Monday morning.

Friends are glad to learn that the Paschall Webb family are not moving from the village. The house in which they live, on Mountain Road, is not to be sold and they remain as tenants.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

THURSDAY, OCT. 18, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Encouraging rays for all worthwhile lines of endeavor. Make time count. Extra hard work can lead to additional achievement. Romance, fun also in order.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Monetary interests require stricter attention now. In shopping, check quality as well as price. Some sensible self-denial and cutting down on non-essentials could do no harm.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Compare ideas with friends, loved ones; you may be helped more than you supposed. Remain calm, alert to opportunity.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Today is full of promise and good tidings for worthwhile interests, and there should be no time or room for pet peeves, unnecessary jealousies. Enjoy this day rightly.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Your innate initiative, buoyancy and general capability can, properly used today, bring gains, fresh benefits, perhaps valuable new friends and contacts.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Good influences for worthwhile endeavors, wholesome activities generally, and for personal and romantic interests. Artistic pursuits also favored.

September 23 to October 23 (Libra)—You could find yourself in the thick of things by noon. But don't worry; you have the equipment to succeed if you apply it properly. Make decisions deliberately, calmly. No carelessness.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Information you receive may be misleading, so be wary, astute. Going businesses, essentials, family matters most highly favored. Use every reasonable, honest effort to achieve.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Aim at faultless performance now since much can be achieved by you capable, well-balanced folk. Keen observation suggested.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—This is no day in which to make drastic changes. Go forward with preplanned activities; seek help but don't be inconsistent about it. Be sensible in money matters, consistent in effort.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—A sensible but hopeful procedure in your affairs can bring pleasant and fruitful results not only for today but for the future. A splendid day for personal achievement.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Establish your program and pace yourself to accomplish without waste motion. Seek all the advantages possible. You may have occasion to travel, change plans; think well before acting but do recognize values.

YOU BORN TODAY enjoy travel, good fun; at times must curb a tendency to stray too far from assignments. Your genial personality and capable performance makes a vital impression on others. Just be sure you do not overdo it; don't strain health. Avoid reckless argument, carelessness with assets. You can attain a high position in industry, a profession or trade; could gain recognition in music, the stage, in public office. Birthdate of: Thomas Love Peacock, novelist, poet.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, substract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

ESSTC Group Urged To Prepare Well

PROSPECTIVE teachers last night were cautioned to prepare well for their chosen profession at a meeting of the Future Teachers of America, held at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

This advice was given by Wilmer D. Greulich, of the Bryant Teachers Agency in Philadelphia, who spoke on the subject: "The Purpose of the Private Teachers Agency."

Greulich called upon prospective teachers to prepare well because of the increase of academic students in secondary schools, whose parents themselves have gone to college and insist on good preparation.

Warning

Greulich also warned FTA members to become familiar with the community in which they are going to teach before they sign any contract. He said the placement agency is very eager to help young people find positions in the teaching profession.

Greulich listed the following functions of the teacher placement bureaus: 1, to help administrators fill vacancies with qualified teachers; 2, to render service to the public; 3, to help teachers find positions they want.

He counselled every prospective teacher to register with some agency that will look out on his behalf.

The group also heard Walter Bjorn of Damascus, Pa., State FTA president, tell about his trip to conventions on the West Coast.

Bake Sale Committee

BANGOR — A committee for a bake sale to be held later this month was appointed by Melvin Blake, president, when the Second Ward Community Assn. met at the fire hall Tuesday night. Mrs. Delmar Moysey, Mrs. Raymond Chamberlin and Mrs. Thelma Pritchard comprise the group.

The committee in charge of the Winkler Memorial Playground dedication extended its special thanks to Attorney James Pritchard, master of ceremonies, as well as Melvin Blake, Earl Smith, James Hamm, Jr., Clyde Grigg, Paul Pritchard, James Pritchard, Carl Datesman, Jay Albert, Kenneth Hunt, Charles Kish, Arthur Bray, Clarence Chamberlain, Kenneth Beegle, Lester Evans, John Piergallini and Peter Defilippantonino, men instrumental in the erection of the plaque.

Gift

Kenneth Love, who supervised the work, also was thanked and a gift from Slate City Lodge 72, Loyal Order of Moose, to the memorial was acknowledged.

Thursday, Nov. 20 was announced as the date for the next session.

Women's Guild Makes Plan

BANGOR — A thank-offering service at 11 a.m., Nov. 11 was planned by the Women's Guild of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church during Tuesday night's gathering at the church.

Arrangements also were made for an all-day pasty bake Oct. 31 at the church and for the annual Christmas party. Announcements were made of the Mountain Regional Guild meeting at Palmerton Oct. 23 all day and of the afternoon and evening sessions of the 17th annual fall meeting of the East Pennsylvania Synod at St. John's Church, Nazareth, Friday.

In Charge

Mrs. Stephen Kocher, president, was in charge. Mrs. Everett Kent, secretary, and Mrs. Harry Docking, treasurer, gave reports. Refreshments at the conclusion, with table decorations in the fall motif, were served by Mrs. Charles Gold and Mrs. Kent.

Mrs. Earl Becker was in charge of the program preceding. Opening devotions were conducted by Mrs. Lester Houck. The theme for the evening was: "A Christian Is Committed To Live In One World."

Sunday School Association Sets Dates

ANNUAL convention of the Monroe County Sunday School Assn. will be held in the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church Oct. 24 and 25 at 7:45 p.m.

Bernice C. Jordon, Erie, will be guest speaker. As an author of several books on Christian Education, Miss Jordon has been called to lecture in England, Cuba and Canada. Prospective teachers and leaders of Sunday School, Vacation Church School, and Week Day Church School programs will gain invaluable assistance and inspiration from these meetings.

The Fellowship Dinner of the Association and the annual business meeting will be held next Thursday at 6 p.m.

Each Sunday School is urged to appoint at least two delegates and to sponsore them as their guests for dinner. Reservations should be made by next Wednesday by writing Mrs. Kenneth Stein, Methodist Church, East Stroudsburg, or calling 863.

BIDS WANTED

NOTICE is hereby given that the Borough of East Stroudsburg, Monroe County, Pennsylvania, will receive sealed bids for the purchase of 19 general obligation Storm Sewer Improvement and Street Improvement Bonds, in the denomination of $1,000 each, aggregating $19,000 bearing interest at a rate to be named by the bidder or bidders in multiples of one-eighth of one per cent, per annum, payable semi-annually on May 1, and November 1. Bids will be received for the entire issue at any one rate of interest but no bid combining two or more rates of interest will be accepted. Said bonds and the interest thereon will be payable at the office of the Monroe County National Bank, East Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, without deduction for any tax or taxes, except succession or inheritance taxes, now or hereafter levied or assessed thereon under any present or future law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, all of which taxes, the Borough of East Stroudsburg assumes and agrees to pay. The bonds will be sold to the highest responsible bidder, provided such bid is not less than par and accrued interest.

The highest responsible bidder shall be the one who, having complied with the conditions of sale, offers to take the whole amount of the issue at the lowest interest cost to the municipality, which shall be determined by deducting from the total amount of interest to be paid on account of such bonds during the life thereof the amount of premium offered, if any, over and above the face amount of the issue.

The bonds will be dated November 1, 1956, may be registered as to principal only, and will mature in numerical order as follows:

$2,000 on November 1, 1957 and $2,000 on November 1 each year thereafter up to and including November 1, 1965, at which date $3,000 will be payable.

Every bid should be addressed to Sterling Cramer, Secretary, Municipal Building, 56 S. Courtland Street, East Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, and shall be placed in a sealed envelope sufficiently labeled to indicate that it is a bid for the bonds of this issue, before being delivered to the aforesaid Secretary. Bids will be received up to 8:00 P. M. E. S. T. on the 6th day of November, 1956, at which time they will be publicly opened at the aforesaid address by the Secretary.

Bids must be accompanied by a certified check, cashier's check or Treasurer's check drawn to the order of the Treasurer of the Borough of East Stroudsburg or a sum of money, equal to two percentum of the face amount of the bonds, as security against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. The deposit of each unsuccessful bidder will be returned immediately upon the award of the bonds or the rejection of all bids. In the case of the successful bidder, the deposit will be held by the Treasurer and will be applied to the purchase price when the bonds are actually delivered and paid for.

The enactment, at any time prior to the delivery of the bonds, of Federal legislation which in terms, by the repeal or omission of exemption or otherwise, subject to a Federal income tax the interest on bonds of a class or character which includes these bonds, will at the election of the purchaser, relieve the purchaser from his obligation under the terms of the contract of sale and entitle the purchaser to the return of the amount deposited with the bid.

These bonds are to be issued subject to the unqualified approving legal opinion of Bensinger and Bensinger, Stroudsburg, Pa. which will be delivered free of charge to the purchaser, together with a certificate that there is no litigation pending affecting the validity of the bonds, only if and after the proceedings authorizing the issuance thereof have been approved by the Department of Internal Affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

For further information apply to the undersigned.

BY ORDER of the Borough Council of the Borough of East Stroudsburg.
STERLING CRAMER, Secretary

The Green Thumb

Mow Grass Late Into Fall To Combat Disease, Keep Lawn Well Groomed For Next Summer

MOW THAT GRASS! If the grass in your lawn is over three inches tall, keep it mowed before winter sets in. A lawn that's well groomed into Fall collects fewer leaves than one that's negelected, and what's more important is that you get less disease next Winter and Spring when lawns are mowed into the late Fall. Brown patches in the lawn in spring are often the result of disease which is favored by matted grass. So keep your lawn mowed into Fall if it makes growth.

This applies to new seedlings, also. There's no truth to the idea that new grass gets "stronger" if allowed to go uncut. New seedlings should be mowed to encourage filling in and to prevent grass from matting.

Peonies: There's still time to plant or divide your peony plants. If the divisions are rather large (three to five eyes) some blooms will appear next season, but these may be small, and the removal of most of the buds is better for the plants. Usually two to five years, depending on the variety, are required for the plants to become well enough established to give blooms. Wood ashes or bonemeal are good to mix into the soil. Or you can use ground bonemeal at rate of one pound to 20 square feet of soil. The soil should be well drained and they seem to prefer a reather heavy soil.

If your soil is poor, prepare it by digging to a depth of 18 inches and enrich it with peatmoss and ground limestone. Do not use manure for peonies because of botrytis blight which manure seems to carry. Do not plant them too deep. Plant divisions so that eyes are an inch below the surface level, in a heavy soil, and two inches in a light sandy soil. Deep planting is one cause for non-blooming among peonies. After the soil is frozen to a depth of two or three inches, a mulch of evergreen boughs or straw will keep it frozen and prevent heaving the first year. Each plant should be allowed a space of at least three feet for good development. Mulching is not needed after the second year.

A good way to take divisions from a mother plant is to chop them with an axe or spade.

Question Box

D. F. of Stroudsburg: "We have two maple trees which are about 20 years old. This spring we noticed that one of the trees had a long split up the bark on the trunk. As the summer progressed the split widened and the bark came off in an area of about 6 inches wide and about 5 feet high. What caused the bark to split off?

This sounds like "frost crack" or winter injury. A tree's hardiness is influenced by its drainage, the weather, the species and other conditions. We've had 3 bad droughts to weaken shade trees and make them susceptible to winter injury. A hot summer followed by a cool autumn prolongs the growing season and under such conditions the twigs, buds and bark fail to mature or "ripen" for the winter. They are more subject to injury from drops in temperatures, especially if the tree has been exposed to heat from the sun reflected on snow or from buildings during periods when the ground was frozen.

This sort of injury doesn't show up until months later. Maples are quite susceptible to cracking from low temperatures and you more often see the injury on the southern or western side of the trunk where the scalding rays of the sun heats the outer tissues. This followed by a sudden drop in temperature will cause the tissues to expand more rapidly than the inner tissues, resulting in separation of the bark. Sometimes on a cold winter day you can hear an "explosion"—like the crack of a pistol, when the temperature drops and affects the tree.

Also, the roots of trees are apt to freeze up in a poorly drained spot and the effects of frozen roots likewise may not be noticed until the following summer when wilting or death of parts of the trunk are noticed.

About the best thing you can do is scrape the loose bark off back to live tissue. Avoid feeding your trees a high nitrogen fertilizer as it may cause lots of lush growth in fall, making it susceptible to winter injury.
